

happenings at Madras.

F. Stewart, the Prineville mill man, was in town the first of the week.

W. Boyce of Haystack was looking after business matters in Madras the first of the week.

Ed Fisher spent several days in Madras during the week, looking after business matters.

On Sunday, October 27, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lih of Lamonia.

Bob Galloway hauled a load of wheat from Shaniko this week, bringing out freight for local merchants.

Charles Bye returned Sunday from Madras with a load of merchandise for McTaggart & Bye. He hauled in from the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Eberhardt, who were here for several weeks in this locality, left Saturday morning for their home in Wallace, Idaho.

William Terril and family, who left several weeks ago for the Willamette Valley, have taken up their residence at Lebanon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson and their granddaughter, Rita, left Friday morning for Portland. They expect to be gone several weeks.

Edward Sweeting, who has been employed at the Warm Springs Agency for some time past, returned to his home at Madras the first of the week.

Mr. Fox and W. H. Stonehocker returned from Shaniko Monday evening with a load of their wheat in to the mill.

Howard Clarke, the Prineville dentist, returned this week prepared to do some work. He will only be here a few days, and parties desiring work done better see him at once.

Mr. Nichols left Monday afternoon for his homestead near Trail Crossing. He is building a small house there as soon as it is completed expects to move onto the homestead with his family.

Mr. S. E. Binder and her little son left Sunday morning for Portland. After a few days there they expect to go to California, where they will spend some time visiting relatives. Mr. Binder expects to move with them as far as Shaniko.

Mr. Stout, foreman of the Friday Creek Trout Creek, left last Friday morning for Mountain City, Tennessee, where he expects to spend a month or more visiting his parents. After his visit at the home, Mr. Stout will return to Madras.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Nichols of Haystack were in town last Friday. They had just returned from Prineville, where they were in charge of some of the fine stock of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company which was on exhibition at the county fair.

John X. Foley of Haystack was in town last Friday. Mr. Foley came to defend a contest against his home near Haystack, but the contestant failed to put in an appearance the hearing was not had, and the case will likely be dismissed.

Deans M. Cole, who has been working at Madras during the Summer, has returned to his homestead in this locality. Mr. Cole was fortunate enough during the Summer to secure a timber claim over on the hills, his claim being one of the best in that district.

Mr. Williams returned the last of the week from Shaniko, where he delivered a load of wheat. Like all others who are shipping wheat to Shaniko at this time, Mr. Williams had to content himself with a house receipt for his wheat, as no wheat being bought there.

The usual amount of Halloween games were played last Thursday evening, everyone who had a loose piece of candy about the place coming in for a share of it. It took good, hefty ghosts and goblins to do some of the stunts that were performed that evening, but next morning none of the mischief could be traced to any other author.

Miss Schreiber and her sister, Miss Anna Schreiber, left last Friday morning for Portland, where they expect to stay for some time. They recently secured their homestead entries in the town of Butte neighborhood, and while Miss Schreiber says they expect to return to Madras later, for the present they will make their home in Portland.

Mr. Springer, who had a fine collection of game chickens at the Crook County fair, took first prize for Barred Plymouth Rocks, Langshans, Silver Wyandotters and White Leghorns. Mr. Springer also took first prize on his horses, the big Belgian stallion, owned by Aubremee, owned by the Haystack Livestock Breeders Association, and a Belgian stallion entered by Mr. Springer which took first prizes in their respective Joe Breeding of Lamonta was in town Tuesday.

S. D. Percival was in town Tuesday from his ranch near Youngs.

Milt Zell of Prineville is visiting his brother on Agency Plains.

A. S. Phillips started for Shaniko Tuesday morning with a load of wheat.

Born, to the wife of George Cyrus of Cline Falls, on Friday, October 25, a 10-pound son.

W. O. Ralston of Culver was in town Tuesday on his way to Shaniko with a load of wheat.

Rev. J. G. Moehring left Tuesday for Shaniko, carrying in with him a four-horse load of wheat.

Mrs. Lee Peck and Mrs. John Peck made final five-year proofs upon their homesteads in the Opal Prairie district, before Commissioner Osborn yesterday.

Jack Coe of Oneal was in town Monday afternoon, looking after matters for the Shaniko Warehouse Company, the collection of whose old accounts in this county he has charge of.

Johnny Campbell left last Monday for Portland, where he expects to attend school during the coming Winter. His father, J. E. Campbell, drove him as far as Wapinitia, from which place he took the stage to The Dalles.

W. H. Rodman, who has been tending the Warm Springs ferry on the Deschutes for several years past, left the first of the week for Portland, from which place he expects to leave in a few days for California, to spend the Winter.

Jeane McFeron, who is residing at Montavilla, arrived here Sunday evening, and is looking after his interests in this locality. Mr. McFeron owns a homestead near Madras, upon which he made commutation proof several months ago.

W. H. Miller returned the first of the week from Portland. He drove out from The Dalles, bringing with him a fine jersey cow which had been shipped to that place for him by his daughter. Mr. Miller loaded the cow into the wagon, where she rode very contentedly on the long trip out.

H. T. McHargue, who has a homestead near Madras, returned the first of the week from the Willamette Valley, after an absence of two years. He will spend the Winter on his ranch in this locality, and says "No more wet Willamette Valley Winters for me." Mr. McHargue proved up on his ranch several years ago.

Mrs. Howard W. Turner has bought the Cramer & Stevens corner on Main street, the consideration being $7000. This property includes the corner lot and adjoining lot with the exception of the land upon which the Frank Osborn building is located. It is one of the best corners in town, and Mrs. Turner secured it at a bargain. She bought it as an investment.

Quite a large crowd turned out at the entertainment given at Sanford's Hall last Thursday evening in honor of All Saint's Eve and the program prepared for the occasion was enjoyed by all. At the completion of the program the audience was invited to remain and enjoy a feast of pumpkin pies, prepared especially for the Halloween occasion. The entertainment was given for the benefit of Madras School, and a neat little sum was raised for the district.

Mr. H. Oliver T. Dickenson, of Athena, and Miss Altha J. Achilles of Bakeoven, were married at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Reverend Achilles of Penewa, in the parlor of the Gringer Hotel. At the same time Rev. Achilles united Mr. John D. Matthews of Bakeoven, and Miss Mabel D. Court right of the same place—The Dalles Chronicle. Miss Altha Achilles is a niece of Mr. E. I. Harvey of this place and visited here for some time during the past Summer.

G. Springer of Culver was in town Tuesday, looking after matters for the Grizzly sawmill. Mr. Springer is one of the directors of the Crook County Fair Association, and he feels very much gratified over the success of the meeting just closed at Prineville. The association met all of its bills promptly this year, and had a neat little sum left in the treasury after everything due by the association was paid. It was a good record to establish for any county fair, and puts them in good condition for next year's meeting.

A party of railroad surveyors who have been running the line from Detroit, the terminus of the Corvallis & Eastern, east to Sisters, were in Madras last Saturday evening on their way to Shaniko. There were about fifteen in the party, and they had been surveying in the Sisters neighborhood since the Kruttschnitt party was here during the past Summer. While nothing definite could be learned from any of the party regarding the withdrawal from this territory, it is presumed that it is the result of the discontinuance of all extension work by the Harman interests, notice of which was given in the press dispatches of last week.
