LABOR SIDE OF HAYWOOD TRIAL

Opinion of a Union Man On Effects of the Verdict.

As a reader and admirer of the Coos Bay Times and its young, energetic editor and staff, I wish to express my appreciation of the very able and timely editorial in Tuesday morning's edition, namely, "Haywood's Acquittal." The subject is of more than local interest, being perhaps one of the most important subjects that now confronts the industrial, as well as the financial, interests of the United States; for no doubt the conviction of Haywood would have placed organized labor hostile to capital all over this country and would have caused untold hardships and harm in every direction; made the innocent to suffer and give to the guilty a cloak to shield behind. Believing as all good Americans do that a man is innocent until proven guilty, I heartily endorse the words, that, "Now Haywood has proven his innocence, no paper or magazine should be allowed to publish anything, no matter from what source, derogatory to his to his character, relative to this trial, either past or present."

Notwithstanding that the head of this, the most free and glorious country has put the stamp of his disapproval upon him as an undesirable citizen, twelve of his peers have decided him innocent of the crime of which he was charged. It is only humane and christian-like to accept the verdict as justice done him. It is only justice and humane to accept him back into citizenship of these United States without a mar or blemish on his character as far as this particular crime is concerned. Therefore it would only be doing not only Haywood justice but the great cause for which he has been such a strong exponent, i. e., organized labor, that strong measures should be used to not only curb what may be said but to try and modify what has already been said and done.

Until capital and labor become more friendly toward each other or a more perfect understanding is reached, we will have and will need just such men as William Haywood. And to try and disorganize the united labor of the United States would not only be next to impossible but would only be the means of putting this country more in the power and control of the money interests than anything else that could possibly happen. Let us hope that the verdict was just. Let us all try and give such aid and support to our fellowmen that we may never have cause to countenance or witness another such conflict on this continent.
