

Openings at Madras.

T. Dam was in town trading, last week, from Opal Prairie.

Clark was in Madras last Saturday on his ranch near Juniper Butte.

Van Tassel of Culver, accompanied by his daughter, was in town Saturday.

Bessie Robinson of Culver, visited relatives in Madras the last of the week.

Lula Osborn came down from her home in Madras yesterday to visit relatives in Madras.

W. Boyce and family were in town last week from the Haystack.

H. Hess left Tuesday for Salem, where he expects to spend a vacation of several weeks.

Ruth of Lamonia, spent Sunday and Monday in town visiting his mother, Mrs. J. W. Robinson.

Wilson and wife came over from the agency Sunday and spent the day visiting relatives in Madras.

Frances Brogan, who spent the week here visiting her sister, Mrs. J. C. Brogan, returned to Antelope last Sunday.

Ludemann and wife spent a few days very pleasantly last week at the home of E. S. F. Newcome, at his home west of Shaniko. They returned Sunday.

H. Garrett was in town last Monday from Haystack. He says the haying season is in full blast in the neighborhood which he lives and that farmers and ranchmen are all busy.

The mercury took another upward jump last Friday and for a short time conditions were not exactly certain as to which place they lived in. It was only a few days ago that this section for the year.

A. Howell, the liveryman, and family stayed in Madras last Friday being enroute to the mountains for an extended outing at Fish Lake. Mr. Howell is an enthusiastic hunter and has a month in the mountains every summer hunting for big game.

Harold Clark and wife were in town Monday from Lamonia. The former is buying a pumping outfit for a new well which he has just had drilled. The well was drilled to a depth of 92 feet and gives plenty of water for all purposes.

C. Rogers, owner of the Oregon Hotel at Condon, has purchased the Ho Shaniko at Shaniko. Being the terminus of the Columbus Southern railroad, the only "wet" town in a large territory, Shaniko is said to be enjoying a full "boom."

G. W. Bondurant, who preached last Sunday, returned to Portland where he will leave in a few days for a visit at his old home in Ohio, after which Bondurant will return to Madras, where he will have charge of the Free Methodist church as pastor.

C. O. Lee, recently of Albany, was in town last week from his home near Haystack, where he began his residence last week. He filed upon a quarter section adjoining the L. A. Hunt Homestead, upon which he is building a comfortable little home for himself. Mrs. Lee, who is still at Albany, will join her husband at the homestead as soon as the work is in readiness.

John McTaggart departed last Thursday afternoon for Reno, Nevada, in response to a telegram announcing the critical illness of his brother, Chancy McTaggart. The message stated that an operation had been performed for cancer, but that the physicians held out no hope for the recovery of the patient. Mr. McTaggart had not seen his brother in six years, the latter having been engaged in mining during that period.

Mrs. Lina B. Wood returned last Sunday from a 10 days' outing in the mountains with Perry Read of Culver, and Howard Turner and Miss Georgia Wood of Prineville and Henry Montgomerie of Lamonia. They went over to the cherry patch on the Santiam but found very few berries. Mrs. Wood says there was quite a severe electrical storm in the mountains, and that the forest rangers have been kept busy putting out fires started by the lightning.

Anna Root of Kalspel, Montana, arrived here last week and will make his home in this locality. He visited this section last year and was so much pleased that he decided to locate here permanently, and with that object in view he bought the Widener place in the Kliffing district and filed upon a quarter section adjoining it. Mr. Root went back to Kalspel and spent the winter, and has returned to this section with his family to make his home. He is a kinsman of W. H. Miller, who has a ranch near Spings.

Ralph Allen and his mother were in town from Haystack Tuesday.

J. B. Brown was in Madras last Saturday from his ranch near Haystack.

J. E. Loveall and family of Shaniko, have been visiting in town during the week.

Dave Lindsay was in Madras the last of the week from his ranch near Haystack.

Robert O'Donnell was in town last Tuesday from his ranch on the Deschutes near the mouth of Trout creek.

James A. Brown was in town last Friday from upper Willow Creek, where he has been haying, and reports the alfalfa crop not so heavy as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Missal and Mrs. N. S. Jenning returned last Sunday evening from a visit of several months in Portland. Mrs. Jennings, who was quite ill when she went to Portland, was greatly benefited by the trip and returned in much better health.

Mrs. Howard Turner has purchased of Frank Osborn the lot on Main street upon which the barber shop is situated. Mrs. Turner already owned the two corner lots, with the exception of this small lot, 32x40 feet, which she purchased in order to keep the corner property intact. The consideration was $850.

C. M. Redfield, chief engineer of the D. I. & P. Co., and who has general supervision over the Central Oregon railroad survey now in progress, was in town yesterday. He says that it will require about 60 days to complete the preliminaries and make a location of the line, and is quite confident that by that time the plans will have matured so that actual construction of the road can begin. The principal object in view, he says, is to get quick relief for this section from its present transportation troubles, and if the people in this county will come to the support of the project, there is nothing to prevent the road being built in, in time to haul out next season's crop.
