From Myrtle Point.

We have heard of calamity howlers before. It is nothing new for rich men to predict such nonsense as Mr. Ripley, the president of the Santa Fe railroad, has given to the public. Should it come to pass that the railroads only have one job for each two men, then the Oregon farmers will have four jobs for each man not employed by those roads. Let Mr. Ripley fulfill his prediction; nobody will be hurt and many benefited. P.

PROMISE OF HIGH PRICES FOR WHEAT

Foreign Countries Raised Little Grain, So Come to America for Food.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Wheat prices soared yesterday to the great delight of speculators who were so fortunate as to be "long" on the market. The May delivery ascended to $1.09 3/4, the top price touched on the board of trade this year. The market was inflated with bullish enthusiasm generated by advancing prices in foreign markets and heavy demands from exporters, due to a shortage in supplies abroad. Bears struggled in vain to hold prices down and were finally forced to "pocket" severe losses. The pit was thrown into a feverish state of activity by the wild scramble to buy.

James A. Patten, once mayor of Evanston and one of the "big guns" on the board, is leader of the bull movement and his firm did most of the buying. However, there was buying by commission houses generally, an unmistakable evidence of increased speculative interest.

The bulls declare that the anticipated shortage in the world's supplies, which sent prices to $1 last spring, is now being realized. Europe, they declare, will need every bushel of wheat that this country has to spare for export. The foreigners, they say, will buy regardless of prices until their wants are satisfied.

E. W. Kalb, a member of the board who returned today from a six month's trip abroad, said that while crops in many parts of Europe had turned out better than anticipated last spring, the foreigners are buying supplies wherever they are to be had.
