THE EXHIBITION.—Last Friday evening the school house at this place was filled to overflowing on the occasion of the exhibition given by the Lafayette school. The doors were thrown open at about half past four o'clock and it was not long until the house was crammed full, even standing room being at a premium. There were about 35 pieces on the programme, some of which were quite lengthy, especially the dramas. Some of the pieces were very well rendered and brought down the house in repeated encheres. D. J. Olds, as Toodles, and Ed Griffin, in all his characters, did well and received the merited applause of the audience. Miss Della Olds also did remarkably well. The programme is too long to be reviewed, and we have to omit mention of several of the characters who deserve especial praise. Suffice it to say that the performance passed off quite pleasantly and was enjoyed, especially by those who were lucky enough to obtain comfortable seats.

THE END.—A young lady bet a young man a kiss that Tilden would be elected—he to pay if Tilden won, she to pay if Hayes was elected. On the morning of the 8th of November he called and paid the bet; on the 9th of November he called and took it back. That evening she paid the bet. Next morning she took it back, and he paid; then she paid and he paid, and so they have been kept busy by the contradictory dispatches ever since, both declaring their willingness and ability to hold out until Congress decided the question. Last Monday night she made the last payment, but hoped the matter would be thrown into court.

ALMOST A FIRE.—Last Wednesday evening the bartender at the Mount Diablo saloon, for a joke, took the pipe of a gentleman present and filled it with sawdust, covering the top over with tobacco. When the gentleman got ready to smoke he picked up his pipe and lit it and, after smoking awhile, noticed something wrong so he knocked the fire out upon the floor, which was covered with sawdust. Next morning when the bartender awoke he found the house full of smoke, and upon examination discovered the floor on fire and just commencing to blaze where the the pipe had been emptied the night before.

LARCENY.—A man by the name of Ringold entered the house of Mr. Cooper, living near Wheatland, last week and took a coat and hat, leaving his own in their place. He was captured near Wheatland, about four miles from the railroad. He had a hearing before a Justice of the Peace and was bound over to appear before the grand jury. Being unable to furnish bonds he was brought to this place last Friday night and now languishes in jail.

DIED.—On last Saturday night Miss Ella Mann of Dayton departed this life. She was a young lady well liked by every one and leaves a large circle of friends who mourn her loss. Mr. Mann has the sympathy of the community in this hour of darkness. His wife died only three weeks ago, and now we chronicle the death of his daughter.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—There will be a protracted meeting at the Church in this place, commencing to-morrow (Saturday, March 10th) at 11 o'clock. There will also be church Saturday eve, and Sunday morning and evening. The Presiding Elder is expected to be in attendance.

BORN.—To the wife of N. H. Olds, March 2d, 1877, a daughter.

HERE AND THERE.

How it rains.

Bad weather.

Eggs 20 cents per dozen.

Butter 37½ cents per pound.

The river is way up and still rising.

Slight snow strom last Friday night.

G. W. Snyder gave us a call last Monday.

County Court has been in session this week.

Several strangers in town during the week.

Singing school met three nights this week.

Half-dollars are pitched now instead of quoits.

Uncle Ed Hadaway keeps us supplied with apples.

Stilts worry some of the older heads as well as the boys.

Heavy Eastern mail Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Prospects for a new jail are very favorable at present.

The singing school was half out last Wednesday night.

The last few days have put a damper on spring effusions.

Now we can boast of some of the nicest roads in the county.

Archery is the mania among Hoods. Lookout for windows.

After one week vacation school commences next Monday.

A nail or brad, shaw no, but he gets away with all the girls.

Allen Baker is again able to be out after a severe spell of sickness.

March comes in like a lion, but will probably go out like a sheep.

Mr. P. P. Gates, of St. Joe, who has been very sick is improving at present.

The mountains and foot-hills in sight were covered with snow last Saturday morning.

Checkers are all the go at present. 37 players in town and all claim to be the champion.

Four or five couples went out walking last Sunday afternoon and got caught in a rain storm.

The Fannie Patton burned one of her pipes last Saturday and was unable to reach this place.

It is just 713 miles from Kelty's store to San Francisco. Yet he imports the best cigars in town.

