

BUILDING PROGRESS

Brief Summary of a Portion of the Construction Work

R. A. Johnson is building a two story residence in West Marshfield which will be modern in every respect. The building will be finished in the near future.

Active work on the additions to the Methodist church and parsonage will be commenced in about a week or ten days. The buildings will have to be moved over on the lot to allow for the improvements. This work will begin in a few days. The construction of four rooms on the parsonage and the addition to the church represents an expenditure of several hundred dollars.

Mrs. C. W. Tower is having a cottage erected at the corner of Sheridan and Queen avenues which will soon be ready for the painters. The residence will be for rent.

Mrs. J. M. Butler is having a two story residence erected in South Marshfield, for renting purposes.

The construction work on the O'Connell building at the corner of A and Second streets is progressing rapidly. The frame will soon be up for the first story.

The addition to T. Howard's jewelry store has been almost completed. Just as soon as the place is finished Mr. Howard will rearrange much to the improvement of its appearance.

R. B. Wooley is having a two story house built in South Marshfield.

F. C. Birch has his new residence in South Marshfield well under way. This is to be one of the best constructed residences being built this season. The building will be plastered, which is a new feature for buildings in this territory.

Carl Hackman has his two story residence in West Marshfield well under way. This will be a modern building in every respect.

The first of the three residences being built on Sheridan avenue by James Bais is completed and the rest will be well along in a short time.

Mat Anderson has the first of three buildings he is going to erect at the corner of Broadway and Washington well under way. These residences will be for rent.

Lumber is on the ground for the first of three houses Sam Gilroy is going to erect in South Marshfield.

The building activity up Coos River is astonishing, being much more noticeable than at any time heretofore. Scow load after scow load is being shipped up the river by the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing company, to say nothing of the large amount that is being sent out by the other mills on the bay. Among those who are building are C. A. Rodine, a residence, Charles Stemmerman, residence and several large barns and other out buildings.

The Nelson Iron Works shop has just received a new roof.

The addition to the Holland Brothers' boat shop for a machine shop is completed and occupied. The improvement, while not large, is one that has been much needed.

George Coleman has the residence along side his shop on Front street almost completed and will be living there in a short time.

The residence being built by George Thomason is almost completed ready for occupancy. It is a two story house, modern in every respect.

F. D. Ferguson has a big house in Ferndale about completed. This is said to be one of the finest residences in this section.

Work has been started on a fine barn for F. A. Golden in Ferndale. The barn will be constructed on the same lines as the handsome residence recently finished by Mr. Golden.

EXPLOSION KILLS THREE

Gasoline Car Blows Up and Men Standing Near Are Blown to Atoms.

Reddick, Ill., June 5.—Three were killed in the explosion of a carload of gasoline. Three men were watching three cars burn which had become ignited by a hot box on one of them and had gone into the ditch. Right next to these cars was a car of gasoline which caught fire from the sparks from the burning cars. A frightful explosion followed which broke all the windows in the town and demolished chimneys for miles around. The three men were standing close to the car. They were blown to pieces and fragments of their bodies scattered for yards around. No one else was injured as the trainmen who knew of the contents of gasoline in the car had fled to a safe distance.
