Mr. Fairbanks' speech was purely of an impromptu nature, but he is a pleasing talker and his numerous witticisms and local hits soon aroused the enthusiasm of the au-dience and dispelled the idea that he is an "iceberg," as so often depicted. He spoke of the great and unequaled prosperity of the country, of the wonderful opportunities to be found in the West, and prophesied that the prosperity of America as a nation was but just beginning.

Following Mr. Fairbanks, short speeches were made by Governor Chamberlain, Senator Mulkey and Congressman Ellis, when an informal reception was held and the public was given an opportunity of making the personal acquaintance of their distinuished guest.
