The tennis Club and its friends participated last night in the opening social success of the season, when the club's harvest ball was brought off at the Odd Fellow's hall. A reporter who peeped in at a late hour, saw a scene of wondrous attraction and beauty. The dancers were enjoying the event with the usual pleasure which marks every function given by the club. The hall was a veritable bower of decorations and the effect was most striking. All combined to lend the harvest effect. The ladies were gowned in their latest and most fetching apparel and the gentlemen lost nothing by comparison. The music was of the best class, as may be seen by the program printed below. The hall was not crowded as is sometimes the condition when a popular society is entertaining, and the dancers had plenty of room. The event will go down to the credit of the club as another pleasurable success.

The ball was the fifth event of its nature given by the members of the club since the organization was transformed into a social club. The parties are all remembered by those who attended them as the most auspicious of the dances which were given during the past two years. The members have worked the arrangements and effects of these balls up to such a point on each occasion that it was believed that nothing more tasty could be imagined or given. But each recurring attempt shows that new things are constantly suggesting themselves and last night's ball was far and away more elaborate in all the details than any of the former ones.

The decorations last evening were in green and orange. The hall was a beautiful sight and with the mellow lights reflected from the numerous Japanese lanterns and the thirty-six pumpkins, the affair had a most entrancing and dreamy effect. The Japanese lanterns were so arranged that all could be lighted at once, through an electrical switch. During the ball these were shut off for a dance, and the jack o'lanterns did service for light. The effect was pleasing and the dancers enjoyed the novelty.

The decorations were in cedar, maple and huckleberry. The stage was tastily arranged and the music floated out from behind a bower of decorations. Autumn leaves were employed in the decorating as well, in order to better carry out the idea of harvest ball.

In the center of the hall was a large circular canopy suspended from the ceiling and from which garlands were trained in every direction. Lanterns were hung from this canopy and the center was one of attractive features of the decorations. Corn stalks were everywhere present and lined the outer borders of the hall. To make the effect more farm like, farm implements were used in great number, such as pitchforks, rakes and other like utensils. A plow in one corner was the subject of considerable merriment and furnished topics for witty guests.

The program, the music for which was furnished by the Coos Bay Orchestra, was as follows:

- Waltz Symphia
- Two-Step Varsity Girl
- Waltz Lion Hunter
- Two-Step Old Faithful
- Waltz For-Get-Me-Not
- Circle Two-Step
- Waltz Pride of My Heart
- Extra Two-Step
- Waltz Alone
- Two-Step The American Girl
- Waltz Remembrance of Naples
- Virginia Reel
- Two-Step Forest King
- Extra Waltz
- Two-Step Yankee Doodle
- Waltz Sunny Skies
- Two-Step My Rag Time
- Waltz Blue Danube
- Two-Step Aunt Chloe's Favorite
- Waltz Home Sweet Home

Officers of the club are Claude Nasburg, president; Genevieve Sengstacken, vice president; Alice McCormac, secretary; Bert Dimmick, treasurer.

The committees for the various arrangements for last night's function were: Invitation—Bert Dimmick, Mae Bennett and Alice McCormac. Program—Kathleen Bennett, Genevieve Sengstacken, Walter Butler, Mary Minot. Music—Jay and Nellie Tower. Reception—Charles Keane, Bert Dimmick, Genevieve Sengstacken, Mae Bennett, Kathleen Bennett. Decoration—Charles Keane, Walter Butler, Genevieve Sengstacken, Kathleen Bennett and Alice McCormac. Punch—Irving Chandler and Della Chapman.

The Sisters of Bethany met the fore part of the week at the home of Miss Agnes Hutcherson, on Pine street, to prepare for the season's work. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Evelyn Anderson, on First street, Oct 23rd, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Ladies' Art Club met last week with Mrs. W. B. Curtis, of South Marshfield. This was the first meeting of the season and plans for the winter were outlined. The second meeting was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ivy Condron.

The Degree of Honor held their quarterly social in the Odd Fellow's hall Tuesday night. There was initiation in the early part of the evening, and after this, cards and dancing. There was a large attendance and a number of outsiders were invited as guests. Refreshments were served at a seasonable hour, and the event was agreed to have been a very pleasant affair.

