Presented with Watch.

"Jimmie" Lyons, who lately severed his connection with the Simpson Lumber company, to apply his attention to the laundry business, was the recipient of a fine gold watch, the gift of the mill boys. The gift is a pride to Mr. Lyons and he values it very highly, coming as it did from those with whom his relations had been most pleasant.

The merchant who "is too busy to advertise" is rather over-generous to his competitors.

Mistaken Identity.

In the item respecting the ownership of a strip of land on which the cold storage plant stands, Mr. Watson was named as joint owner with E. G. Flanagan, whereas it should have been Mr. Seabrook.

Toys, dolls, notions. Prentiss.

A Growing Business.

The Going-Harvey company which opened business four months ago has found business so good they have been obliged to add three clerks in order to take care of it properly. The additions make the firm six clerks.

BRIDGE PLANS ARE READY FOR CONTRACTOR

Coal Bank Inlet Draw Bridge Approved by Government Authorities.

James Flanagan, who has been the prime mover in the Coal Bank Inlet bridge has received approval of the plans for the bridge from the Washington authorities and the work of building the bridge will proceed as soon as bids are obtained and material can be had. Mr. Flanagan advertises this morning for bids for the work, and the specifications may be found at his office.

The plans call for a draw bridge, and navigation will not be interfered with to any material extent by its building. The traffic upon the Inlet is not so very heavy and the necessity for such a crossing and the additional roadway which it will initiate for the people living in Bunker Hill, Flagstaff, Bay Park and Millington will overshadow any inconvenience to traffic. The bridge will be built on Pennsylvania avenue and will give a practically level grade through Bunker Hill addition to the railroad, along the right of way to Shingle House slough (this is not an inlet) where it will connect with the county road, thus shortening the distance to that point a mile and a half, besides cutting out some very heavy grades.

"Sell—and Stand Back of the Sale!"

The old store-slogan, "Sell—and forget it!" has almost entirely vanished from the business world. To follow it nowadays would mean quick store-suicide. The modern store-spirit reverses the order completely. "Sell—and stand back of it!" is the new creed. And it means security to the buyer. It means confidence. It makes it "safe" to go shopping. It contributes to peace of mind. It makes store-ads. interesting—and it makes them important.

Temperate, well considered statements are the rule in present-day advertising. It would be folly indeed for a merchant to pay good money for newspaper space in which to cheapen and belittle his store—and that is what he would do if he should descend to simple buncombe and recklessness of statement.

Look over the ads. today. You will decide that while they contain as much enthusiasm as ever, they are more temperate in claims and statements than formerly.

SEPTEMBER COURT TERM CLOSED YESTERDAY

The September term of the circuit court adjourned yesterday afternoon at Coquille and the legal fraternity have returned home. One of the last cases to be decided was that of Escott vs. the Crescent Coal & Navigation company, where Escott represented a number of miners who had liens on the Maxwell coal mine. There was a total of 22 liens, representing $3000. The defense went into court with a demurrer, which was overruled and the defense given 20 days in which to make answer.

A number of equity cases were referred to the official court stenographer.

Mrs. L. A. Frey of North Bend was granted a divorce.

A number of cases were held over until the next term.

Stenographer—Mr. B——, we are almost out of letter heads and statements.

Mr. B——Call 1331 and ask for Kramer, he will have them ready for you in time for tomorrow's mail.

Loading White Cedar.

The Esther Bunne is loading some fine white cedar three inch plank from the Johnson Lumber company's mill, and it is billed to the Santa Fe railroad.

JOB WORK.

Perhaps you have been held off your job work. The Times is ready to do it for you. Gus Kramer is in charge of the Times job department and will give you figures on any work you want.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will have a cake sale this afternoon at the Coos Bay Cash store.

Unless you've read the ads. you're not really "house-hunting." you're just running around.

Myers' Sale Popular.

The Myers' sale at North Bend has been a great attraction for the ladies of Marshfield and for the past two days the boats have been crowded with buyers.

This is the "right time" to find the "right sort" of servant. Let an ad. help you "look"

Try a Times Want ad. and be sure.
