

BELL TALKS ELECTRIC LINE

Chamber of Commerce Meeting Has Unusual Gathering of the Faithful.

HOTEL IS NOW ASSURED Committee Appointed to Act With North Bend Committee Looking Towards This End.

The appellation "Slough" received its quietus last night at the Chamber of Commerce meeting and if it is every resurrected again it will be dug from beneath a strata of invectives and opprobrious epithets. The matter was discussed at length and the sense of the meeting was that it should be overlastingly relegated to oblivion. The talk made a great hit, until President McCormac, after the resolution had been passed, stated that all the newspapers on the bay had been using the term "Inlet" for several years, and that the idea was in no way original with the meeting of last night. The matter then resolved itself into a resolution with the hope of discouraging local map artists and others using advertising from talking about sloughs hereafter.

The attendance was up to the usual standard which has prevailed of late and the meeting was enthusiastic. The first matters to be disposed of were the committee reports.

Mr. Grimes said the hotel committee had signed an agreement with Mr. Gibson before he left for Vancouver, wherein the plans were made to build the hotel upon the return of Gibson. There are but three or four thousand dollars left to raise and Mr. Grimes said this would be ready before Mr. Gibson and his associates are here to commence building.

J. S. Smith, in the absence of the chairman, reported that the committee appointed to confer with the shipbuilders committee had written to Mr. Price with regard to moving his shipbuilding industry to Coos Bay, and are waiting for his reply.

Mr. Beloit, who was chairman of the committee of look into the proposal of building an apartment house, said he had a man ready to put up any sized building he could rent, and the only delay was to secure a renter. This, it was thought could be remedied today, as there are several parties looking for such a business.

Capt. W. C. Harris was down from Summer to ask aid from the Chamber towards securing a new survey for the upper end of Catching Inlet, and providing some way of obtaining a channel for the short distance between the head of navigation and Summer. He received encouragement and it was stated by several that the county could be prevailed upon to declare the stretch a highway and thus get it opened. The Chamber passed a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the body that such action be taken by the county court.

In this connection, Dr. McCormac told some interesting accounts of the Beaver Hill Inlet having been opened in this manner a number of years ago. He said the beavers were so thick at that time that passages would be damned up during the journey of boatmen from that locality down the Inlet and back in one day. For that reason, the Inlet was opened by the county.

Secretary Lyon gave a short talk and said the country needed more advertising and outlined several new ideas. He read a list of strangers who had called at headquarters since the last meeting. It was brought to the attention of the members that the pamphlet is now in the hands of the secretary and is being sent away by real estate men and others who care to interest themselves in the work.

Carl Albrecht, representing the North Bend Chamber of Commerce, was present to talk over the proposal to obtain a Port of Coos Bay commission. If possible, he told of the many benefits to be derived by such a body. He said the encroachment on the tidal area will endanger the bar. He stated also that the North Sand Spit is being blown into the bay south and west of Empire, and this is also filling the bay. To remedy this, it is necessary to plant some grass which will take root and thrive in sand. A committee of four, J. H. Flanagan, F. B. White, Wm. Grimes and Henry Sengstacken, were appointed to act with the North Bend committee with a view of obtaining such a commission.

Father Donnelly made a short talk and told of the needs of Coos Bay. He said we have reason to be proud of the country and that Marshfield has doubled in population within the past few years, and that North Bend has grown up within five years. A relative in the east told him during his recent visit that this was a great country, as he had talked to a man recently who gave it a great name. Coos Bay was talked about in many sections where he traveled and he met several headed for the Bay.

The following resolution was presented and adopted:

Whereas, death has suddenly claimed M. B. Zimmer, a member of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce, and

Whereas, deceased was a prominent and active member of this organization, as well as an upright, enterprising, public spirited citizen, and an estimable gentleman, and

Whereas, his demise is a loss felt by the Chamber of Commerce and the country at large, be it

Resolved, that the Chamber of Commerce hereby expresses its appreciation of his worth as a useful and honorable citizen, and be it

Resolved, that the condolence of the Chamber of Commerce be extended to deceased's bereaved family and these resolutions be incorporated into the records of this organization and a copy be sent to the family.

Seymour H. Bell made a short but pointed talk and said he would have a gas plant ready by the first of November and an electric line ready by the first of January.

William Grimes said Mr. White had a proposal to submit. Mr. Waite explained the proposition as follows: Major Kinney had offered to publish 100,000 copies of advertising bearing the many cuts which Kinney has in stock representing many diversified interests; to himself make a tour of the east, stopping at important cities, where he would lecture and distribute this matter, commencing at Omaha, and ending on the coast where Blue-Nose is a common term. Also that he would distribute other advertising matter put in his hands. For this and his expenses, $1,000 would be required. A committee, consisting of Sweetman, Haines and Waite was appointed to learn more about the idea. It was stated that such a move would be supported by all the public spirited people and organizations on the Bay.

A letter to I. S. Kaufman, from Mr. Ragsdale, who represented a wireless telegraph company, told of a station now under construction at Astoria, and Mr. Ragsdale said he believed he could prevail upon the company to establish a similar station on Coos Bay within three months, if the people here were interested in such a matter.

examined, after which they will be interred. Should there be found any marks of violence on the body a most rigid investigation will be ordered. It is quite probable that the jury will be summoned from the district where the body was found. It is not expected that Mr. Hammitte will return to the city until Wednesday at least.

It is said that the news of the finding of the body has been a great shock to Miss Bushnell, the young lady whom Standley was to marry, and that she is now at her home at Olalla in a grief stricken condition. It is stated that the couple were much attached to each other, and that this affair has been a severe burden upon the young lady. Miss Bushnell states the relations between her and the deceased have always been pleasant, and that all statements to the contrary are false.

John Standley, an uncle of Phillip Standley, will take charge of the remains as soon as the coroner has finished with his investigation. As his parents reside in Kansas it is very probable that they will be interred in the local cemetery at Camas Valley.

Riley Pierce, father of the boy who discovered Standley, arrived on the scene shortly after it was first reported and remained there continuously until this morning, keeping watch over the body. A search was made as to what he had upon his person at the time of his death, but all that could be found was a couple of letters and a small sum of money. One of the letters was from a girl in Oregon City which was written to him last fall, and was signed "Your Grace." Another letter was from the Douglas county bank, which was a business missive. The two blank envelopes which he had purchased at the store of Mr. Fry before he started for the Bushnell home were also found undisturbed. He had about $5 on his person which arouses more suspicion, as his uncle, John Standley, states that when he left the house he had something over $20.

Phillip Standley is said to have been one of the model young men of his vicinity, never drinking and always attending strictly to business. He had always worked on the farm and was industrious, saving his money and investing it where it would bear fruit.

The Standleys are well known people in this vicinity and have many friends, who extend their sympathy in their time of trouble.—Umpqua Valley News.