The A. N. W. club at its regular meeting on last Thursday provided for delegates to the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs to be held in Salem on the 22nd of October. The delegates selected were Mrs. H. Reed and Mrs. I. Lando. Mrs. F. M. Friedberg was elected alternate. The club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Thomas Hall on October 24th.

Sunset lodge No. 51, I. O. O. F., received an official visit on the evening of the 17th from Grand Master Richard Scott of Milwaukie. Accompanying him was H. M. Beckwith, grand patriarch of the grand encampment of Oregon, who visited the local encampment, Sunset. Following the meetings, an elaborate banquet was served by the two organizations in conjunction and a general social time was the result. The members were out in large numbers from Marshfield and the entire surrounding country.

The Sacajawea Council No. 9 Degree of Pocahontas, are planning a very pleasant time for the members of the council and their friends for Monday evening. The principal feature of the event will be dancing, and the hall will be decorated in true Indian style. The early part of the dancing will be en masque, and Indian characters will be the rule. The invitation sent out by the council reads as follows:

In the month when leaves are falling
 You are bidden to assemble
 At the lodge of Pocahontas
 To the dancing and laughing.
 Come in all your paint and feathers
 On October 21st at 8 o'clock.

Miss Beth Bradley entertained the ladies of the Priscilla club at her home last Monday evening. The event was one of the regular monthly social times which the club has arranged to give this season, outside of their weekly meetings. Bridge whist was the order of the evening and four tables were occupied. Music and other games were also introduced when whist was concluded. Mr. George Erickson won the gentleman's prize and Miss Alice McCormac the lady's.

Miss Alice McCormac gave a few girl friends of the high school a launch party yesterday afternoon on the Aloah. The party went to North Bend for the football game.

The Priscilla club will meet next Friday with Miss Agnes Hutcherson at her home on Pine street.

LAWYER LEAVES ORIGINAL WILL

Bequests of Wealthy Los Angeles Attorney Are Clothed in Some Humor.

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—Three items in the will of the late Attorney P. W. Dooner, in which he speaks of his "excellent son-in-law," are original and convict him of a sense of humor in even such a dry legal and sad document as a will. In one place he says: "I owe no debts at all, and intend to keep in the same happy state if possible."

In regard to the final disposition of his body he directed: "Be particular, I require that my remains be cremated and my ashes buried in the earth by the side of my little babes in Rosedale cemetery. The funeral to be private to a degree; all oratory and tears being strictly ruled out on grounds of irrelevancy. A. G. Stepper will please see that the casket surely goes to the crematory, plus its contents."

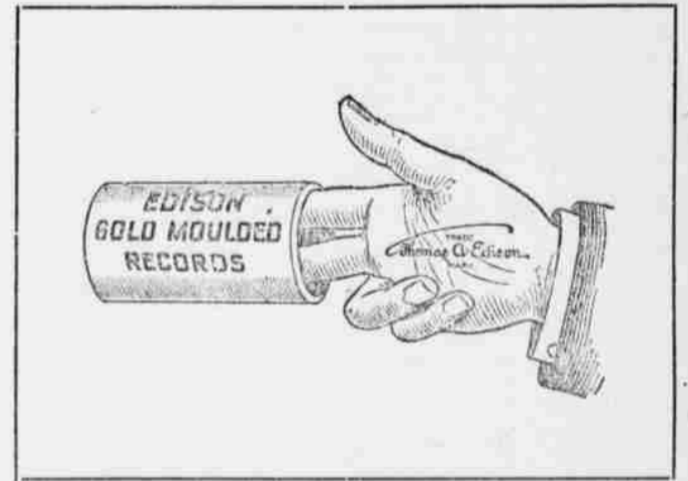

In a codicil he directs that Miss Effie J. Alger receive $500. He explains that years ago he bought a lot in Long Beach from her mother giving full value in the sum of $700, but the property advanced so greatly since that he desires Miss Alger also to benefit. The estate approximates $100,000.