The mail sack having become misplaced we had to do without the Portland mail last Wednesday night.

Miss Bell Belcher came up from Portland last Friday on a visit to her parents. She returned last Tuesday.

Mr Frank Todhunter started for Albany yesterday morning where he intends remaining for the present.

We noticed one young lady at the exhibition who stood up longer than anybody else, and never made a murmur.

"Querist" you took eggsactly the right course to consign your item to the waste basket. Sign your name next time.

Mr. Standley, editor of the Christian Messenger, gave us a call last Tuesday. He is traveling in the interest of the paper.

Perched on a little hill beside the babbling brook, she watched the moments pass with bright anticipations of an easy future.

The initials of Hayes name will, during his life, be converted into Returning Board; which will explain how he was made President.

At the exhibition there was many a scene acted that was not on the programme, especially in the northwest corner of the building.

He says they lilac thunder when they say he missed his dinner and waited 4½ hours behind the wood pile, for a missive from his truant love.

Williamson Baker, the man who stabbed McKinney at McMinnville, and has been lying in jail for the past week, was bailed out last Saturday on $500 bonds

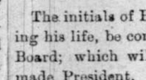
Mr Rual Olds who has been stopping in town during the winter for the purpose of sending his children to school, moved out on to his farm last Monday.

The English self-cocking pistol, carrying the 44 ball, centre fire, nickle-plated. The most powerful man-destroyer in existence; cost $35; to be sold for $18, at Uncle Harris, 702 Kearny Street San Francisco. I will send it to you by express.

Cabinet Nominations.

Hayes has sent the following cabinet nominations to the Senate; Wm. M. Evarts, of New York, Secretary of State; John Sherman, of Ohio, Secretary of Treasury; Geo. W. McCrary, of Iowa, Secretary of War; Richard M Thompson, of Indiana, Secretary of Navy; Chas. Devins, of Mass., Attorney-General; David M. Key, of Tennessee, Postmaster-General; Carl Schurz, of Missouri, Secretary of Interior.

DIED.—Another child of Mr. Al Hussey, of St. Joe, died last Friday night. This makes two children he has lost, they died just one week apart.



Mr. S. Strong, a practical watch-maker, is for the present located at the Essex Hotel, Lafayette, where he would be pleased to see all those who have anything they desire done in his line, such as cleaning or repairing watches, clocks, jewelry and also sewing machines; etc. Mr. Strong has had an extensive practice in this line. Charges reasonable and work warranted. Give him a call. Don't carry a dum watch any longer.

A Chapter of Chronicles.

And in these days of contention and tribulation, there dwelt in the chief city of the land of Yamhill, three score and ten or thereabouts, a certain sect or tribe called hoods, of various ages and conditions.

And lo, these hoods did greatly vex and make wroth the chief priests and rulers of the synagogue.

Whereupon the chief priests and rulers of the synagogue did take unto themselves two other wise men of the city, who also protested against such tribulations.

And then it came to pass that these wise men of the West did congregate themselves together and hold council whereby they might bring these hoods before the chief tribunal of the land.

They said among themselves that the hoodlum element of this city were becoming exceeding unruly and brazen-faced.

And likewise they didn't care a d—n, neither did they take heed of the goodly advice given by the sages who sought to make peace and good will prevail among the dwellers of the city.

It was noised abroad that this tribe, called hoods, did take great delight unto themselves in writing sweet epistles to the fair maidens during the hours set apart for divine worship.

Yea, even when the righteous were worshiping their God, and trying to persuade their brethren to do likewise.

And that this perverse and wicked generation of hoods did tarry in the market places and assemble upon the corners and make merry, even until after the twelfth hour of the night.

And that they did carry about their raiment edged tools, called knives, wherein were concealed visions or pictures, pleasant for the eye to behold.

That these knives were given unto the neighbors, even the fair daughters, that they might likewise behold.

This tribe also were want to assemble at the temple called Mount Diablo.

Where they took great delight in a certain game called pidgeon-hole.

And the way they did prod the ivory with long fishing rods was beautiful and amazing.

They were exceeding joyful when the red slid into the 25-hole.

