THE LAFAYETTE COLRIER.

VOL. 8.
LAFAYETYE, OREGON, MAY 2, 1873.
NO. 10.

Lafayette Courier.

Attorney at Law

Attorney at Law Omes in the Coart House.

Attorney at Law Once in the Court House.

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Attornevs at Law porthasd, oreaos.

WATCHES,

City

A. G. PHILIPS, D,D.S. $\Rightarrow$ वसा

EAGLE HOTEL J. H. OLDS; Proprietor.

Ansion
MOMINNVILLE HOTEL
E. CALDER. Proprietor.

LAFAYETTE ACADEMY.
TL

The last month has been on great activity with the adro cates of woman suffrage with litle apparent gain to their cause In the Massachusetts House , Representatives a Representatives a resolution to provide an amendment to the State Constitution to the effec that woman may vote and hold office the same as men, was refused office the same as men, was refused a third reading by a vote o 83 to 142 . The subject was de bated every day for a week, the hall crodwed with women, an exery opportunity given its advo cates to urge the claims of woman cates to The resolution requires sufrage. Thirds vote in its favor, both a two thirds vote in its favor, both in the present House of Repre sentatives, and that of next year and an affirmative vote of the peoand an affirmative vote of the peo ple before the change in the Con stitution can be made stitution can be made. In New York, Ohio, Indiana, and other States preparations have, been made for an active canvass with made for an active canvass with a view to mould public sentiment in faror of woman suffrage. A friend writing from Portland Maine, says: "The Woman Suffrage interest in this community makes slow progress." From an editorial article in the Portland Advertiser we quote the following: Advertiser we quote the following:
The dissensions among the leading advocates of this measure during the last year have in most parts of the country destroyed general interest in the matter, but in this state there have been strong efforts made to force it upon public attention. Last winter the question of allowing women to vote for presidential electors pressed upon the Legislature.
The bill passed the Senate by a inte of 15 to 8 , but was defeated in the House, the vote seading in the House, the vote standing 53 to 41 . There was but little 53 to 41 . There was but little intercst manifested in the measure, and it was generally at the time that the bill would hare been voted down in the Sen ate if there had been any probability of a majority in its favor in the lower branch, and that the vote was simply a tarce. During then the summer a lecturer was em, ployed to visit the larger places in the state to create a sentiment in its favor. $* * * * *$ Its advocates to be sure have a right to hold meetings promotion of a public sentiment in its behalf among the sex directly concerned, but until they are able to represent at least a respectable minority of the women of Maine, there is no excuse for action on there is no excuse for action on women of the state do not, a class, ask for the ballot, and exceptional cases are few and far between. It is not a matter of indifference with them, as has bee claimed by advocates of the so-called reform, bat they are decid-

 - Arms for the Frondier.

 Goverior Grover dispatcted the tollowing telegram to Washington, which was folitiwed by the pended telegrams and oriers:

 reneral Indian war. Oty tain der from War
 hrom Vatecurer Arseal. Two gootas, These are wantod to The followiver or of of $\mathrm{O}_{\text {regon }}$ Hy on focowing telegrast in in the wires, were received at Salem four days after they were sent

| will |
| :---: |
| der |
| and |
| and |

nd ammunition for accoutrement James K. Keliy,
J. H. Mitcher
Wasaington, Apr. 14, 1873.
To Gov. L. F. Grover! Co manding office, Fancouver A senal, ordered to issue to you four hundred and fifty (450) breech your quota.

A. P. DYER, Chief of Ordinance. Fifty-seven rifles having been received on requisition before. The following was received and Swered at Portland on the 18 th Portland, Apr. 18 th, 1873 . To Senators Jar.es K. Kelly and H. Mitchell, Washington, D. C.: Y Yes, cer order.

L. F. Grover.

Washingeon, Apr. 21, 1873.

To Gov. L. F. Grover: issued on tele ammunition w issued on telegraphic order.
JAMEs $K$
Whereupon the following erfor the issuance of arms, ## coutre

