IMPROVES DRYING METHODS
Oregon Man Invents New Process Which Will Revolutionize Industry.
A feature which created great interest not only among growers, but the general public at large, at the apple show given under the auspices of the Oregon State Horticultural society at Portland, was a display of dried fruits and vegetables made by Professor W. H. Swett, of that city. Professor Swett had on display about one hundred and thirty varieties of fruits and vegetables which he had prepared by his method of evaporation.
Unusual interest was attached to this display, not in the fact that these products were dried, but in the claim that by a process of evaporation which Professor Swett employs, only the water is eliminated, and that therefore these products are always the same, as far as food values and flavors are concerned, as they were before being evaporated, only the addition, by absorption, of the percentage of water extracted being necessary to return them to their fresh state. Professor Swett's products and the machine which he employs has been on display in Portland at his home for the past year and is attracting widespread attention.
Likfresh Dinner.
In order that these products should receive a practical test, for "the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof," a six-course dinner composed of these products, was prepared by Mrs.
Geo. K. Rogers and served to the judges and officials of the apple show.
The following was the menu: Soup—Clam broth. Fish—Fried smelts, codfish balls with tomato sauce. Meat—Stewed beef. Vegetables—Mashed potatoes, green peas, string beans, corn on cob. Salad—Vegetable salad with French dressing, salad consisted of beets, apples, beans, peas, onions and tomatoes. Desserts—Berry jelly, consisting of blackberries, black raspberries, strawberries, cherries and nuts. Strawberry shortcake; loganberry and apple pies; cherry raisins. Coffee.
The entire meal including clam broth, fish and meat consisted of Oregon Likfresh products, except bread, butter, nuts and coffee.
Among those present at the dinner were: Honorable Homer C. Atwell and Frank W. Power, president and secretary respectively of the Oregon State Horticultural society; Professor H. E. Van Dieman, horticultural expert from Washington, D. C., official judge of the apple show; Professor C.
I. Lewis, head of the horticultural department, Oregon Agricultural college and Professor W. H. Swett, the inventor of the Likfresh system of food preservation.
Here was given a practical demonstration of this remarkable invention.
Those who partook of this dinner state that in no case could they have told these foods from the fresh products. What this invention means to the agricultural and horticultural districts of the country is beyond the power of the imagination to portray.
The loss that is being sustained by fruit and vegetable growers because of their inability to economically care for their products, and inability to obtain a market during the glutted season, runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars annually on the Pacific Coast alone.
Not only can these losses now be considered but an even greater loss can also be avoided. That which is now being wasted is a portion of what the ground produces but there are in every fruit and vegetable growing district, vacant tracts, lots and city blocks which can be thrown into cultivation and the products therefrom taken care of by this system. These vacant lands represent a complete financial loss to the several communities. The conserving of present waste and the bringing into use of idle lands will add tremendously to the population of the fruit and vegetable producing districts of the country and will in turn have an enormous influence on land values.
To the residents of arid lands or far-away barren countries; to the armies and navies and merchant marine and also for the city resident, this invention opens up tremendous advantages.
When the products and lands now wasted are conserved, these consumers may have, not inferior canned or old-style dried products, and also not only each fruit and vegetable during its particular season, but every variety of fruit and vegetable which mankind consumes, throughout the year. Hence it is that Professor Swett's discovery and invention is attracting a tremendous interest not only here, but in distant states and promises to rank among the highest of the great discoveries which this age has presented to mankind.

CAP and BELLS
ROUGH ON THE POOR TRAMP
Thirsty Traveler Unknowingly Pumps Water Into Cistern of Ingenious Lazy Individual.
The tramp had walked a good three miles and was particularly thirsty. A sudden turn in the road brought him to the foot of a steep hill, at the top of which stood a large house. The tramp paused a moment before attempting the herculean feat of storming the hill. He felt hungry and thirsty. He glanced to the left. These words caught his eye: "Tarry, traveler, and refresh thyself." The tramp was sorry the sign was attached to a pump-handle. However, water was better than nothing, so he commenced to pump. The spout remained dry. He pumped with more vigor. Still no water. After ten minutes of hard work he said harsh things about the pump, and continued his journey. At the top of the hill he mentioned his grievance to a native. The latter pointed to the fine house across the road. "The owner of that house," he said, "has some big water-cisterns which have to be filled from a stream in the valley. He is too lazy to fill 'em himself, though; so he rigged up that pump and connected it with his cistern, and now—"
But the tramp was already sprinting across the road to argue with the man who owned the pump.
Juror Catches Judge Asleep.
Men who are summoned for jury duty are ingenious in their excuses, and it often happens that the selections of a jury is the most diverting part of the case. One who was called in the county court here complained that he was deaf.
"You say that you are deaf?" said the judge.
"Eh, what is it you say?" said the man.
"I said, are you deaf?" observed the judge in a louder tone.
"You'll have to speak louder," was the reply, "or I can't hear you."
"I guess we'll excuse you," said the judge; "you can go."
The deaf man had no trouble hearing the court's last remark and sped out of the courtroom.
"I think that's one on the judge," observed one of the attorneys.

Making a Vote Count.
Louis M. Sanders, Republican candidate for alderman of the Second ward, Orange, N. J., is responsible for the following yarn:
It was election day in a small Michigan city, when a prominent politician happened to meet an old dorky servant of the house.
"Well, Sambo," asked Mr. Smith, "how did you vote today?"
"I ain't voted yet, boss," said Sambo.
"Why is that?" said Mr. Smith.
"Well, boss, it's dis a-way. De Prohibitionists dey give me $10 to vote their ticket and the Republicans dey give me $5 to vote their ticket. Ah's goin' to wait to see how corrupt all de parties is 'fore I vote, en then Ah's goin' to vote for the leastest."
So it is.
"It is better to have the good will than the ill will of a man."
"Yes, but it is better to have the ill will of some men than to have to laugh at their funny stories."
Mean.
"Why do you hate him so?"
"He has been knocking me to the gird I go with."
"What did he tell her?"
"What my salary is."

Was His Nest.
