

SCHOOL WILL OPEN MONDAY

Vacation Days Are Over and Work Will Be Resumed by Students.

TEXTBOOKS ARE CHANGED

Well Preserved Books May Be Exchanged—List of the New Books.

The people of Coos Bay are to be congratulated upon their possession of such a fine school, furnishing as it does the best instruction to pupils of all ages from the child of six to the candidate for admittance to our universities.

The grounds are extensive, affording ample space for games and every variety of exercise. The sanitary conditions are perfect, nothing seems to have been spared by the progressive board of education.

The teachers are Professor F. A. Golden, ninth and tenth; Miss Lyon, eighth; Miss Gulovson, seventh; Kathleen Bennett, sixth; Mrs. Road, fifth; Hilda Stenholm, fourth; Ada Chapman, third; Alice McCormick, second; Mrs. Wilbur, first A; Miss Seebolt first B.

Our School System.

Coos county offers to homeseekers many advantages but perhaps none are more valuable than the excellent system of the public schools maintained throughout the county.

Mr. W. H. Bunch, the present county superintendent of schools, is a teacher of large experience and practical ideas, and does much to increase the proficiency of the schools by his timely visits and suggestions.

The Marshfield public school is in respect to enrollment and equipment by far the most extensive in the county. By the last census marshal's report there were above 500 census children within this school district.

It contains ten large recitation rooms, with seating for over 400 pupils, an assembly room suitable for seating a large audience, and a suitably equipped laboratory. In time an additional two room high school must be added to meet the demand for increased educational facilities.

There are ten teachers in the corps of instructors, most of whom were born and reared on Coos Bay, they having acquired extensive experience in normal school work.

It is hoped that the school will go on, adding branch after branch until it shall equal in excellence the best schools of the state. In average daily attendance, regularity and punctuality the school sustains a record equally meritorious with older schools which in every particular is excellent, thus reflecting great credit upon the teachers and pupils and is the proof of general and friendly cooperation on the part of the parents of the district opens tomorrow.

Tomorrow the Marshfield schools will open for the coming school year, and if the present growth of the city is any criterion, it may be confidently expected that the school room will be inadequate for the accommodation of the pupils that will appear for study in the morning. The vacation is over and the pupils are ready for the new work.

same meanings wherever encountered.

The change is made as attractive as possible by reason of the exchange price which attaches. The parent is made to believe that the books will not cost so very much because the booksellers give a rebate where an old book is turned in on the exchange basis.

It may be allowed that where a pupil has graduated and is ready for the next grade, there is no loss to the purchaser. This is true, but where there are children who can use the old books handed down by the older pupils, the effect is just as expensive, since the old books are worthless and must be thrown away.

The change in text books means several hundred thousand of dollars to the American Book company as the laws allow no change for certain periods and in that time, the people will pay the price of trust graft, and then some other concern will get them.

The New Books. Following is the list of the books required for each grade of the Marshfield public schools for the coming school year, together with the retail and exchange price, in most instances:

MILLICOMA TO ENLARGE

Marshfield's Live Club to Have New Quarters Over Lockhart Building.

WILL ADD THIRD STORY

When Completed the Quarters Will Compare Favorably With Best in State.

Marshfield is to have one of the finest and best equipped clubs and club houses in the state of Oregon, outside of Portland. When such a statement is made, it means a great deal, yet Marshfield will deliver the goods and by the first or middle of November, will be ready to show others a club can be organized and equipped for opening within a short time.

The organization first opened its doors in February last, and the club members were so much pleased with having a club at home that they soon commenced to lay plans for bigger and better things in every way connected with the organization. The old rooms in the Marsden building on Front street were soon found to be inadequate, and not half the amusements could be installed which really make the life and attractions of a club.

It was therefore deemed necessary to build on a larger foundation if the club was to be the great convenience and pleasure which the business and professional men of the city would have it. The members have accepted the largeness of the organization and are planning everything connected with the new club to be on such a scale that it will not be necessary to enlarge or find more room for some years to come.

The arrangements call for a third story which will be built immediately over the large Lockhart building on the northeast corner of Front and A Streets, giving a space about 85 x 60 feet. The plans and specifications have been drawn by Architect Perham and have been accepted by the club. Bids will be advertised for soon and the work will be pushed to completion just as rapidly as the contractor can execute it.

Among the rooms in the club house will be the following; a large reading room; large writing room; commodious billiard and pool room; lounging room with stage for private theatricals; a well equipped bar, is the intention to have a regular date and handily arranged kitchen. When the club is first opened, the members will have use for the kitchen only upon special occasions when a banquet is given; afterwards, it part of club life in many places and service where lunch will be served as in the best clubs of Portland and the other large coast cities. These lunches are made a very attractive part of club life in many places and there is no reason why the same thing cannot be done here.

