LOCAL AND DOMESTIC.

We know a County Judge, who, though vigorous and altogether gainly in appearance and general makeup, is yet knock-kneed, sway-backed, and is "dished" between the eyes, while by a harmonious process of accommodation, the calves of his legs have, in their own good time, settled down to perform the office of rests for the arches of his feet, which, owing to their great length of "span," could not "carry up" without supports. These phenomena illustrate in a remarkable degree the general proposition of scientists that Nature, as one harmonious whole, may be relied upon for the adjustment of all material things. This Judge don't live about here; he is "eest of the mountains" in the same town with he of the big boots.
