FOUR LADIES IN DISCUSSION

What Man Overheard While Dining at Restaurant—Women All Talked at Same Time.

A man dining alone at a restaurant, the other night was observed to smile hugely as he listened to the prattle of four ladies seated immediately behind him. They were discussing divergent topics, and, as is usual in such cases, they were all talking at the same time. This is the result as it reached the man's ears:
"Thank goodness, my Polly is blessed."
"With a calf's head and a pig's face."
"I love to see little Johnny well dressed."
"In the fish kettle over a charcoal fire."
"To see the darlings dancing before one."
"In the frying pan."
"And to hear their guileless tongues."
"Bubble and squeak."
"I always see the children put to bed personally."
"And smothered in onions."
"And if they have been good bairns, I invariably order."
"The heart to be stuffed and roasted, the gizzard to be peppered, and the sole to be fried."
And so on, and so on.

Her Little Jest.
The man who goes about selling those little Swiss clocks stopped at the wayside cottage.

"Lady," he said, politely, "let me sell you one of these tiny timepieces.
They are very simple and even the works are wood."
"Gracious!" exclaimed the humorous housewife, with a merry twinkle in her eye, "I should imagine those clocks would be dangerous to have around in the summer."
"Dangerous in the summer? Why so, ma'am?"
"Why, on account of the wood ticks."

Luncheon Taffy.
"Bring me a plain steak," ordered the new patron in the lunch room.
"Yes, sir," responded the pretty waitress.
"And some plain potatoes."
"I have your order, sir."
"And some plain bread."
"Gracious, sir, you must think we keep everything plain in here?"
"Yes, everything is plain, but the waitress."
And when the boss was not looking she slipped him two wedges of apple pie gratis.

Rejected.
Howard—How did you make your wife stop buying your ties?
Coward—I told her I'd let her pick out my ties for me if she'd let me choose the style of hair dressing for her.—Life.

Beetle—I see the old foot doctor has an automobile. He must be making money these days.
Willie Worm—Why not? Nearly all his patients are centipedes.

Near.
"Did I understand you to say he was a near relative of yours?"
"Yes. He is a second cousin."
"I shouldn't call that very near."
"But he's Scotch."

The Philosopher of Folly.
"Many a girl can learn to love man," says the philosopher of folly
"if the man has enough money to pa-for her education."

No Other Excuses.
"Tom—And was theirs a love match?
Jack—It must have been; they were both quite wealthy."

The Wonders About Us.
Let not care and humdrum deaden us to the wonders and mysteries amid which we live, nor to the splendors and glories. We need not translate ourselves in imagination to some other sphere or state of being to find the marvelous, the divine, the transcendent; we need not postpone our day of wonder and appreciation to some future time and condition. The true inwardness of this gross visible world hanging like an apple on the bough of the great cosmic tree, and swelling with all the juices and potencies of life, transcends anything we have dreamed of superterrestrial abodes.— John Burroughs.

How Matches Are Made.
Certain kinds of matches are shaved with the grain from sawed blocks; others are cut both ways by saws. In still further varieties the blocks are boiled to make them cut easily. By some machines a boiled or steamed log is revolved on its own axis, and a shaver the thickness of a match is cut round and round. This shaving is at the same time cut into lengths and split into match sticks. It may be said that there is hardly a limit to the varieties of methods employed.
Round matches are made by forcing them through dies.—Harper's Weekly.

Dog Foresook His Chum.
Policemen were summoned by the loud howling of a dog to the rescue of another dog that had fallen into the river at Yarmouth, England. The second animal was saved, and the first then refused to leave the policeman, and spent the night at the station.

Certainly Not.
"I see your heroine floats from

"Of course," said the author of the book. "Would you expect her to attempt to walk in these new gowns?"

ROBBED OF HER HAPPINESS

Woman Not Well Because Husband
Does Not Kick at Size of Bills—Misses His Grumbling.

"You are not looking well, Mrs.
Wellington."
"No; I haven't slept well lately."
"What's the trouble? Has the hot weather affected you?"
"Oh, no, it isn't that."
"I'll tell you what it is. You ought to give up the practice of drinking coffee at night. I know a lot of people who toss awake all night after they have been out to a late dinner and finished with coffee. I had to quit it myself."
"I'm sure that isn't the cause of my trouble."
"Have you seen a doctor?"
"No. A doctor couldn't help me any."
"But how can you tell until you go to one and let him examine you?"
"Well, if you know, I'm worrying about my husband. He hasn't kicked at the size of the bills lately, and he's been so kind and even-tempered right along for a month or two that I feel almost sure he must be leading a double life. Ah, if he would only get to grumbling and making it disagreeable around the house again!"

All They Could Afford.
"Sir," said the indignant citizen, "I found a fishworm in my hydrant this morning."
"I'm very sorry," replied the complaint clerk, "that we cannot afford to supply you with fish, but at the present low rate for water the best we can do is to furnish bait."

MENTALLY UNBALANCED.

"Why was Doctor Gruet expelled from the medical society?"
"For unprofessional conduct."
"What did he do?"
"It was what he didn't do. He neglected an opportunity to perform an operation on a rich patient."

