MISS BERTHA HORNEY PASSES

Miss Bertha Horney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Horney, Oregon Trunk's died at the family home south of Madras last Saturday evening, September 17, 1910, of typhoid. Miss Horney became ill about three weeks before her death, and at one time was thought to be on the road to recovery. Last week however, her case took a turn for the worse and regular communication for construction her death occurred as stated, purposes will be established across the The following was contributed river. As soon as the car transfer is by a friend:

Bertha Horney was born in Warren county, Illinois, February 17, 1886. When she was six years old her parents came to Oregon and for nine years resided near Brownsville. From shores of the Columbia River. Loaded there they came to their home cars are to be transferred by means of near Madras, where she died, these inclines between the rail lines and Saturday, Sept. 17, at about 5 o'clock.

She united with the M. E. Church when she was 10 years old. She leaves a father, mother, brother and sister, one sister having preceded here to the spirit world a few years ago. And to one of the watchers at her bedside she said: "I see Eunice. She is calling for me she wants me to come to her."

The remains were laid to rest in the Madras Cemetery Sunday afternoon, the funeral services being conducted at the M. E. Church by Rev. G. R. Moorhead (for two years her pastor) assisted by Rev. J. H. Barkley and vas, and he has been greeted by large Rev. M. W. Weaver. A throng and enthusiastic audiences everywhere. of people at the church and cemetery showed how much this beautiful life was appreciated in the community.

Government Engineer Sees Power Sites

M. O. Leighton, Chief Engineer of the Geological Survey, is out from the powers of the Interstate Powers Washington making personal examina- Commission and Creation of a Public tion of the lands temporarily with Service Commission to the end that all drawn for water power sites. He was in Bend Saturday on his way down the Deschutes to the mouth of Crooked. a man of force and ability, and, if He will examine that stream, which will end his work in this section, He traversed the course of the Deschutes from its mouth to a point above the junction of Big and Little rivers.

Mr. Leighton declined to say what he would recommend as to the lands withdrawn. He did say that he found the Deschutes river from Benham Falls to mouth to be almost a continuous series of water powers, and many of the controling sites are still in the hands of the government. The inference was plain that withdrawal of such sites would be made permanent, with a view to congressional action. It was also fairly the lands further .- Bend Bulletin.

Tests of the new car ferry and inclines near the mouth of the Deschutes to be placed in service by the Oregon Trunk Line, were made yesterday, and it is expected that within a day or two working smoothly rails and ties will be transported across the river and tracklaying will be begun. It will proceed at the rate of about two miles a day.

The company had expected to begin laying rails about 10 days ago, but delays were encountered in completing the inclines on the north and south the ferry. Part of each incline is built under water and it was necessary to employ divers to do the work .- Ore-

Madras's Grown

Will Be Rapid on Arrival of Railros

The growth of Central Oregon means the growth of Madras, its foremost Madras must grow as Central Oregon grows. It can not help it, and all creation not keep it back. There have been several towns promoted on paper tribute Madras. They will always remain paper made towns, and there will probably be to follow. Madras is already a substantial town with its flour mill, substantial bank numerous business houses, and will control the business between the Crooked I Canyon and the Columbia River, in fact, for a distance of from 50 to 100 mls each side of it.

The New York Herald and many large Eastern papers contain full page with advertising Madras and Central Oregon. Who is doing all this advertising) h be the two big railroads. Why aie they advertising Madras with Central One Because it has a stragetical position, and is certain to make a city of some important It has a vast area of agricultural resources surrounding it that the railroads look is their principal tonnage. With the building of elevators, flour mills and other com industries, and the almost unlimited area of agricultural resources surrounding it. Mal will become the heaviest shipping point on the new railroads now building. should acquire a population of 3000 to 5000 with the coming of the railroads. will mean rapid advances in all real estate, especially in the business portion of the the choice lots should bring as many thousand dollars after completion of the rains as they will hundreds today.

Madras is a safe substantial place for investment. The Original Townsite the Railroad Addition where the depot will be placed is where the big values will realized. Now is the time to buy before the prices are advanced. The opportunity at hand. Buy today!
