MANY ATTRACTIONS AT COUNTY FAIR

The Board of Directors of the First Central Oregon Agricultural Society met last Monday and transacted important business relative to getting preparations for the fair well under way as it is determined to have this year's meeting, which will be held October 18, including the 22d, in every way superior to any that has been held before. Among business of interest to the residents of Central Oregon in general was the discussion of some proposed footraces. After considerable discussion the Board decided upon conditions to govern several races, and desire to place on record their regret that they are not able to offer purses more in accordance with what the physical tests of speed and endurance merit. The sums offered are $10 and $5 for 100 yards, $10 and $5 for 220 yards, $15 and $10 for quarter mile, $30 and $15 for mile, and $50 and $25 for five mile. Conditions under which these are awarded are that the entrant must be a resident of Central Oregon, that there must be five entrants to each race, and at least three must start. Entries will close the night before the races.

Reports were made with reference to the baseball tournament, and there is every indication that it will be a success.

In fact, the attractions this year are more varied and numerous than ever before, and the other one thing needful is the co-operation of every resident of Central Oregon in bringing themselves and their exhibits to the fair.

DRY FARMING METHODS PAY

Minneapolis Journal
Farmers in almost every section of North Dakota have learned a lesson from the lack of rainfall and are preparing to change their farming methods in many particulars. Among other things the amount of grain harvested in spite of the short rainfall showed very clearly the high degree of drought-resistance of the soil, but it also taught the farmers that they had not in the past been doing their full part in the conservation of moisture.

There have been numerous converts to the Campbell system of dry farming, which includes deep plowing, deep sowing and the formation of the dust blanket on the surface to minimize surface evaporation. Several farmers in different parts of the state became converts to the Campbell system several years ago, and in years when the precipitation was up to normal were laughed at by their neighbors, for their extra pains, but the laugh was the other way this year. These dry farmers reaped remarkable harvests this year, their wheat yielding in many cases 40 bushels an acre, while neighboring fields tilled by the catch-as-catch-can method turned out six to ten bushels.

SECURITY MEETING

The Socialists have recently organized a local here with an initial membership of forty-nine making it the largest local ever organized in the state.

Meetings are held in O.H. Fellows Hall the first and third Wednesdays of each month, opening at 8 o'clock.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS

At a Chester (Pa.) cockfight nine sports jumped out of the windows to escape the cops. They thought the windows were only a few feet from the ground when they were twenty. Some were crippled for life.

As it has become a habit to investigate everything, we advise you to peel your eye for gold bricks among the many get-rich-quick systems that are now extensively advertised to catch people interested in poultry.

That it pays to advertise is shown by the fact that nearly every one cooks chicken for the preacher when he visits. When newspapers advertised a preacher's predilection for poultry they saved the cooks from worrying about what to cook and also made the preacher sure of a good square meal. As this increases sales vastly the poultryman should not just remember the editor in his prayers, but should give him a good big roast often.

Butter, milk and eggs seem naturally to go together, and we notice the dairy wagons generally sell eggs to a good private trade. Poultry and fruit, poultry and dairy, poultry and bees, two combined or all in one, afford interesting employment and produce commodities that are always in demand and bring good prices.

Cock birds often do not eat after a fight, because their beaks are so broken they cannot pick up the food. If their feed is not so bunched at this time that they may punch their beaks full they often starve.

The United States attorney at Pittsburgh filed testimony in court that one ounce of frozen eggs contains 2,156,000,000 bacteria. He declared that 20,000 pounds were shipped from Nebraska to Pittsburgh in two months. It's about time other states stop making a dump of Pennsylvania.

Henry Peters of Jefferson county, Pa., tracked the animal that stole his ducks and chickens and captured a wildcat with five kittens. A wildcat in a hencoop is bad, but a wildcat scheme is worse.

There's as much difference between high and low grade incubator thermometers as between wholesome mushrooms and deadly toadstools. Appearances oft show no inferiority, but results prove superiority.

In sending stock to customers stretch a point to please them. Select a crate that is strong, but light, so the express may not be so heavy. If you watch for his interest as well as your own it will surely pay.

In visiting California see the ostriches and big trees, of course. But don't forget Petaluma, the poultry metropolis of the world, and be sure to call on Editor Snow of her weekly poultry journal, the only poultry weekly in the United States. He is the only Snow in California and yet awfully warm hearted.

When you locate a squab farm get close to market you expect to serve. Distance makes the expenses greater and also affects condition of shipments. A squab raiser near New York last year sold $25,000 worth of birds to hotels and restaurants of the metropolis.

You may always recognize an experienced fancier by the fact that you learn from his conversation, and he doesn't tell you all he knows the first time you meet. It's the boys make the noise.

Training the Colt.

Never tease or teach the young colt tricks or frighten him. His actions on such occasions may be funny at the time, but the after results are usually far from funny. For instance, I know of a case where a farmer had thought he would scare the wits out of a colt by jumping out at it just as it was entering the stable door. He accomplished his purpose all right, but it was months after that before the colt could be induced again to enter that door of its own free will. Begin to teach the colt customary words of command while he is yet young. If you spend time enough with him he will learn when, back, gee, haw, etc. Always speak to him in a plain, natural tone; be distinct in expressions and never yell or scream at him. This only scares him and makes him nervous, thus doing a great deal of harm. A colt can be spoiled by yelling at him just as quickly as by using a whip too freely. Speak quietly, but firmly.

Dairy Breeds All Have a Place. The battle of the dairy breeds still goes on, but the views regarding the utility of the breeds and their adaptation are becoming more sane. It is now coming to be more and more recognized that there is a place for all the breeds of dairy cows and that that place is not quite the same for each. Thus the Ayrshire does particularly well in climates a little stern. The Holsteins do well where much milk is wanted. So of the others. Each will best fill a niche that is a little different from that filled by the others.

LAY THE FOUNDATION FOR a Fortune

By hard work and strict economy one may save a few hundred dollars in a lifetime, but fortunes are the result of wise investments.

OFFERS OF INVESTMENTS

Madras Is One of the Best on the Pacific Coast Today

It is not a paper made town, nor one of those "Dollar down and dollar a month" propositions. It's a real, solid, genuine opportunity to make money on a reasonable small expenditure.

MADRAS is already a town of importance. The railroads recognize it and are looking to Madras as one of their heaviest shipping points. They advertise Madras together with Central Oregon in the Eastern press. The railroads are helping to make Madras a Big City.

WATCH MADRAS GROW. Only 15 weeks until the two railroads reach Madras, then things will happen and happen quick. Prices will go high, Madras will be crowded. MADRAS WILL BOOM. Purchase a lot in Madras and realize a wise investment. More money can be made in Madras in the next six months than elsewhere in six years. Madras Original Townsite and Railroad Addition are right at the heart of the business center where values are bound to increase rapidly. Keep in touch with what the mayor and City Council are doing for City Improvements.
