WASHINGTON'S BIRTH- DAY PARTY HAPPY EVENT

One of the most pleasant parties ever given in Madras was at the Washington's birthday dance given by the Harriman surveyor boys Tuesday evening. A large crowd was present which thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of the Harriman boys, who were voted to be splendid entertainers. The hall was tastefully decorated in national colors embellished with surveyors' paraphernalia; two tripods from each of which hung a hatchet, being at the entrance of the hall, while upon the farther wall hung a Jeweler's rod, a plumb and a chain. In the center of the hall was suspended a railroad lantern with a white light, indicating a clear track. Two corners of the hall were graced with huge bowls of lemon punch.

This event of the "railroad era" will cause a happy recollection of the railroad boys, who have shown their good will to people the of Madras in a most charming manner. The patronesses of the affair were Mesdames J. C. Robinson, R. L. Rice, A. C. Sanford and H. G. Key.
