OREGON TRUNK TO BUILD FARTHER SOUTH

Hill Promises Much for Central Oregon

ROAD TO HARNEY COUNTY

Will Not Build to San Francisco, However—Empire Builder Encourages Low Priced Land

Although the Oregon Trunk railroad at present extends only to Bend it will not make that place its terminus for any great length of time according to a statement made by James J. Hill at the spike driving ceremony at Bend Oct 5. His utterances printed in the Portland Journal are significant to settlers in Harney county where Mr. Hill proposes to extend his line first.

"We are stopped at Bend for only a little while. We shall quickly be pushing on. We have decided to wait here at Bend only long enough to see what directions the settling up of the country will be fastest, to see where the people who homestead will be most permanent and successful.

"It will require more than one railroad to develop Central Oregon. We are prepared to build two or three more roads very soon. We will not wait. I have confidence and faith in this Oregon country. Within five years the population of Central Oregon will be 300,000. Within ten years it should be more than 1,000,000.

"I have not seen the Harney country but I will say that it was the reports concerning the possibilities of Harney county that caused me to decide to build up through the Deschutes canyon.

It will only be a matter of time and a very short time at that until we extend the road into Harney."

During the interview Mr. Hill exploded the belief that the Oregon Trunk will be extended to San Francisco. "I will not say that we will not be in San Francisco in time for the exposition in 1915, but we will not go in over the Oregon Trunk. It would be foolish for us to choose the longest and roughest way to California." In reply to what was the shortest and smoothest route to San Francisco, he replied: "There are several possible ways, but we built the Oregon Trunk into Central Oregon for the development of Central Oregon. We built the best possible track and the best possible road-bed for we believe Central Oregon development merits the best.

"I will illustrate our faith in Oregon. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific have spent $85,000,000 getting into Oregon. We have never earned a dollar on the investment. But we know we are going to. We know that the opening of Oregon opens million and millions of acres to homes and farmers—that is where the profit will be. Now we are sending out men to learn what are the problems and difficulties of this country so that they can help the people to be successful working the land. We are going ahead of the rest, willing to do everything possible at no matter what expense, because we believe in Oregon and because we believe in Central Oregon.

"One of the things we will be most interested in doing will be in holding land values down to a fair valuation. Nothing could hurt the country more than the land boomers who dine and sup on their neighbors. We must apply the principle that what is best for everyone is best for the individual. Excess land values will put off the day of Central Oregon's maximum development.

"Another thing we will be interested in doing will be to encourage sub-division of land. The man who has 1000 acres and sells 500 of it will find his land remaining worth much more than all that he had in the first place. Let the people produce in this country what the country is adapted to; let the land values be kept reasonable; let the big tracts be divided, and we will do our share in railroad building and development."

This assertion of Mr. Hill has the highest significance to Central Oregon people and those interested in its development. To the east and south are the surveys into Harney county where townships have never been touched by plow, where in 10,000 square miles there are only 5000 people.

D. G. Rogers, a former resident of the Opal Prairie country, was in Madras and vicinity last week calling on friends and relatives. Mr. Rogers is now residing at Morgan, Oregon, having purchased a large body of land and expects to farm on a large scale this coming season.

Biliousness is due to a disordered condition of the stomach. Chamberlain's Tablets are essentially a stomach medicine, intended especially to act on that organ; to cleanse it, strengthen it, tone and invigorate it, to regulate the liver and to banish biliousness positively and effectually. A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of wireless and railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 a month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute, of Portland, Ore., operates six official institutes in America, under R. R. and Wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details.