State of Oregon,

Executive Office Salem, April 21, 1873.
Col. A. P. Dennison, Adjut General, Portland: SIR: You and fifty breech-loadiug muske rifles now at Varcouver Arsen ready for delivery upon the requisition of the Governor of Oreae to the County Judge of $\begin{aligned} & \text { bondholders, with headquarters at } \\ & \text { Frankfort on the Main, consisting }\end{aligned}$ ned county, at La Grande, on Frankiort on the Main, consisting of six members, the. Chairman boing Heinrich Hobenemser, Director of the German Union Bank, rector of the German Union Bank, which committee is authorized to take all legal measures for the enforcement of the claims fof the condholders, negotiate with the company, and eren proceed wit interest was provided in goo time, and paid promptly; the fears of the bondholders are that the property will not earu its in erests hereafter A Thought.- When the day lawns and we arise to find the ky clear and the bpight hours all eky clear and the bpight hours all down upon our pillow again There are so many things to dosuch pleasant things some of them our friends are coming, or we are ging to visit them ; there is a valk or a drive, or a little feast in walk or a drive, or a little feast in prospect-it seems so pleasant to prospect-it seems so pleasant to be awake!
But when the day has gone, and night has come again, we are at best, tired with our frolic or our pleasure. Ten to one we are disappointed in something. Some little unpleasant incident has marred the brightest hour. Some narred the brightest hour. Some keleton has taken its seat at the feast, or pceped ont of a secret closet. It off the finery it rejoiced us to put on ; to pit out the light and lie on ; to pitt out the light and lie own, courting slumber. So though, in the heyday of life, we dread that last long, quiet sleep, no doubt those who live to be old hail it as their best friend The loves and hopes of early life aye ended in disappointment.
Their dear ones have left thetif heir dear ones have left them lone. The liee that seemed so aloue. The liie that seemed so sweet has changed to bitterness, and all the sweetness is with death. Just as we wearily climb the , bed.room stairs with our tired feet, so we will climb life's las feet, so we will climb life's las steps. We have danced and toiled Iternately; we are as tired o ur joys as of our sorrows our joys as of our sorrows, and we will hail repose eternal; as we ailed the repose of the then life was all before us.

Nothing is more common than Nothing is more common, that alent, and yet nothing is more alent, and yet nothing is more absurd. That talent is of a much higher order of power than riches, might be proved in various ways; being so much more indeprivable and indestructible, so much more and indestructible, so much are all confusion of chance. But the peculiar superiority of talent over iches, may be best discovered rom hence ; that the influence o talent will always be the greatest in that government which is est in that government which the influence of rich pure; whil es will always be the greatest in es will always be the greatest in that government which is most orrupt. So that from the pre penderance of talent, we may alpayderance of talent, we may a wayer the soundness and igor of the cominonwealth; bu rom the preponderance of riches, its dotage and degeneration. That talent confers an inequality of a higher order than rank, of a higher order than rank, would appear from various views would appear from various views of the subject, and most particrlarly from this: many a man may justly thank his talent for his rank, but no man has ever yet been able to return the compliment, by thanking his rank for his talent. When Leonardo de Vinci died, his sovereign exclaimed: "I can make a thousand lords, but not $\qquad$

$\qquad$ $\qquad$ ime, those who value themselves been compared to potatoes-all tbat is good of them is under the ground; perhaps it is but fair that nobility should ed to them, since they never

A young man of eighteen or wenty, a student in a university ook a walk one day with a pro fessor, who was commonly called ine students' friend, such was his indness to the young men whom it was his office to instruct. While hey were walking together and the professor was seeking to lead the onversation to grave subjects, they saw a pair of old shoes lying in their path, which they supposed belonged to a poor man who was work close by, and who had The foung studs day's work. professor, saying, "Let us play the nan a trick; we will hide his shoes and conceal ourselves behind those "My when he cannot find rofessor, "we must never amuse urselves at the expense of the poor. But you are rich, and you nay give yourself a much greater easure. Put a dollar into each clves. The student did so, and then paced himself with the pro-essor behind the bushes close by, hrough which they could easily atch the laborer, and see what press.
The poor man soon finished his ork, and came across the field to he path, where he had left his coat and shoes. While he put on the coat he slipped one foot into one his shoes; but feeling something ard, stooped down and found the dollar. Astonishment and onder were seen upon his counteance; he gazed upon the dollar, arned around, and looked again nd again; then he looked around one Now he put the money in is pocket and proceeded to put on the other shoe, but how reat was his astoniament when creat was his astonisment when he found the other dollar! His feelings overcame him; he fell upon his knees, looked fup to thanksgiving, in which he spoke of his wife, sick and helpless, and his children without bread, whom this timely bounty, from some unknown hand, would save from per-- ishing. The young man stood there deeply filled his eyes.
Now," said the professor, "are you had played our intended " 0 , dea uth, "yon save," answered the on now that I will never forget. feel now the truth of the words It is better to give than to $r$ : re."

> A Gentleman was endeavoring enjoy an evening in the comhe called, but found a serious obstacle in the person of her stern father, who at length ventured to very plainly intimate that the "I think you are correct, my dear sir," returned the unbashed young have you go to bed for over an The Dalles Mountain winversation with Capt. John Sith, Indian Agent at Warm prings, learns that over 2,000 Indians are collected at Priest's Rapids, under an old dreame-, telling them that their forefather's spirits will ere long rise from their graves and help them exterminate the whites from this country. A loafer came into the 7 Times office the other day and comoffice the other day and commenced reading some copy that not yet been put in type. His funeral will take place some time next week. His sad fa should be a warning to