Dr. Haydon, whose catering is so favorably known, will be the official chef of the organization and the members know they may always be certain of a good feed when has the management. As an example of the popularity of the enterprise, the quick work of the committee in securing the necessary subscriptions for making the club an immediate success is full evidence. This committee, consisting of Jack Flanagan, Claude Nasburg and E. K. Jones obtained $2,500 in one afternoon.

The club will be incorporated and will work under the regular corporation rules set down by the state laws. There are 500 shares of stock at ten dollars per share. Each member is required to subscribe for at least three shares, which same entitles him to membership and the privileges of the organization. The price of dues has not yet been named and will be adjusted later on.

Following are the members now enrolled, while there are many belonging to the other club who have not been solicited; there are others yet to subscribe: W. S. Chandler, J. W. Bennett, John S. Coke, J. W. Flanagan, Herbert Lockhart, Claude Nasburg, A. O. Rogers, H. S. Tower, George H. Erickson, F. B. Waite, C. E. Nicholson, Albert Seelig, E. G. Perham, R. K. Booth, W. R. Haines, W. J. Rust, Walter Lyon, W. S. McFarland, A. Kaufman, W. A. Toye, John Preuss, M. A. Sweetman, W. F. Squire, W. U. Douglas, Seymour H. Bell, Edgar L. Wheeler, E. W. Kammerer, W. T. Merchant, J. H. Milner, C. F. McCollum, W. C. Bradley, L. W. Traver, Wm. Ford, J. A. Matson, E. Straw, Ivy Condron, A. A. Dimmick, P. A. Devers, E. L. C. Farrin, Frank M. Parsons, E. D. McArthur, M. M. McLean, George A. Baines, E. G. Flanagan, A. B. Daly, Dr. C. W. Tower, Wm. J. Smith, Henry Hoeck, Peter Loggie, C. P. Dorian, P. A. Sandberg, D. W. Small, H. E. Bessey, Edward W. Donnelly, J. M. Upton, W. H. Kennedy, Hugh Bailille, Hugh McLean, W. M. Lawlor Jr., Wm. Grimes, J. W. Ingram, Jas. K. Flanagan, A. W. Waterman.

The North Bend Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting Friday night, decided to put in a permanent exhibit, which will be made as attractive as any similar enterprise on the bay. The plan was suggested by a number of farmers living to the northward, on Haines Inlet, North Inlet and other arms of the bay. The exhibit will consist of manufactured products, fruit and farm products. The home selected for this exhibit is at the wharf warehouse, where it will be convenient to all who travel by water to the city of North Bend. Mr. Thomas James, who is in charge of the warehouse, will be put in charge of the exhibit, and it is said he understands what an exhibit should be.

TURNER IGO KILLED GOBEL

Kentucky Woman Makes Affidavit to That Effect—He Told Her as Much.

GREAT MYSTERY SOLVED

Cabel Powers Has Been Held In Jail Seven Years For the Crime.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 21.—Turner Igo, one of the farmers of Rowan county, Kentucky, is charged with the killing of William Gobel in an affidavit by Mrs. Lula Clark which was published exclusively today by the Richmond Evening Times. The affidavit was sworn to last April in the law office of former Governor William S. Taylor of Kentucky. Mrs. Clark, whose maiden name was Lula Williams, lived at the time of the Gobel murder, at Mount Sterling, Kentucky. She had a cousin named King who then lived at Merryville, Kentucky. Miss King was at the time, according to her affidavit, keeping company with John Sanford, of Covington, a son of an attorney who was killed by Gobel in a fight some years ago. The fight resulted from a political quarrel. Mrs. Clark swears that on the day of the Gobel murder, she and her cousin went to Frankfort and as they started to enter the house by the rear entrance, a shot was fired. At the same time they noticed a man standing just inside the door, whom they recognized as Sanford. In a minute a second man came running out of the building dressed like a mountaineer and carrying a rifle. He ran to Sanford and said, "I got the G—D—B—". The man was recognized, by affidavit as her friend Turner Igo. Both men ran out of the building to the fence, where Sanford gave a pair of shoes which he was carrying to Igo, who exchanged his boots for them. The men then disappeared. The affidavit states that Igo told her at the Mount Sterling depot, Jan. 25th, 1906, he would go and kill Gobel and she saw him afterwards at Jeffersonville, Ind, and he reminded her that he had fulfilled his promise. She also says Sanford told Gertrude a few days prior to Gobel's murder that he intended to kill Gobel, saying here is my chance to get revenge. The legislature has met. The Evening Times corrects also the published correspondence between Caleb Powers and Parsons who secured affidavits and afterwards investigated its allegations for verifications, showing expenses for information gained were paid from Powers defence fund.

