

Personal and Local

Dr. T. A. Long made a business trip to Prineville Friday and Saturday of last week.

Miss M. McCrudden and Mrs. E. Lytle, of Haycreek, were in Madras Monday doing some trading.

Mrs. R. P. Scheurer came down from Redmond last week, and is receiving medical attention from Dr. Haile.

Dr. Clark and wife who have been spending several weeks past in Madras, left for Prineville Saturday. They expect to return in a few weeks.

Rev. Zimmerman, one of the field men of the anti-saloon league of Oregon, spoke at the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday morning.

J. M. Hayes, Elmer Mathews and S. Llewellyn, of the Agency Plains, loaded a car of potatoes at Gateway last Friday, for the Portland market.

Miss Young who has been teaching the primary grades at the Madras Public School, was called to her home at Bend Tuesday on account of the death of her nephew.

Lewis J. Wyde, one of the republican candidates for the office of Assessor of Crook County, was in Madras Monday of this week getting acquainted with the voters in this section.

Dan Adams and wife have recently traded their ranches in this vicinity for land in Wasco County, and will make their future home on Chenoweth Creek. D. W. Barnett, the local real estate agent closed the deal between Adams and Fred Fisch.

Miss Rose B. Schlattman, of Kalama, Wash., has been visiting her many friends in Culver. She took the Sunday train for Bend, where she made proof on her desert claim.—Deschutes Tribune.

The new bank is practically finished, and will be opened next week. The fixtures will be put in place the last of this week, and the officials of the bank will probably do their moving Saturday.

G. A. McFarlane, of Redmond, candidate for the republican nomination for county judge, was in Madras Thursday meeting the voters, and looking into the local political situation in general.

Howard W. Turner spent the early part of the week at Prineville and Redmond.

Work on the Oregon Trunk well at Opal City has been discontinued, and the machinery will be installed in the near future. The hole has been bored to a depth of about 1400 feet, water has raised in the hole several hundred feet, and from all indications, the supply is a good one. Many difficulties have had to be overcome in the drilling of this well and several months have been required to do the work, but with the use of the most modern machinery, Mr. Austin, the man in charge of the operations, has been able to accomplish the difficult task.

The Brass Ornament.

The junior member of the old law firm of Goldsmith, Colston, Hoadley & Johnson having used the phrase "a shining ornament of the Cincinnati bar" in referring to some other lawyer, Murat Halstead seized upon the phrase and thereafter invariably referred to Mr. Johnson as "the brass ornament of the Cincinnati bar." At an evening gathering Mr. Halstead saw a handsome woman. He begged to be presented and was—to Mrs. Johnson. It did not occur to him who the lady might be. He was curious about her. "Johnson, Johnson?" he repeated. "I have never had the pleasure of meeting you before, Mrs. Johnson. Do you live in Ohio?" "Oh, yes," replied the lady, brimming over with smiles: "I live in Cincinnati." "Indeed!" said Mr. Halstead, quite astonished. "May I inquire of what family of Johnsons you are?" The smiles were more than merry this time. "Mr. Halstead," she replied, "for fifteen years I have been trying to polish up the brass ornament of the Cincinnati bar."

Likely Enough. Condescending Chapple—I weally can't remember your name, but I've an idea I've met you before. Nervous Host—Oh, yes; very likely! It's my house.—London Sketch.
