BRIEF ITEMS OF NEWS.

H. W. Turner went to Prineville today on business

George Austin, superintendent of the well drilling at Metolus, has gone to Portland on a business trip.

Mrs. J. E. Wilson arrived from Portland last of the week accompanied by Miss Wilson, her sister in law.

J. C. Sothman's threshing engine blew out a cylinder head last week, which caused a delay of several days in operating the machine

Rev. M. W. Weaver, a former pastor of the Methodist Church at Grass Valley, Oregon, but for the last few months of Portland, has been assigned the pastorate of the First M. E. Church of Madras, at the Northwest Conference held during the week beginning August 31st at Spokane, Wash

E. N. Fairchild the Madras photographer is making up a fine set of views of the harvest fields, railroad construction and Deschutes scenery which will make suitable post cards for sending away. If you want your place photographed this Fall get your order in early at the Madras Picture house.

George Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wilson, and the Misses Lois and Gertrude Osborn were in town today from Culver. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson expect to depart next week for a short visit to Portland, after which they will return to Hood River where Mr. Wilson has a barber business.

When the threshing outfit of Fields & Peirson was moving to a setting of grain on Thomas Monroe's ranch north of town, sparks from the engine caught the stacks on fire and they were entirely consumed. So rapid was the fire that the men had to hurry to get the machine out. Several hundred bushels of grain were destroyed and Monroe claims $750 damages from the threshermen.

Through A. C. Sanford, local agent for the Holt Combined Harvester Company orders for three 12-foot Baby Hols were placed this week, delivery to be made next year. W. O. Kilston, Joe Mendenhall and M. VanTassel of Culver have joined in the purchase of one machine while Lee Peck and Chas. W. Parrish will take the others. These harvesters require 16 horses each for operation. This will make nine Holt Combines for the Madras wheat belt next year. W. A. Gray a special salesman for the company is here this week assisting Mr. Sanford in the sales.

LYMAN CRISWOLD WEDS MRS. ANNA AIKEN

Mrs. Anna Aiken and Mr. Lyman Griswold were married at 62 and 1-2 Ellis Street, Portland, last Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. A. A. Morrison, of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiating. The wedding was quiet, no one other than the bride's mother, Mrs. Hausman, and her sister, Mrs. Maxted, both of Michigan, being present. The happy couple returned to Madras last Tuesday, and will make their home in the Osborn cottage at the south end of Main Street.

The groom is the popular district engineer for the Oregon Trunk Railway, who has had his headquarters here since the beginning of construction work in this vicinity. The bride is a charming lady who came to Madras last Spring from Michigan to visit her cousin, Mrs. C. E. Roush, where she first met the railroad engineer, and it seems that the latter was able to map out a plan of life which met with immediate approval from the lady of his choice.

Both bride and groom have made many friends since coming to Madras, and these are now busy wishing them all the good things in life.
