GAME WARDEN SAYS NO MORE RECEIPTS

Avers That Justices of the Peace
Practice Petty Graft
on Hunters

Hunting or fishing upon receipts furnished by notaries and justices of the peace will not be allowed in the future, according to the instructions recently issued by the state board of fish and game commissioners. Deputies all over the state have been told to arrest any hunter or fisherman who fails to show a regular fishing or hunting license in his possession upon demand. The holder of a receipt will be treated in every way the same as though he had never made application for a license.

The reason for this action is plain. In the past, notaries and justices of the peace, who have authority to collect for licenses, issue a receipt and mail the money to the county clerk, who in turn mails a license to the notary or justice, to be delivered to the applicant, have failed to do so, pocketing the money and advising the applicant that a receipt is equivalent to a license. To stop this petty grafting, Game Warden Finley insists that licenses in the future will be recognized as the only evidence of a right to hunt or fish.

"We have a fairly complete record of notaries and justices who have retained money belonging to the game fund," said Warden Finley, "and they are located all over the state. These men have actually accepted money for licenses and made no returns of it, nor have they secured licenses for those who have made application. By arresting those holding merely receipts for licenses, we will shortly run down those who have been guilty of this fraud."

It is provided by law that any justice of the peace or notary in the state may receive money for the county clerk on application for hunting or fishing licenses, and the game warden has no disposition to place an obstacle in the way of hunters to thus easily secure their rights. He is firm, however, in his intentions to break up a practice which has proven demoralizing to many public and semi-public officials in all parts of Oregon.

A TRAGICAL ROMANCE.

A cat crouched on a garden fence.
A maid at her window sat.
A bachelor sat in his hen coop
With a gun for that old cat.

The cat sprang for the chickens.
The bachelor shot at the cat.
The maid fell from the window
And landed on her rat.

In his arms he lifted her gently.
She started to frown; but, no.
Just then cute Cupid arrived there
And drew back his strong bow.

The bachelor had missed the tomato.
But Cupid was a sure shot.
He let his arrow go singing
And killed two birds at one shot.

CENTRAL OREGON JOURNALS EXCEL

Editor Hurd of the LaPine Inter-Mountain Compares Local Product With Eastern Publications

"The Bend Bulletin, the Redmond Spokesman, the Madras Pioneer, the Metolius Central Oregonian and the Prineville Journal excel in reading matter, typographical appearance and patronage, newspapers published in towns of 8,000 and 10,000 inhabitants in the Central States.

"This statement is made in all sincerity by the writer, since his connection with the Inter-Mountain the past month and the opportunity afforded to read the papers coming to its exchange table. Each of the publications named above is edited by trained newspaper men and so far superior to rural papers issued in eastern states that there is no comparison. The writer was engaged in newspaper work in South Dakota for fifteen years, and knows.

"The press of Central Oregon is an example of the progressive people residents of this section today. A united, hustling, public-spirited class, hailing from every state in the Union, and interested mainly in the development of this great empire. The state is fortunate in having such a citizenship, for it is only the hardy and the brave that sever home ties of a lifetime and go to a new country to battle with unknown conditions.

"That the press is more than doing its part is well known, and that the efforts of the boys are appreciated require but a glance at one of the papers."

PORTLAND EXCURSION LEAVES SEPT. 29

Will Arrive in Madras About 5 O'clock
Friday Afternoon—Business
Men to Greet Them

Portland's trade excursion to Burns and Central Oregon cities will leave Portland on the morning of September 29. The return will be made October 5, following a week of strenuous traveling by automobile and the newly completed railroads of the interior.

There is a great deal of interest in the Portland business colony in the forthcoming excursion. It will be run under the auspices of the Portland Commercial club with the dual purpose of giving the Portland business men an opportunity to become acquainted with the central part of the state and its resources and also to permit them to attend the coming session of the Central Oregon Development league at Burns, October 2 and 3.

About 50 prominent business men, many of them heads of firms, will leave Portland on this trip. The train is expected to reach Madras about 5 o'clock in the afternoon on September 29 and it is the intention of Madras business men to greet the visitors at the train upon arrival. From here the train will proceed to Redmond and the excursionists will join in celebrating the coming of the railroad to Redmond. From the latter place they will proceed by automobile to Burns via Bend and other interior towns. Bend citizens are also preparing to welcome the visitors when they reach there Saturday night.
