

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

University of Oregon, Eugene, October 15.—The demand throughout the state for the correspondence work now being offered by the University of Oregon is greatly surpassing the expectations of its most sanguine supporters. In a number of towns the teachers are forming clubs and carrying on the work under the direction of the university instructors. The interest is not confined to teachers, however, for many young men and women who have found it impossible to attend college and take the work. To begin with, only a small number of courses are being offered, such as English Classics and Shakespeare, English History, Pedagogy, Algebra, etc., but others will be added from time to time.

Eugene has just voted to issue $500,000 in water bonds for the purpose of securing a supply of absolutely pure mountain water. A stream in the forest reserve will be tapped and the water brought 35 miles by a gravity system. This will insure to the students of the University of Oregon pure water without the necessity of boiling it.

The registration of the University of Oregon in the departments at Eugene, exclusive of the school of music, has practically reached the 400 mark. The total enrollment in all departments at the present time is between 750 and 800. At the beginning of President Campbell's administration in 1902 the attendance was 224. The present freshman class number almost as many students as the total enrollment at that time. It is expected the number of students next year will reach 600 in the departments at Eugene exclusive of music. The university offers no high school subjects, the requirements for entrance being the completion of the four year high school course.

What promises to be to the lumbering interests of the Pacific northwest one of the most valuable bulletins ever published is the bulletin to be issued next spring by the department of forestry on the strength of Oregon fir. During the past two years a most thorough and exhaustive series of tests have been made by J. B. Knapp, engineer in charge at the University of Oregon Testing Station. In the preparation of the report, considerable collateral data will be used, and Mr. Knapp is now in Washington preparing his material.

Takes Away Strength and Courage.

The man who worries never is self-centered, never balanced, never at his best. Mental anxiety takes away vitality and push and leaves lassitude and languor behind. It deprives manhood of virility, whereas the self-poised man has confidence in himself to dare and do; he never wobbles or staggers from side to side, but pushes right ahead in a straight course, keeping his destiny ever in view.

They who believe in themselves, who are conscious of their own force of character, of brain, and of body, touch the wire of infinite power and can accomplish what would be impossible to those who lack the vital energy which waits on self-concentration a beautiful rays and they is enough of this vital energy to run all the affairs of the world.

Husband—Another new dress! Where do you suppose I shall get the money from to pay for it?

Wife—You must excuse me. I didn't marry you to give you financial advice.—Chicago Journal.

"Well," replied the youth, "I should define it as darkness that might be felt."
