

New Banking Institution.

Mr. D. D. Fagan of the Norris Safe and Lock company of Portland and Seattle yesterday installed in the temporary quarters of The First Trust and Saving Bank of this city one of the Ely patent compound door special Manard Manganese steel bank safes, manufactured by the Ely-Norris Safe company, of Perth Amboy, N. J. The members of this banking house are well known in Marshfield and their enterprise is becoming a great aid in the progress of the country.

Following is a description of the safe:

Steel—Manard Manganese Steel is the highest grade of Manganese metal in the world. The Pennsylvania Steel Co., its makers, are recognized as the leading manufacturers of this metal and their facilities are unsurpassed.

Manard Manganese Steel is made by the open Leath process under a special formula and provides the qualities particularly required in solid safe construction. It possesses in the highest degree qualities which give strength combined with toughness, rendering it proof against concussion and explosives. It is drill proof and non-magnetic.

Casting—The body of our safe is cast in one piece, approximately three inches thick and is spherical in form, thus giving unlimited protection against force; the scheme being recognized as the strongest shape in nature. The compound door is integral, or two doors in one swinging on one hinge. The door is made of the same metal as the body and in one with the explosion chamber between the two portions, which are joined through this chamber.

Construction—The jambs of the door and body are ground and lapped with emery and oil to a metal fit, making practically a steam tight joint to prevent the introduction of liquid explosives. Should the outer portion of the door be attacked, the explosion chamber would provide air-space to absorb the concussion. The two portions of the door are connected through this explosion chamber and, if it were possible to remove the outer portion, these connections would give way and the inner portion would remain, giving them, as great protection as is provided in any other safe in the market.

Locking Device—In the explosion chamber, and attached to the outer portion of door, is placed a double dial combination lock, either dial of which will operate this lock.

This combination lock controls bolts which fit into the jamb and this gives not only protection, but also provides a day-lock which can be operated quickly in case of a daylight raid or other emergency requiring that the safe be locked instantly.

This lock is made with a key changing device so that combination

H. C. Bohrus, of Minneapolis, has arrived on the Bay and purposes opening an insurance office in Marshfield or North Bend.

Mr. Daniel Webster, the representative for the Heinz Pickle Co., of Portland left yesterday on a business tour through the Coquille country.

Mr. J. L. Flanagan, representing the American Wood Working Machinery Co., left this city Thursday to continue his trip through the Coquille country.

Mr. B. Bonell, representing Allen & Lewis, wholesale grocers, of Portland, left Thursday morning on a business trip to Coquille and surrounding vicinity.

J. H. Minto, of Victoria, B. C., is here to visit his brother-in-law, Frank Hague. Mr. Minto is telegraphic editor on the Victoria Times, and is taking a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Chas. Rebert left this city yesterday on a business trip to Coquille, Bandon and Myrtle Point, from the latter place Mr. Rebert will go to Drain, thence turning down the coast to Eureka.

Miss Ada Field is in the city with intentions of remaining through the winter if the climate is not too severe. Miss Field is here for her health, during the remaining nice weather she will visit the various summer resorts.

D. D. Fagan, representing the Norris Safe and Lock Company, is in Marshfield installing a safe for the new banking firm. Mr. Fagan has sold a large number of safes in this territory and used to come here as long ago as twenty-five years.

Ben Chandler left yesterday on the Breakwater for Portland and from there will continue on to Eugene, where he will enter the high school. Ben was in the school last year and in the middle of the school year was taken ill with typhoid fever. When he recovered, he had lost so much time he concluded to return home and wait until this fall before taking up the work again.

Preferred Stock Tomatoes

come out whole—can be served as stewed tomatoes, or any way, at less cost than fresh ones though equally as good.

Notice the ordinary kind—more like soup than tomatoes; then open a can of Preferred Stock—the kind you would pick from the vine if you had your choice.

Preferred Stock Canned Goods

Packed Wherever the Best are Grown

For our tomatoes we go to the famous Santa Clara Valley in California. These tomatoes are firmer, with more meat and less water. Only the best of these are selected for Preferred Stock use; they must be just a red, firm ripeness.

We pay more for our tomatoes than most canners do, and we insist on having the first pick, accept only the best fruit, of uniform, medium size, and have it put up right where the tomatoes are grown, by one of the nearest, most expert canners in all California. Tomatoes are a staple necessity in every household. Even the United States Government regards them as an important food from an hygienic and nutritive point of view. Preferred Stock Tomatoes may cost a trifle more than some kinds, but look at the way they come out of the can—and mostly meat; observe the quality and flavor—and the quantity.

Be sure the Tomatoes are Preferred Stock, from your Grocer