An Interruption.
Among the primary pupils enrolled in a Baltimore school there this term is the son of a prominent business man of that city.
One afternoon at close of school the youngster sought out his father in his office, to whom he said:
"Dad, I'm getting tired of school. I think I'll quit."
"Why," asked the astonished parent, "what's the matter, Tommy? I thought you were fond of going to school."
"So I am, dad," responded the youngster, repressing a yawn, "but it breaks up the day so."—Harper's Magazine.

Weighed In.
Picking up a sharp knife from the meat stand the customer extends it to the butcher with the remark:
"I haven't any use for it, but you may cut it off, and I'll take it along, anyhow."
"Cut what off?" gasps the astonished butcher.
"Your hand. You weighed it with the roast, you know, and I want all I pay for."—Life.

Not So Bad.
Mrs. Myles—You wasn't at the bridge party yesterday?
Mrs. Styles—No; I was detained by sickness at home.
Mrs. Myles—So sorry! I hope your dear little dog Fido wasn't sick?
Mrs. Styles—Oh no; only one of the children!—Yonkers Statesman.

Unanswered Yet.
"Mamma," said little Harry, peering over the doughboard with much interest.
"What is it, dear?"
"If making bread makes white hands, like I've heard you tell sister, where does the dirt go to?"

Technical Explanation.
Assistant Editor—Where is the foreman today?
Compositor—He dropped 20 feet from his aeroplane last night and died his form.

Unaccommodating.
Mr. Phunn—I tell you these railroads are a tyrannical lot.
Mr. Phann—You bet! I've even been at ball games that were called so the two teams would be able to catch their train.—Puck

Reverie.
Reverie, like the rain of night, restores color and force to thoughts which have been blanched and wearied by the heat of the day. With gentle fertilizing power it awakens within us a thousand sleeping germs and, as though in play gathers round us materials for the future and images for the use of talent. Reverie is the Sunday of thought, and who knows which is the more important and fruitful for man, the laborious tension of the week, or the life-giving repose of the Sabbath.—Amiel's Journal.

To a Certain Sweet Extent.
"Do you wholly trust me, darling?" murmured the young man to the fair creature who was sitting beside him on the front seat of the trolley car.
"I do to a certain extent," she responded after a little bit of hesitation.
"What extent?" he asked, anxiously.
"Why," she explained, "I would trust you to the extent of not being afraid of there being any poison in a box of candy you might send me by mail."

Truly Wonderful Alarm Clock.
A few years ago the French government acquired by purchase from a private collection a wonderful alarm clock which was once the property of the great Napoleon and which not only tells the time of day, but, as well, the day, the month, the year, the mean solar time, the phases of the moon, and indicates, in addition, the quarter hours. Its attachments also include a thermometer.

Set Age Limit on Marriage.
According to Russian law no man or woman who has attained the age of eighty can contract a legal marriage. No other country nowadays imposes such a restriction. In ancient Rome, however, legislation on this point was even more stringent, the maximum age limit for men being sixty and for women fifty.

Delicate Irony.
Makart, the great Viennese painter, was taciturn to a fault. It is related of him that once at a dinner party he sat next to Mme. Gallmeyer for a whole hour without uttering a syllable, when his fair neighbor playfully nudged him with her elbow and said:
"Come, Herr con Makart, let us change the conversation."

Teach Obedience.
Let children understand that disobedience is sure to be followed by punishment. A child seldom disobeys Nature more than once in touching a hot lamp-glass. It will soon learn to obey you as well. Never allow it to ask why. You know; that is enough.

Physical Powers of Insects.
Ants will carry loads 40 or 50 times as heavy as themselves. The beetle can move a weight 112 times his own weight. The house fly gives 600 strokes of its wings in one second, and this enables it to get a distance of 35 feet.

Useful New Substance.
"Resinite" is the name of a new substance invented in Germany, useful as a substitute for celluloid and ivory. It renders wood, paper and pasteboard impenetrable and makes pine, for example, so hard that it rapidly dulls a planer.

The Cough of Consumption

Your doctor will tell you that fresh air and good food are the real cures for consumption.
But often the cough is very hard. Hence, we suggest that you ask your doctor about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It controls the tickling, quiets the cough.

Ayer's

One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime will cause an increased flow of bile, and produce a gentle laxative effect the day following.
Formula on each box. Show it to your doctor. He will understand at a glance.
Dose, one pill at bedtime.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Were Well Taught.
The children of an infant school in Wales are taught very much by signs.
The hand of the teacher sloped signifies "oblique;" the hand held flat, "horizontal;" the hand upright, "perpendicular." One of the Welsh bishops was preaching one day in behalf of the school, when, observing several children whispering together, he held his hand upright in a warning manner, meaning thereby to impose silence, on which almost the whole school, in the midst of the sermon, shouted out, "Perpendicular!"

Belgium's Fine Sea Front.
The sea front of Belgium, which extends about 40 miles, stretching from Holland to France, is paved almost entirely for the entire length, and forms one huge, wide ocean boulevard. And this, by the way, is the most productive of public works in the kingdom.
