

WHAT-SOCIETY-IS-DOING

Chandler Party.

In honor of her guest, Miss Helen Doble of Portland, Miss Helen Chandler entertained about thirty of her friends at her home in Marshfield Thursday night. Cards, impromptu musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, filled in the hours of a most enjoyable evening.

Miss Mary Minot and Edmund Keane won, respectively, first ladies' and first gentlemen's prize in the progressive 500 games. The consolation prizes were taken by Miss Maud Painter and Claude Nasburg. After cards, refreshments of ice cream, cake, and ices were served.

The house was decorated in an elegant yet simple manner for the occasion, the soft glow of the electric bulbs giving added effect to the arrangements. Two "frat" dens were fitted up for the evening—the Sigma Nu, in blue and gold; and the Sigma Chi, in black and gold—and their cozy recesses were not without their full share of patronage during the evening.

Mesdames Chandler and Minot acted as patronesses to the affair.

The guests: Misses Helen Doble, Genevieve Sengstacken, Eleanor Helm, Gertrude Mandigo, Alice McCormac, Jessie Chase, Mary Minot, Maud Painter, Nellie Bennett, Laura Kruse, Kaufman, Condron, Perch, Messrs. Tom Bennett, Claude Nasburg, Bob Booth, Frank Lambertson, Thayer Grimes, Charlie Keane, Edmund Keane, Warren Painter, Bert Dimmick, Edgar Campbell, Walter Butler, Rex Large, Otho Hopson, Baillie, Kaufman, Miss-ter Pasley.

Red Men's Smoker.

The Red Men smoker, given last Thursday night by the Coos Tribe, proved a most enjoyable affair, socially and from a fraternal standpoint. The program as outlined in a previous issue of The Times, was not carried out strictly as planned, owing to the absence of several who had been intending to participate. One of the principal features of the evening was the singing of Prof. Cundiff, who rendered two or three Indian selections, all of which were enthusiastically applauded and encored. Prof. W. D. Reedy gave an address which, by those present, was accorded the palm. Among those who spoke, but were not on the original program, were T. J. Lynch, and Mr. Avery, besides Dr. Wetmore, of Coquille. There were over a hundred braves present, among them being strangers from other hunting grounds far from Coos Bay. These came from Coquille, the state of Washington, New York, The Dalles and several other states where the order is flourishing.

The banquet, which was of Bohemian style, was served in the lodge room, and might be set down as the most satisfying of the whole evening's doings. It was beyond the power of the Tribe to refrain from mixing some little business with the pleasure, and it was resolved to send a degree team to Medford at the time of the next Great Council to compete for the cash prize of three hundred dollars. It was further resolved to try for the prize of a $75 banner for the lodge corraling the largest number of new members before the next session of the Great Council. And, further, for the individual prize of a $35 jewel for the Red Man accountable for obtaining the largest number of members for the order. On the whole, the event was one long to be remembered by the Tribe and its guests.

The Alert today takes those of Methodist persuasion to Pipers Grove on the North Fork, where divine services will be held. This is an innovation and there is a large demand for accommodations.

The Reta will ply to Charleston Bay today and the applications for passage were nearly enough last night to require the boat's capacity.

A party will drive from Marshfield this morning to the attractive Big Creek camping grounds where they will spend a pleasant day. This is known also as Sunset Bay, and whoever has been there knows the beauties of that region. The party consists of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawlor, Misses Agnes Hutcheson and Eva Anderson and R. K. Booth and Frank Lambertson.

NEW RESIDENCE FOR SOUTH MARSHFIELD

A. H. Powers, Late of Minnesota, Will Build Elegant Home on Commanding Site.

A. H. Powers, of the Smith-Powers Logging Company, has purchased a plot of land one hundred feet square at the southwest corner of Washington avenue and Bain street, on which he will soon have in course of construction, a modern two and a half story dwelling house, with basement. The plans are in the hands of contractors for bids and were drawn by J. E. Cayou, an architect lately arrived on the bay. The residence will be 24x46 feet and stand on an eminence which will give the dwellers a grand view of the bay and the city. The arrangement is as follows: First floor—living room, dining room, den and kitchen, besides large hallway; second floor—five chambers and bath; third floor—four rooms, chambers and sewing room. The basement will accommodate the hot air heating plant and there will be a large fireplace in the den. Houck and Smoak and Company are figuring on the contract, which it is said, will amount to something like $6,500.

HUNTERS RETURN FROM TRIP TO CURRY COUNTY

William Grimes, Dr. Harriman and H. K. Bassett have returned from their hunting trip in Curry county. They were gone for something over a week and encountered a day's rain, which laid them out on the hunting. They secured two deer and enjoyed the trip very much. During their trip they met parties who are drilling for oil, a few miles south of Bandon. From these people they learned that oil had been encountered in the drilling, but not in paying quantities. They have, however, great confidence that later work will develop what they seek in greater quantities.

GABLER PIANOS

Have long been noted for their superior tonal qualities, handsome case design, originality of architecture and beautiful finish. Artistic in every respect, these instruments have occupied an exalted position in the piano world since the inception of the Gabler house in 1854.

For generations the family of Gabler has devoted its brains, its energies to the development of this artistic instrument. Only the very best grade of materials is utilized in the construction of the Gabler pianos, and none but thoroughly skilled artisans are employed in their manufacture.

The result is that the purchasers of the Gabler secure not only the distinctive tone quality that appertains to these creations, but have as well the assurance that their piano possesses the highest possible degree of that element durability which means so much in the life of an instrument.

The strongest testimonial to the merits of the Gabler is the fact that succeeding generations of pleased purchasers remain loyal to this instrument.

During the more than half-century that the Gabler has been on the market over 50,000 have been sold and have delighted music lovers the world over. The Gabler piano appeals to the cultured classes. It is the artistic instrument for artistic people.
