Look at this Power Plant

Here's the heart of the Caterpillar Tractor—the simple design—the rugged construction—the compact arrangement of the carburetor, magneto and timing mechanism. That we do not over-rate its power, has been proven repeatedly in public contests and in the field. It has always delivered more than its rated horse power both at the draw-bar and in the belt, with less variations in revolutions per minute than any other tractor.

The Caterpillar has a direct gear drive governor, a direct gear drive governor, we have secured a system of oil combustion and power control without an equal.

IN SIZES TO MEET YOUR POWER NEEDS AT PRICES TO SUIT YOUR POCKET BOOK

Whether you farm 100 acres or a many thousand acre ranch, there is an engine for you, in the size you need, at the price you want to pay—into the year's plowing, drilling, cultivating, harvesting, hauling, and road-grading—run your grain separator, corn shredder and hays, clover huller, engine cutter, etc.—to supply your every requirement for tractors or belt power.

Investigate the many advantages of an ownership now. Specifications, pictures, descriptions, full details are yours for the asking.

PORTLAND BUSINESS MEN VISIT TILLAMOOK

Government to Interest Children in Forestry—Country Life Movement Growing

Portland, Ore., May 21.—Portland's business men have been clasping hands with Tillamook County communities this week. Excursions to other parts of the state are teaching Portland's people that Oregon is a great state and that Portland, after all, is only a small part of it. A better understanding of the needs of the country comes to the city people after every such excursion.

Children are to be interested in forest protection. Forestry officials of the Government have taken steps to secure the assistance of boys and girls of the state in helping to protect forests from fire. The importance of the trees to the people of the state and how to safeguard his great resource is taught in an attractive story to be issued and distributed throughout the schools.

What is declared to be the most valuable tract of farm land in the state, and probably in the whole country, lies near Beaverton, in Washington County. This fifteen acre farm is beaver-dam land and has grown onions, valued at $9,000 a year, for forty years. The tract has produced a total of approximately $260,000. Onions yield 400 sacks per acre on this land and its richness seems inexhaustible. It can show a similar record.

McMinnville will hold a big horse show Saturday, May 25, demonstrating to the remainder of the state the excellent breed of horses raised in Yamhill County. Many breeders expect to exhibit stock.

The Country Life movement throughout the state is making good. The idea is growing and it is expected to interest 75,000 children in the work. C. H. Lane, representing the Department of Agriculture, has been in the state during the past week giving practical talks on the subject. It looks like the plan to make Oregon soil produce everything needed to feed the people will succeed.

SCHOOL ATHLETES TO HAVE TRACK MEET

Forty-One High Schools Represented in Big Corvallis Competition

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore., May 21.—Teams of two to six young athletes are entered from 41 different high schools for the inter-scholastic track meet at the Oregon Agricultural College this week and the college students are doing everything in their power to give them a royal good time as well as the best athletic competition of their lives.

Representatives are entered for fourteen events, including the 100, 220, 440, 880, mile and relay races, the high and broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus and hammer throwing, 120 and 220 yard hurdles. The silver cup offered by Pres. Kerr was won last year by Washington High, Portland, and as it must be won three consecutive years to give permanent possession, Washington will be on hand to defend the title again. The Orange O Club, composed of the monogram men of the college, have arrangements in hand and will conduct a tour through the buildings and laboratories and have planned a dance in the gymnasium as a "wind-up".

Admission to West Point.

A candidate for the Military academy at West Point must first get the endorsement of the senator or congressman from his district. The question of appointment is generally settled in each district by competitive examination, the representative in congress appointing the boy who obtains the highest marks. Once the candidate has passed this competitive examination and received the appointment to the academy he must pass both a mental and physical examination at the hands of the army officers assigned to duty at the West Point institution. All appointees must be between seventeen and twenty-two years old, free from any infirmity which might render them unfit for military service and be able to pass an examination in English grammar, English composition, English literature, algebra through quadratic equations, plane geometry, descriptive geography and the elements of physical geography. United States history and the outlines of general history.

Ingenious Old Jars.

From time to time fresh illustrations are afforded as to the ancients' ingenuity, with special reference to what are termed the "lost arts."

Recently it has been shown that the old Peruvians must have understood the laws of atmospheric pressure in order to construct the curious jars and vases they left. One of these pieces of pottery was ornamented with the figures of two monkeys, and when water was poured into or out of the vessel sounds like the screeching of monkeys were heard. Another similar vessel has the figure of a bird that uttered appropriate notes; another was ornamented with a cat that mewed and another with snakes that hissed. An ingenious water jar bore the form of an aged woman on whose cheeks tears were seen to trickle, while sobs were heard when water was poured from the jar.—New York Tribune.

Famous Venetian Palace.

Vendramin is not only one of the most beautiful residences on the canal in Venice, but it is closely associated with the history of the city of the doges. It was built in 1441. German princes occupied it at first. Then it passed into the possession of the Duke of Mantua, who purchased it for 50,000 ducats of gold. It was the scene of great social events under the Archduke Charles Ferdinand of Austria and his wife, Anne de' Medici, in 1652, and through them the palace has come into the possession of the present owners through marriage. It was here that Richard Wagner died in 1883. The desk at which he wrote "Tristan und Isolde" is carefully preserved. Some years ago a plaque was affixed to the palace showing its connection with the great composer.—London Globe.

Shearing Sheep in Syria.

The manner of shearing sheep in Syria and all Asiatic Turkey does not differ materially from the ancient methods of the people as applied to practically every other vocation. While the sheep industry is one of the oldest in the country, having existed for centuries in the same pastures where the ancestors of the present herders also tended flocks, there does not appear to have been any improvement in the manner of shearing or breeding the sheep. Shearing is still accomplished in the crudest way, the workers always leaving a considerable amount of wool on the animal, while the fleece removed is cut most unevenly. The shearers frequently cut great holes in the skins of the sheep, which by the use of modern shearing machines could easily be avoided.

Writer's Cramp.

Those who have to do a great deal of writing are liable to get an attack of writer's cramp. The first indication of writer's cramp is a feeling of tiredness in the hand and arm. The words are formed very slowly, and suddenly the pen will fly upward or outward. This is due to a sudden spasm of the muscles affected. Anybody who is attacked with writer's cramp should give writing up for a time, since paralysis of the muscles may follow. He should treat the limb with an electrical battery and generally lie up and keep quiet.—Pearson's Weekly.

Curious English Well.

In the grounds of Livesey Hall, near Blackburn, there is a spring called "Mother Livesey's well." The curious thing about this well is that the water only flows during nine months of the year and is quite dry during the other three months—June, July and August—however wet the weather may be. The water always commences to flow on the same date each year and never freezes even during the hardest frost.—Leeds (England) News.

His Preference.

"It is a positive delight to meet a man you feel you can trust," remarked the individual with the high forehead.

"Oh, I don't know. I prefer a man who pays cash," replied the man who kept the grocery store.

Cause For Worry.

"You must take exercise," said the physician, "and by all means worry less. Play golf."

"Doctor," replied the patient, "you mean well, but a man who plays my kind of golf game can't help worrying."—Washington Star.
