CUTISS DESCRIBES HYDRO-AEROPLANE

Daring Aviator Tells of Adaptability of Triad

TRAVELS IN ANY ELEMENT

Flies in Air, Runs on Ground or
Skims Along the Surface of Water
With Equal Ease

Glenn Curtiss has written a special description of his monster hydro-aeroplane which is to fly at the Astoria Centennial during the third week of the pageant. This is the first time Mr. Curtiss has written about his combined motor boat and air ship. His description follows:

The hydro-aeroplane is the newest and most sensational thing in aviation. I developed it from the Standard Curtiss aeroplane, at San Diego, Cal., during the past winter, and it is heralded by the experts in aerial navigation as the greatest advancement since man first learned to fly.

This new wonder of the air is popularly called "The Triad," meaning the union of three. It takes this name from the fact that it represents the conquest of three elements—air, water and earth.

The triad can fly sixty miles an hour, skim the water like a racing motor boat at fifty miles an hour, and run over the earth at thirty-five miles an hour. It can rise from the earth and alight upon the water; start from the water and come down upon the land, or be used exclusively on either land or water.

A flight by the triad from the water is far more spectacular than a flight by the ordinary aeroplane. To see it skim the water like a swooping gull and then rise into the air, circle and soar to great heights, and finally to drop gracefully down upon the water again, furnishes a thrill and inspires a wonder that does not come with any other sport on earth.

The hydro-aeroplane is safer than the ordinary aeroplane. For this reason it is bound to become the most popular of all aerial craft. The beginner can take it out on his neighboring lake or river, or even the great bays, and skim it over the water until he is sure of himself, and sure that he can control it in the air. He can fly it six feet above the water for any distance with the feeling that even if something should happen to cause a fall, he would not be dashed pieces. The worst he would get is a cold bath.

The triad is destined to be the greatest factor in the development of aviation. It makes long cross-country or cross-sea flights possible. If a cross-country flight is too dangerous to attempt because of the rough character of the land, the hydro-aeroplane can follow a river course with perfect safety. Or if there is no water course and the country is level it can take the land course with equal safety.

In short, it matters little whether an aerial course takes one over land or water, the hydro-aeroplane is the safest machine for flight. With the triad the Great Lakes offer no impassable obstacle to a long flight, and it is within the vision of him who watches the trend of things that an over-sea flight is not far in the future.

The Looney brothers, who have been employed at the Deschutes Land Co.'s sawmill, departed last Tuesday with their families and household effects for Madras, where they have property interests.—LaPine Inter Mountain.

The change in the mail service which was effective July 1, is considerable of an improvement over the old schedule. Every night, possibly about twelve, the mail now arrives from Culver, so that it is always ready the first thing in the morning. The outgoing mail leaves here for Culver at one p. m., the same as usual, taking practically the same amount of time to reach Portland as of old.—Prineville Review.
