THE DRESSING OF COOS BAY.

The decision of the existence of the Chamber of Commerce in regard to dressing the Marshfield harbor is well worth the careful perusal of every citizen of Coos Bay and all others who may be interested in Coos Bay and its future. It is truly a matter of vital importance. The other report, too, for it shows that with a single dredge the private owners of the harbor can have the harbor in good condition for the season of navigation. It is only necessary for them to pay a sum of fifteen hundred dollars.

One of the interesting features of the report is the estimate of the importance of the work proposed—that is, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This is reduced by forty thousand which constitutes the charge for the dredge and the work of the season. This shows the necessity of having the harbor in good condition for the season of navigation and that the cost of the work, therefore, only about one hundred and ten thousand. The cost is not excessive, considering the immense advantages which will accrue, not only to existing owners, but to the entire trade. While it is not intended that this report shall provide a dredge and completion of the work, yet it is very probable that the problems will be solved so rapidly in the near future that what will be invested toward the completion of the work under the terms of this report will be adequate for the purpose. This is not a report of any sort, but will constitute an improvement which will enable all water front lots in Marshfield and near Marshfield to secure improve.

This presentation to dredge the bay is the most important, which the citizens should have to consider, and all other questions are of minor consequence compared with it. It is an improvement which is made or in connection with Coos Bay will immediately increase its property and inasmuch as this part of the river is the most important and valuable, but every owner should be devoted to making a great harbor where nature has made it possible to work one at very small cost, and where considerable demand one at our own. Coos Bay is such a harbor, and is in the interest of the public to dredge the bay, as it will enable us to go out to sea, and as it is the duty of the Chamber to continue the work of improvement of the citizens in every possible aid to its commercial industries.
