A "Green Eyed Monster" in Crinoline.

For some time past, old mother Gossip has had it that the fair consort of one of our prominent burgers has entertained a suspicion that she had taken for better or for worse, instigated by illicit promptings, and not having the fear of "curtain lectures" and divorce suits before his eyes, had act, at all times and under all circumstances, in word, act and deed, demeaned himself as becometh one sustaining the high and holy marital relation. On the evening of the—last, a crisis was reached; and, if Madam Gossip may be credited, under circumstances singularly aggravated. On the evening aforesaid, the fair consort aforesaid had, at the suggestion, entreaty or importunity of her lord aforesaid, soon to be followed by him, gone to a neighbor's hard by to whitewash an hour and to exchange congratulations over the bright and cheering future of the Church, when licentiousness and all ungodliness should only be remembered as things of the past. Not being "followed" as promptly as might be, the old-time lurking suspicion was awakened into visions of the "green eyed monster" which bordered on the reality, when our heroine promptly beat her steps homeward, arriving as she averts just in time to behold the form about the premises of one whom she concluded true delicacy should, in the absence of criminal intent, have restrained at such a time from being "thar".

The scene that followed beggars description. The chase which ensued was interesting, ludicrous, agonising. Fences and other obstructions to the flight of the one and pursuit of the other, were scaled with an agility that would put the master gymnast to the blush. A down the street and around they were witnessed positively annihilating space—neither gaining on the other the while, their crinoline seemingly content to view the tragedy from a respectful distance in the rear.

We are told by one who witnessed the race at a point near its conclusion, that had their limbs been lubricated with a compound of net's foot and cocoa-nut oil, tempered with Nitro-glycerine, our subjects could not have baffled space more completely.

We have concluded to entitle the above "The North American Tragedy," and to give it a place at the head of our "Chronology of startling events" for 1867.

Since the above was in type, it has been knowingly hinted on the streets that the party playing the role in the above drama of the chased (not chaste) was stumpy a masculine depreddator upon the poultry yard dressed in female women's clothes.

AMITY LODGE, I. O. G. T.—This Lodge was organized some three weeks since by T. B. Handley, Esq., W. D. D. M., who furnish'd us a report of the officers elected and installed for the same, which was accidentally mislaid. This accounts for its nonappearance in our columns.

STILL TO BE ISSUED.—The Democratic Review at Salem has resumed publication under auspices which we hope will insure its permanent success for all future time. The proprietors say they have secured the services of an able democrat in the editorial department.

Capt. John Apperson, formerly of the Active, now has charge of the Union, which boat does the principal business of the Yamhill river. The Capt. we know to have been a favorite with the shippers and others on the upper Willamette.

NEW GOODS.—Mr. J. T. Hembree has lately added to his stock quite an extensive invoice of new goods. The young ladies will do well to call at the store as "Newt." generally attends to "sich" customers, who have only to "pay their money and take their choice" at their own figures. Newt has a for young feminines.

McMINNVILLE MAILS.—The enterprising citizens of the flourishing town of McMinnville have taken it into their heads to have a semi-weekly mail. They have accordingly received permission from the Postal Agent to supply themselves under the regulations by paying the extra expenses incurred in transmitting the mails between Lafayette and that point, on Fridays, the contractor's schedule days being every Tuesday, only.

HEAVY BONDS.—Mr. Chris. Taylor, the gentleman appointed by the Honorable County Court of Yamhill county Administrator of the estate of Jackson Lippincott, late deceased, was required to give bonds in the sum of $10,000. Judge Page, A. G. Bradford and others of Portland became his surties. The estate will immediately be settled in Probate in this county. Judge Steward is the Attorney for the estate.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—During the 12 months ending on July 1st, 1866, 47 marriage licenses were issued by the County Clerk of Yamhill county, and from that time to January 1st, 1867, six months; 36 were issued; showing an approximate increase in business matrimonial in our county for 1867 over that of the preceding year, of 53 per cent.

SIDE WALKS.—We some time since put in circulation a petition for subscriptions to a fund to be devoted to building and repairing side walks in our burg, and succeeded tolerably well, but will need more funds to complete the work we have projected. We have had bridged a few of the most intolerable places, and as soon as the timbers can be procured, will have put down divers and sundry street crossings.
