THE COUNTY JAIL.

For some time the people of this county have been agitating the question as to the propriety erecting a suitable jail for the county. The population of this ounty is about six thousand people and the property of the county time has been the unrelenting foe if assessed at its full value, would not fall below five millions of dollars in value. The county is well bridged and the authorities will not have to expend much money on the roads. The expenses of the courts so far this year haven't been heavy. Hence this is a very favorable time to erect a county jail. a oft is generally conceded through out the county that the jail should who was the chief advocate of the be built next spring. There is no opposition to the measure except will effectuall, kill the inflation elthat that comes from Messrs. Graves and Scroggins, the Commissioners. Every grand jury for the last four years has condemned tionists. If the Democracy had the present jail and recommended swept Ohio by a large majority the building of a good prison, suit there might have been great diffi able to the demands of the county culty in the next National Conand the people have supposed that vention on the currency question. the county court would ere long But now we regard the matter as take favorable action on the rec- virtually settled. This added to the amount on hand July 1st, 1875 and the amount of taxes then delinquent, will make about twenty thousand dollars for county purposes. The is at least five thousand dollars more than will be needed to defray the ordinary expenses of the county, unless we have more criminal buiness than we usually do. This mount will be sufficient with which to erect a suitable county jail. Now, we are at a loss to know what the county intends do with this money. The county was out of debt when they made the tax levy and they expressly refused to have anything to do with erecting a jail and yet placed the levy at eighteen mills- about four mills higher than was necessary Now, we call on them to "arise and explain" to the people the necessity for such a levy. We do not advocate the building of a jail for the reason that would have a tendency to anchor the county seat here, but because it is needed and the county is able to build it.

Henry Warren doubtless does not expect to be elected. He wants to carry this county so that he can popular man in this county. If he can do this he may succeed in getting the nomination for State senater or Sheriff next spring. If he can become a member of the next Legislature he may, like T. R. Harrison, secure himself a fat ap-

THE OHIO ELECTION.

On Tuesday last a general State election was held in Ohio and the telegrams published in yesterday's election of Hays, Republican, as had a plurality of 817 votes over trict to raice money with which to the county in which Litigant Noyes, Republican, and Stewart, purchase seats for the college.

Pro received over 10,000 votes. About $400 was raised by a tax majority, and this result is bro.t about by betrayal of principles on the part of the Democrats in that State and the ultimate effect of Allen's defeat will be beneficial to of the Democratic cause.

The Democratic party from foundation in the days of Jefferson down to the present of paper money as a legal tender. But unwise counsel prevailed in Ohio and the State Convention adopted a platform in favor of a further issue of greenbacks and opposed to the resumption of specie payments. This platform was distasteful to the Democracy thro' out the country and the result is the probable defeat of Gov. Allen. rag-money platform. The elecement in the Democratic party and henceforth the counsels of that par ty will not be disturbed by inflalay. THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

The Republicans have declared or inflation or are now committed in five states and for hard money in eight states. The Democracy have declared for inflation or are now committed in four states and for hard money in nine states. Hence both parties are somewhat mixed on this question. But the Republicars have made a record in congress in favor of inflation, and hence are properly regarded as the rag-money party: If there had been no Republican party there would have been no greenbacks. Hence the attempt of the Republicons to throw the odium of the greenbacks infamy on the Democracy is about the cheekiest dodge on record.

Again another grand jury have reported on the condition of the county jail (?) of this county, and again is the den condemned. This time the language is sufficiently strong and comprehensive for all to understand and especially some of the officials. To be candid, some of the officials are candidates for re-election -- probably want a little higher position than they now occupy--and are afraid the movement would not be popular. In make the Radicals think he is a other words, they have not a sufficiency of back bone.

