BIG MEDICINE had an appointment at Wheatland, but went after the Devil and failed to connect. Ben Haydon and C. G. Carl, were present, and had aousing time.

Our Devil Rules.

1. Enter softly.
2. Sit down quietly.
3. Subscribe or pay for the paper, as the case may be. (Such callers are always welcome). If you pay up an old bill, and in advance for the next year, you may chat a brief moment with the editor.

4. Keep six feet from the table.

5. Never look at manuscript that may be lying around loose, nor read the proof sheets.

6. Don't talk to the Compositors, and keep your hands off the type.

7. Never stop your paper. It is a sure sign of a terribly depraved mind.

8. Don't offer and original poetry or moral essays.

9. Clear out as soon as you have transacted your business.

MAGIC WASHING POWDERS. We last week promised to notice this washing material upon trial. The Madam has submitted it to a severe test, and we believe it to be the best washing material ever discovered.

CAUGHT NAPPING. On Friday the 24th inst. U. S. Marshall Al. Zeber and Asst. Assessor, R. M. Porter, made a raid upon an illicit still in Chehalie valley in this county, the property of Joseph Hess; capturing the same together with several barrels and casks. Mash was on hand ready for running.

Messrs. Porter, and Zeber are efficient officers and deserve much credit for the prompt and impartial manner in which they discharge the duties of their respective offices.

The Hon. C. G. Carl, Democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney, will address the Democratic club next Saturday. Let everybody turn out with their wives and children.

The New York Dramatic troupe gave one of their inimitable performances in this place on Friday. Their delineation of character was fully equal in brilliancy and eloquence to the most powerful efforts of Dr. Timothy.

How Poor Men Pay Taxes.

Sometimes we hear men say: "Well, if taxes are high they can't tax me much; I haven't any property." Can't they tax you much? Well, let us see. But, in the first place, you have property. You are owner of a poor body, which you are striving to feed and warm and keep a soul in; Perhaps you have a wife, and more than likely a family of children. They all have to be fed and clothed and warmed.

You may not own houses or stocks, or bonds, but you have property; nevertheless, less, and of a kind which is taxed ten times over than any other description. The tax may not be a direct one, but it is a heavy one, and one which you find it hard to bear. You may be paying it, even without knowing that you pay a tax attributing it all the while to something else; but that doesn't change anything. It is a tax, the same and you are obliged to pay it. If you ask, then, how you are taxed, we answer, on everything you eat and drink and wear. Almost on every breath you draw! You are taxed so many ways that we cannot enumerate them.

Peoria (Ill.) Democrat.

Prenticeans.

'Tis a pity, for those Southern Conventions that can't get anything to eat that it isn't summer. Then the members could open their mouths like alligators and catch flick. The holes in their faces serve no such useful purpose now.

The New York Tribune, looking to the condition of things in the South, exclaims "Root, hog, or die!" But there are no hogs there to root. The niggers have stolen them all—every squealer and grunter.

The President is what the people will never grant Grant. Isn't that grand?

Congress swears that it will maintain its dignity. Its dignity isn't worth the cost and trouble of maintenance.

Rather than threaten the South with gunpowder, Gen Grant had better "put it in his pipes and smoke it."

Which the new reconstruction bill is passed, it should be presented to the South, pinned upon a bayonet.

Congress says in deeds what Fernando Wood said in words—that it is an infallible Congress.

We don't suppose that a man can be made drunk by mead but Meade has been made drunk by power.

Furney says that the Radicals of Congress on Friday last "were uplifted," we are glad to hear it. We hope that every rope stood the strain.

The Chicago Tribune says that there is much which Congress ought to do. Congress won't do it, but Congress will do much that it oughtn't to.

If two departments of the Government are destroyed by one, that one, may discover that there is a fourth—the people.

When General Grant is asked whether he will tell what he intends to do, he answers in horse talk—neigh.

Gen Grant doesn't talk, and it seems impossible to get a distinct view of him. He is enveloped in smoke.

General Meade has succeeded in Georgia in driving open with bayonets the doors of an empty treasury. The work was done with great expertness. It may well be the envy of all safe breakers.

The Portland (Oregon) Gazette says that "Gen. Grant, though quiet, has enough fire in him when aroused." No doubt where there is so much smoke there must be some fire.

The despatches indicate that many leading Democratic papers, East and West, are favoring Chief Justice Chase for President.

One thousand Chinamen arrived in Portland, by the last steamer.

Five of the Judges of the U. S. Supreme Court were appointed by Abraham Lincoln and yet his friends will not trust them. This is paying but little respect to the late head of the Radical party.

There is a curious rumor in Washington that Mrs Senator Sprague, who is quite a politician, sympathizes strongly with the President, represents to her husband and her father, Chief Justice Chase, that it is an act of tyranny, and that John Son has only stood up for his rights—R. C. C.

The democratic majority in New Jersey is about 14,000—that party carrying all the counties but four. The state senate will consist of eleven Democrats and ten republicans. Last year the republicans had a majority of five. The assembly consists of forty-six Democrats and fourteen republicans, a democratic majority of thirty-two. Last year the republicans had six majority. In the session the democratic majority on joint ballot is forty-three; last year the republican majority was sixteen.