But the air is made blue with blasphemy when the balls come in contact with the numerous posts in the one end and fail to score.

And it came to pass that when the hoods did "smell a mouse" of the doings of these wise men, they took heed of the parable which reads thusly: "when a gale is approaching take in sail."

And likewise they took a reef in the mainsail; steered on another tack; and are now sailing under light canvas until the storm doth blow over.

They now meet in their high old rookery and laugh in their sleeves.

While they feast on the fat of the land they say among themselves we must be content, and not make wroth these wise men.

For it is better in the sight of the people to go slow and learn how to pedale.

And (when we are watched) we will pull down our chins, yea, until our faces are as long as a churn-dasher.

And by seemly good behavior try and regain the good opinion which we have lost.

We will also take heed of the timely warning which comes from the town of Amity, and not—be caught napping. Yea, verily! you bet.

Since this tribe of hoods have heeded the good advice they have improved wonderfully.

ONE-EYE JOHN.

Comments of the English Press.

The Times praises the Democratic leaders for their moderation, and thinks their conduct will secure the entire sympathy of the law-abiding American people, who are well able to appreciate moderation and respect for the constitution. Among public men Hayes' election cannot excite genuine enthusiasm, except in those who regard politics as a gambling, tricky game. It may be viewed with moderate satisfaction as an escape from the worse evils of the prolongation of the excitement or conflict of titles; but Hayes has not, unfortunately, the moral weight necessary to ballast a Republican administration situated as this must be. With the best intentions, he will probably be unable to carry into effect many pledges made in his letter to the Cincinnati convention. We trust our anticipations are wrong, and that Hayes may show unexpected force of character and conquer the sympathies of the nation.

The Daily News considers the success of the filibustering section of Democrats would have caused a Republican reaction ruinous to the future prospects of the Democrats. It thinks the South will be better off in some respects than it would have been under Tilden, as Southerners will now equally control their own local affairs without having the same temptation to abuse power as they would have had in the case of a complete Democratic success. State governments representing the white population, while they are at the same time bound to keep peace with the blacks by the existence of a Republican Federal Executive, may turn out to offer a better escape from the difficulties of the situation than would the election of a President with a less disputed title. Friends of America, and the reasonable temperate portion of the American public, may thus congratulate Hayes on his election.

The Pall Mall Gazette says President Hayes must rely for vindication of his political character, not on the blunders of his enemies, but on his own acts. We see little reason for believing he will shake off the authority of the Republican majority in the Senate, which is able to coerce him somewhat by vetoing his appointments, or that his administration will differ in any material points from that of Gen. Grant.

The Economist thinks the proceedings of the electoral tribunal and the way in which its decisions have been sustained by American public opinion, looked at broadly, are very significant of the tendencies of political feelings in the United States. The first thing noticeable is the steady business-like American moderation by which the arrangement between the two opposing parties is at once made, each desirous to stand by the arrangement, whether it works well or ill for the party concerned. The self-control which submits with good grace to arbitration after it has been made and accepted, is the first requisite of all political stability. Whatever may be the immediate result of the decision of the tribunal in relation to Democratic prospects, its ultimate effect is likely to serve well the views and policy of the Democratic party. Whether Tilden or Hayes was elected did not appear to us a question of the highest importance, except in its bearing on discouragement of illegal, disorderly use of power in half civilized States. Practically, the decision of the tribunal makes any judicial investigation in such illegal practices by independent authority, able and willing to see justice done, for the future improbable.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.

On the whole, it appears that Edmunds has been a little too much for Morton. Hayes ought to be able to appreciate the difference between a call to the presidency from Joe Bradley under Edmund's plan and one from Ferry under Morton's plan.

Now that the Republican party have made wrong triumph over right they don't know whether it is best to mourn or to rejoice. You had better weep for shame.

It is expected that Mr. William M Everts will be a main spoke in the wheel of our Fraudulent Presdent. But who can respect Haye's Cabinet, however composed? The receiver is as bad as the thief.

THE SUN.

1877. NEW YORK. 1877.

The different editions of THE SUN during the present year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sunday a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from a million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate, and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cts a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The Sunday edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for THE WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world; and we trust also one of the very best.
