

Openings at Madras.

Ida V. Franks was in town Tuesday from her home near...
 Chaloupka was in town last Thursday in the Warming Agency on his Portland.
 James Alderdyce was a business visitor at Madras last Saturday, from his home near Culver.
 L. A. Young was in town Monday from Youngs.
 Rev. J. K. Craig was a visitor at Prineville the first of the week.
 Miss Ruth Colver, of Culver, visited friends in town the last of the week.
 Wm. Brownhill was in town from the north end of the plains last Saturday, completing final proof on his homestead.
 Elder E. R. Moon of Albany is conducting a series of revival meetings at this place for the Christian Church. He is being assisted by his brother.
 Prof. and Mrs. P. C. Fulton came down from Agency Plains last Saturday and this week the former is attending the county teacher's examinations at Prineville.
 Miss Marie Galloway has resigned her position as teacher of the primary classes in the Agency Plains school, on account of poor health. Her successor has not yet been chosen.
 Eloise, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Jarman died Monday morning from the effects of scarlet fever. Funeral services were conducted at the grave Tuesday by Minister Hoven of the Christian church. The Jarman home remains under quarantine restrictions, although there are no new cases there.—Athena item in East Oregonian.
 James Magness has rented the lower floor of the townsite building, and he and his family will occupy it for the present as a residence, until they can secure other quarters. Dwelling houses are scarce in Madras, and from the number of persons desiring to rent houses here, it would appear that the building of small houses to rent offers a good field for investment at this place.
 Died, Tuesday evening, February 11, 1908, Everett, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Peck, at their home on Opal Prairie. Funeral services were held this (Thursday) morning at the Opal Prairie church at 10 o'clock, and the burial was held at Grey Butte Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Peck have the deep sympathy of the entire neighborhood in the loss of their little son.
 L. Enderud, secretary of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company of Hay Creek, was in town Tuesday last. Mr. Enderud states that the company's sheep have thrived during the winter, although they usually desire to feed their sheep during a portion of the winter, and the present open and wet winter has not been the best kind of feeding weather. Sheep can be fed hay much more satisfactorily when the ground is frozen and there is some snow. The company had plenty of hay on hand this year, and the indications for another big crop next year are the best.
 William Gomer left Monday for Medford, where he expects to spend two weeks or more looking over the country, with a view of possibly making a small investment in land in that section. If he decides to invest, Mr. Gomer will probably buy unimproved fruit lands, as that section is coming to the front as one of the best fruit sections of the state. On the morning Mr. Gomer left here, he received a letter from friends at Medford, stating that his son Henry, who went to that place several weeks ago, had been quite ill for some days and was still confined to his bed.
 Some of the freighters from this section who got caught on the road out from Shaniko after the snow and rain of last week, are reported to have had a rough trip. One freighter got on a soft piece of road coming down Cow Canyon, and when his wagon began slipping over the grade, had to cut the harness to save his horses. Others report a hard trip, and none of them express a desire to try it again until the roads are better. After the long dry spell the roads got in fairly good shape, and this tempted many of them to begin hauling out grain, of which there is still much to be marketed. The recent rain and snow will make another postponement necessary, however.

MacAllister, a traveling man from Portland, was in town interviewing very trade yesterday.
 Mrs. Perry Read, and their son, Mrs. Howard Turner, came from Culver last Saturday.
