

DESTROYER LEAVES FOR NORTHERN PORT

The torpedo boat destroyer Preble departed from the bay yesterday morning shortly after five o'clock, bound for Grays Harbor. The boat was spoken by a few Coos Bay people, among them being the owner of a fishing boat coming in from the outside. The Preble crew wanted to purchase fish, and during the bargaining, the mission of the destroyer was ascertained. The boat is short of men and laid up over night to give the firemen a chance to rest. She expected to make Grays Harbor last night.

COQUILLE CITY NEWS.

Coquille, Oregon, Aug. 9, 1907.
A great commotion was caused on the streets this morning by a runaway. A gentleman was breaking a colt to a cart and had hitched him up for the first time. He was behaving very nicely, quite as a good colt should, when in the twinkling of an eye, the seat of the cart became unfastened and the driver was tossed, heels over head backwards to the ground, the lines were jerked from his hands, and away went colt and cart in a mad race, to see which would get there first. The cart seemed to imagine it would gain time by going on one wheel, so over it went, spinning one in the air, dizzily, round and round; then with a bounce the cart righted itself, only to repeat the performance, and suddenly, of course, the cart caught against an obstacle—and the race was over, and the poor colt stood tremblingly by awaiting his master, who had not been hurt and was participating in the race for the consolation prize which constituted a colt, only scratched a little, a harness not very badly broken, and a cart unharmed.

There never will be a better time to build you a house than at the present time.

Lumber is cheaper now on Coos Bay than it will ever be again

But we are not selling lumber. We are in the power and electric lighting business and are at work putting in a gas plant. And when you put up your new building have it wired for electric light and plumbed for gas.

If you have ever used electric light you would hardly think of going back to tallow candles or foul-smelling kerosene; if the housewife has ever used an electric flat-iron she would not be disposed to surrender it. And if you have ever used a gas stove no one could induce you to go back to the old sooty, grimy coal stove.
