POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS IS PASSED

Measure now goes before States for Ratification. Republicans Vote as Unit

Washington, May 13.—The House today adopted, 237 to 39, a joint resolution providing for an amendment to the Constitution to permit the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. It had already been adopted by the Senate and now goes to the states.

All that remains to be done is the formal signing of the instrument and the issuance of a proclamation to the states to signify their wishes on the proposed change.

The vote was proceeded by a bitter fight, in which the Southern members joined in a common cause against the resolution. Led by Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, the Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana delegations fought to prevent its passage because of the Senate amendment which gave the Federal Government supervision of the elections. They based their opposition almost entirely on the danger of negro domination.

The first vote was on an amendment by Representative Bartlett, which took from the Federal Government all supervisory powers. It was defeated, 189 to 89. On the vote for the adoption of the resolution, two-thirds of the House being necessary, 50 Democrats deserted.

There was not a single Republican vote cast against the resolution, which was adopted to the accompaniment of thunderous applause.

Direct election of Senators first was taken up by Congress in 1826. From time to time attempts have been made to make the Senate a popular body and have its members elected as are the members of the House. Numbers of these resolutions have died in committee, while others were passed at the last moment of a Congress never to receive the President's signature.

Senator Bristow, of Kansas, introduced in 1911 the bill that passed today. Amended by the House it has been in conference since July 5, last year, and if the House had not receded from its opposition in granting Federal control of Senatorial elections it might have met the fate of others. It was this danger which led the House to agree not to press its views.

RUMELY OIL PULL Power Plant

Here's the heart of the simple design—the rugged construction—the compact arrangement of the carburetor, magneto and oiling mechanism. That we do not over-rate its power, has been proven repeatedly in public contests and in the field. It has always delivered more than its rated horse power both at the draw-bar and in the belt, with less variations in revolutions per minute than any other tractor.

IN SIZES TO MEET YOUR POWER NEEDS AT PRICES TO SUIT YOUR POCKET BOOK

Whether you farm 100 acres or a many thousand acre ranch, there is an Oil Pull for you, in the size you need, at the price you want to pay. It will do your plowing, drilling, cultivating, harvesting, hauling, and road grading—to run your grain separator, corn shredder and husker, clover huller, mangle cutter, etc.—to supply your every requirement for traction at belt power.

Investigate the advantages of an ownership now. Specifications, pictures, descriptions, full details are yours for the asking.