John A. Taylor got the contract to build a bridge across some little creek near Sheridan. The Commissioners seem willing to improve their own locality. If the "Bloody Chasm" was near Sheripointment. A word and and dan, they would bridge it.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

The Republican papers are at tempting to deny that Henry Warren had anything to do with diverting the public school funds of McMinnville district to the benefit of the Baptist Church, and say that he has not resided there for ten years. At the same time he Oregonian leave the result in doubt has had an interest in the college with probabilities in favor of the and been one of the directors. A correspondent of the Portland Evening Journal, writing from Albany under date of October 7th, gives The review of the able speech of Governor Grover, delivered at that place on Wednesday evening of last week. or has more power than twenty or lowing described real estate, to-wit: Be-

Agreeably to promise of yesterday I will now give you a synopsis of the able speech which Governor Grover delivered at the Court House here fair and equal proportion of its benedensed review of the history of parties and politics in the United States, tending to demonstrate the fidelity to principle and to the maintenance of the Constitution according to the Jeffersonian interpretation which has always distinguished the Democracy From this he passed to a view of the present attitude of the parties, and contrasted the Repulican with the Democratic party, in respect to the position of each on the prominent issues of the day, to wit : the currency question and the tariff. He was heartily applauded in declaring the Democracy opposed to inflation and It is the duty of every Democrat as in favor of hard money-gold and silver, the constitutional money for the of the land His free trade sentiments also received applause. And beyond the shadow of a doubt, the from these expressions of belief on of money for sectarian purposes in Yamhill the National topics, he proceeded to didates in the present canvass for Representative in Congress. He said the opposition proclaim and object Warren to believe in the Baptist religion, Mr. Whitney in the Campbellite or Christian denomination, or

Mr. Dimmick in the Methodist Church? All are guaranteed perfect tion, whether Protestant, Catholic, Jew, or no church at all. Nothing said of the religious belief of the three other candidates, although two of them are preachers; but because Mr. Lane is a Catholic, he must, foraccount. He (the speaker) was not gations of the Constitution to proscribe or object to no man on account of his belief in religious matters, and Massachusetts drove away Roger Williams because he was a Baptist, and imprisoned, and whipped, and of toleration in religious belief in his Maryland colony, and there alone as well as Protestants fought the good fight which secured American independence; nor that the pure patriot, Charles Carrol, of Carrolton, was a Roman Catholic. Also, in the war, with Protestants to maintain the dignity and to add to the glory of the Union. And in the late civil war likewise did citizens of the faith lantly battle and sacrafice their lives sion was, after a long struggle ernment. He had never be even though he happened to be among the bitterest against the Catholic Church. All over the land, at every election, thousands of Catholics voted for candidates who are Protestants without calling in question their religion, and sometimes made that unless Archbishop they vote for Protestant candidates on the ticket of their own party in preference to Catholics who are candidates on the opposing ticket. He had never heard of a Catholic priest engaging actively in politics; but he could point to many instances in which Protestant clergymen had very prominently acted in polities and sought and held office. The Republicans of Oregon had already sent one preacher to Congress, and had elected other preachers to State and ligious fervor with very little local offices. He had never heard of charity, no matter what the name the Catholics in any part of the Union trying to subvert the laws or to undermine the Constitution. could hardly say as much for some who would now proscribe them. But how absurd it is to cry out that the election of one or two, or twenty Catholics to Congress, can endanger the Government! It is equivalent thirty Protestants have. Catholics pay taxes equally with Protestants and others, and proportionately bear all the burdens imposed by the Government, and they are entitled to a > fits and blessings. The Governor concluded with reference to the school question. He said it was not at all relevant to the campaign-that Congress had nothing to do with the subject. And, so far as Oregon was concerned, the question of appropriation of money from the school fund for sectarian purposes was not involved. State Constitution was explicitly against any such appropriation, and it would have to be altered before any appropriation of the sort could be made a contingincy he thought not at all probable or possible. But he said, he could not repress the mention of the very significant fact that the particular provisions of the Bill of Rights in our State Constitution, which forbid the appropriation any form, to any church, or sect, or theological institution; were drafted by a member of the State Constitutional Convention, who was himself a Catholic, and that member was S. J McCormick, of Portland, now the editor of the Catholic Sentinel. After having thus shown that there was neither cause for ner sense in "School Question" bubble of the day, in this State at least, the Governor closed his speech and the meeting dispersed. Brase Band furnished the music which greeted the crowd at the entrance just before the meeting, and it can be said to their praise that hey are well worth listening to.
