Madras people went to the Deschutes and Crooked rivers the last of the week Sunday fishing. The trout flies and all who went had more or less in landing the big redsides.

Friends of Mrs. A. W. Boyce had a handkerchief shower on the day of her birthday last Friday. The occasion was a complete surprise to her and the occasion was a very one for all attending.

Cato, station boss at Porter Brook, died last Thursday of pneumonia. Friends of the dead man arrived Sunday and took the remains to the city for burial. He is reported to have left a property to the value of $10,000.

Madras orchestra is expected to play Friday evening to play a big invitation dance which the friends of the town are giving to their friends Saturday evening. This event promises to be of the finest social occasions of the Perical of the Pioneer office trip to Grizzly last Saturday to his driving horse which strayed from town. He reports crops looking in that section, as well as many acres on lands that have heretofore been in range.

V. Williams, the detective who has been in Madras several months ago in getting evidence against those alleged to have violated the local laws and engaged in gambling, has subpoenaed by the grand jury at Prineville as a witness.

Sanford has erected a grand refreshment booth at the Madras baseball grounds and will go into business whenever there is a contest on the diamond. Those who grow weary of watching the games will doubtless find the seats a great convenience.

Binger, an investor of Spokane, is this week and is buying farming land on Agency Plains. Mr. Binger will make public the amount of his investment nor the names of the parties whom he bought, but it is understood that his investments are quite extensive.

Coshov of Prineville was here Saturday night, having brought down his carpenter tools. These last named men will soon begin the construction of a residence for John Lockard on the south part of town, lumber for which is now being placed on the Pauline Jackson, who recently bought a quarter section located in what was known as the Morrow & Keenan flat, commenced reclaiming her land and is fortunate in striking water there at a depth of only nine feet from the surface. A cabin had been built on another part of the claim, but in order to have the water supply convenient, the house was built bodily to the well.

The Pathfinder car of the Portland Automobile club and Oregon State Automobile Association was in the city Saturday and Sunday with H. R. Glener, official representative of the Portland club and E. The object of the trip of these gentlemen was to look over the country, select the roads, select the best ones for automobiles, and on their return to Portland they will map and publish the facts for the benefit of autoists who are not familiar with the different routes.
