DRY FARMING SUCCESS

Model Farm On Wyoming Desert Is Thriving.

Dry farmers whose faith is wavering in the system on account of the recent dryness of the winter, should take a short trip to the model farm, as it is called, where Dr. Cooke last fall planted a quantity of winter wheat and rye, says the Cheyenne Tribune. These two grains are showing astonishing progress and are covering the prairie with a beautiful carpet of green, which is elsewhere brown and dusty.

At the model farm which is located a few miles just east of the city, Dr. Cooke will this year grow potatoes, speltz, field peas, oats and barley. The land is so situated that irrigation is impossible and is a valuable object lesson in the possibilities of dry farming in this vicinity.

Dr. Cooke will also spend a good portion of the spring and summer in various parts of the state interesting ranchmen and other holders of large acreages of land in the possibility of producing more valuable crops from the soil than buffalo grass and will seek to have such land owners make experiments for their own satisfaction and as an object lesson to others near by.

FROM COUNTYSEAT EXCHANGES

Tillman Reuter of Madras, was in town during the week. He has been experimenting with the growing of different varieties of corn, of which the Journal will make more extended mention next week.—Journal.

Joseph W. Cook and Dave Peck were in town Tuesday and Wednesday from their homes near Culver.—Journal.

H. J. Healy was in from the Haystack country Monday.—Review.

Judge F. J. Brooks of Madras, came up from that place last Tuesday.—Journal.

ITCHING SCALP DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

are but outward signs of the evil done in secret by myriads of dandruff germs sapping the life blood of the hair. Micro kills the parasite, soothes the itching scalp, gives lustre to the hair and stops it falling out. A single application gives relief and proves its worth. Save your hair before too late. Micro prevents baldness. It is a delightful dressing for the hair, free from grease and sticky oils. Ask your druggist for free booklet.
