RAILROAD PLANS PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

Line Will Probably Follow Columbia Southern Survey

The plans for the Central Oregon railroad project are working out in a most satisfactory manner and so far there has been nothing to discourage the promoters of the enterprise. The people of Crook county are in the right frame of mind to lend their support and aid to the project, and that is half the battle won. Mr. U. A. Wynn, who is securing right-of-way contracts for the line between this place and Lamonta, says that he is meeting with very gratifying success, and that everywhere he goes he finds the people enthusiastic over the project and ready to do their part towards securing railroad transportation for Crook county. That is the spirit which insures the success of the undertaking, and after all these years of waiting, it begins to look certain that the coming Fall will witness the commencement of actual railroad construction in Crook county.

The committee having the enterprise in charge have committed themselves to no definite route and will not until the subscription has been secured and it has been definitely assured that the undertaking will be a success. This much has been decided upon, that Crook county will have rail transportation, connecting it with Portland, and touching at Bend, Prineville and Madras. When the preliminaries have reached the proper stage, the most feasible and practicable route will be chosen. It may be said that the committee at present leans toward the extension of the Shaniko line, for the reason that that line is nearest to the territory to be reached and can be built more cheaply and more quickly than any other line into this territory. And, after all these years of waiting for a railroad, time is of the very essence of importance to this long-neglected territory. The old Columbia Southern Railway extension survey, made five years ago, is said to have been carefully made and to be a good line, and if the Shaniko line is extended, that survey will be followed. The right-of-way contracts between this place and Lamonta follow that survey.

STRIKE OIL IN THE DUFUR COUNTRY

The Bevis-May Oil Company has very bright indications of striking oil in paying quantities in their well now being drilled on Ramsey creek a few miles above town, says the Dufur Dispatch.

While drilling Tuesday morning oil was found to exist in small quantities and as the work advanced the oil became more noticeable. When reaching the depth of 310 feet a light flow of gas was found to escape from the hole and bubbling noises were heard at the bottom.

This information was given to the Dispatch by Mr. Porter who has charge of the drilling operations and is about as conditions exist at the present time. Mr. Porter says the grade of oil is the same as the Pittsburg or Pennsylvania oil and that the indications for a large flow are the best he has ever seen.

Drilling operations have been suspended for a time on account of the drillers not being prepared to take care of the oil, and until the company can get a cap and some small pipe on the ground the work will be at a standstill.

HAS WOMAN OPTICIAN

Portland has a full-fledged woman optician—the only one in this part of the country. It was announced today that in the examinations just given by the State Board of Optometry examiners Mrs. Florence T. Cooper of 354 Clay street has passed successfully and will be given a certificate to practice in this state.

Mrs. Cooper is the only woman who has ever passed the Oregon examinations and she says that she will practice in Portland. She studied her profession in this city.

There were seven other candidates, only one of whom, Dr. Golden of Maine, passed the examinations of the board.—Portland Journal.

Mrs. Cooper was formerly Florence Parrish, and is the daughter of Mrs. Rolando Parrish of Haycreek.

PRINEVILLE DRY

The saloons of Prineville closed their doors promptly at 12 o'clock Tuesday night and this city is now as dry as the strongest prohibitionist could wish for. There was little intoxication and no disorderly conduct or arrests. Much wine, beer and liquors was purchased on the last day, all to be cached away and ultimately used for medicinal purposes. An amusing feature of the day was the receipt by every family and man in town of the catalogue of a Portland liquor house, which evidently is the first to make a bid for the Crook county trade. The ministers even were not spared, and they smile in manifest appreciation of the joke.—Review.

COMMISSIONER LEUPP VISITS WARMSRING

Head of Bureau of Indian Affairs Inspects Reservation--Sees Indians Celebrate

Commissioner Leupp, head of the government Bureau of Indian Affairs, made a visit of inspection to the Warm Springs Reservation last week, spending several days at the agency as the guest of Superintendent Covey. He has been visiting the various Indian reservations of the West, and came on out to inspect the Warm Springs Reservation where over 800 Indians reside.

The Warm Springs reservation comprises in the neighborhood of 30 townships, much of it hilly land, but some of it along the creeks and on the high level plateaus being good agricultural land, while there is also good timber land included in the reservation. It lies North of the Matoles river and West of the Deschutes.

The Warm Springs agency is attractively located on Shitike Creek, and is supplied with many modern conveniences, such as electric lights, a steam laundry and a good water system. Many of the buildings have been painted during the past year, and the agency doubtless presented a pleasing appearance to the Commissioner on his visit there. He left the agency Wednesday of last week, going over to Wapinitia to attend the big celebration Friday and Saturday, in which the Indians from the reservation participated, and from there on to Dufur to take the train. At the Wapinitia celebration there were Indian races, music by the Warm Springs band, and many sports and games in which the Indians participated, all of which would be interesting to the head of the Indian department. Superintendent Covey accompanied the Commissioner on his trip out from the agency.

COSTLY CELEBRATION OF NATION'S BIRTHDAY

72 Killed, 2736 Injured--Fire Losses Half A Million

Death stalked in the wake of the celebration of the Nation's birthday last Saturday, the list of deaths due entirely to accidents attending the jubilation being the largest in 10 years. Up until Tuesday morning 72 deaths had been reported, with a list of casualties totaling 2736. The death list is the largest since 1890, but the list of injuries attending the celebration is only two-thirds the average number for the last five years. This is regarded as an indication that the agitation in favor of a "safe and sane" Fourth is having its effect. Many of the larger cities this year prohibited entirely the discharge of fireworks, San Francisco being among the safe and sane cities. The loss by fire occasioned by fireworks in the United States was more than a half million dollars this year, which is above the average for the past 10 years. The Nation's celebration was a costly one, in human life and property.

PROMINENT RAILROAD MAN HERE

W. H. Hurlburt of Portland, one of the candidates for railroad commissioner in the last election, was in town last Thursday. Mr. Hurlburt was at one time General Passenger Agent for the O. R. & N. Co., and severed his connection with that company to become manager of the O. W. P. electric line. He spent a day in this locality and it is reported that he was here looking over the railroad situation for one of the projected lines into this section. Mr. Hurlburt went on to Prineville and Bend from Madras.