Taylor Obtained Affidavit. Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—W. S. Taylor could not be found today to verify the statement in the dispatch from Richmond. The Clark woman formerly lived here. She was a brakeman's wife. It is said they were divorced a year ago. Three years ago Mrs. Clark told the story of Gobel's murder to an Indianapolis newspaper man who took the woman to Governor Taylor who took her deposition. The story was not published, Governor Taylor fearing publication would make verification impossible and he hoped to locate the man who was with Mrs. Clark. Preliminary to the first trial Caleb Powers' friend, the secretary of state, had sought to establish the fact that John Sanford was at Frankfort on the day of the shooting, but efforts to establish this failed.

Frank Marhoffer and his mustache. Frank Marhoffer was in the city yesterday, though few people recognized him. Frank has branched out in many lines since he cast his lot with the people of Bay City, and among the new things he is introducing is a fine mustache of two weeks' growth, which changes his looks quite perceptibly.

Trying For New Record. Groomed for her fast run voyage eastward the Lusitania sailed for Queenstown and Liverpool this afternoon to beat the New York & Queenstown record made in 1894. The Lusitania must do better than 5 days 8 hours and 38 minutes.

YOUNG FOLKS GIVE FAY WHITE SURPRISE

A genuine surprise was given Fay White at the home of his parents of South Marshfield Saturday night, it being his fourteenth birthday. A good time was enjoyed by all. Games and other amusements were played all evening, a magic lantern taking up some of the time. Music by the graphophone and piano was rendered. He received some very nice presents, one being a Kroeger piano from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. White, all wishing Fay a good many more happy years to come. Refreshments consisting of cake, ice cream, fruit and nuts were served. Those present were Miss Edith Hohn, Selma Hohn, Julia Hohn, Ellen Hohn, Regine Matson, Besale Ayre, Lottie Lougstaff, Genetta Escott, Laura Sheppard, Ellen Snedden, Mary Hansen, Myrtle Cowan, Gertie Skaof, Marial Lewis, Master Irvine Gulovson, John Ferguson, Duncan Ferguson, John Sheppard, Guy Clausen, Andrew Thomas, Alva Grandy, Charles Grandy, Homah Grandy, C. R. Woodward and Master Fay White.

ARE HAVING GOOD S. S. CONVENTION

Returning attendants upon the Sunday school convention held yesterday at Coquille report an interesting day and a profitable one as well. The morning was taken up in becoming acquainted and with short talks. Nearly every Sunday school in the county had representatives at the convention. The matter of interesting the young people in Sunday school work and thus building up the various organizations was discussed at length and there were many valuable suggestions offered. The convention was called to order by Chairman Sehlbrede of Marshfield who presided for the day. Mr. Barrow, a Coquille attorney, made the address of welcome and it was responded to by Rev. Kushing of the Myrtle Point Presbyterian church. Resolutions were adopted and the election of officers was held before the day's work ended. Judge Sehlbrede was elected president; H. H. Brown of Marshfield, vice president; Alva Doll, secretary and treasurer. The meeting will continue over today and before it adjourns the meeting place for next year will be selected. Marshfield is a candidate for the convention, and the workers from here expect the decision will be made for this city.

A. B. SMITH PURCHASES NUTWOOD SALOON

Mr. A. B. Smith of Tacoma has purchased the Nutwood saloon from A. H. Meyers and has taken possession of the business. Mr. Smith comes to Marshfield highly recommended and says it is his intention to conduct the business on the same popular lines that have marked his past. He has property in Tacoma which he will dispose of and will then move his family to Marshfield.

New Window Signs.

The Crystal Palace signs on the windows of the O'Connell building looks suspiciously like there will be something doing there in the show line soon.

A New Restaurant.

Judd Mills is now opening up a first class restaurant in the Gow Why building on Broadway. He has given the job of furnishing the entire building to Goring & Harvey.

Aid for Wrecked Fishermen.

Seattle, Sept. 21.—Senator Piles has telegraphed the president, asking him to send the revenue cutter Bristol Bay to the rescue of several hundred persons, survivors of the wreck of the fishing boat John Currier which went ashore at Nelson's Lagoon August 9th. Indians have reported there were supplies for thirty days and that the time is past. It is believed they are in danger of starving and freezing.
