PACKERS LOWER PRICE OF MEAT

Reduction of 10 Per Cent, With Hints of a Further Drop.

OTHER THINGS TO FOLLOW

Slump in Wheat in Chicago Pit—Due to the Money Conditions.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Smaller house-keeping bills may be the recompense of the financial stringency for the wage-earner. The symptoms of the fall in prices appeared on the market today. Western beef, butter and eggs are declining in a manner that promises economy for the masses without threatening a disastrous slump for the dealers.

The packing houses of Omaha reduced the prices of all kinds of beef by 10 per cent today, and a further decline is expected. Edward S. Cudahy Packing Company, expressed the belief that prices of all food-stuffs would fall, though he stated that conditions did not look gloomy for the dealers, who will profit in the general material prosperity of the West.

The Chicago meat market has not yet felt the effects of the decline, the best grades of meat still holding steady. Ernest Hegg, manager of a big provision company, said: "There is no change in the prices of the best qualities of meats. The fall in Western beef of inferior grade does not necessarily mean that native stock will also be reduced."

W. F. Goodhue, a butter expert, said: "Butter slumped a cent last week, falling from 27½ cents a pound to 26½ cents. Elgin butter which was 23 cents last week, is now down to 27. The market is fairly steady, however, and I believe that it will continue to be so."

Eggs continued to decline, and prices along South Water street were slightly lower than they were Saturday. Cold storage eggs are now at 20 cents per dozen. Dealers said that though the stock of eggs on hand was unusually large, the quality was good. Edward Reub, president of the Butter and Egg Board, declared that there was no occasion for alarm in the egg situation, and that dealers would be able to dispose of their supply without loss.

Recovering From Injury.

Ray Pendergrass had the misfortune to run a nail into his foot the fore part of the week. Dr. Horsfall lanced it for him yesterday and it is now doing fine. Some of his friends are accusing him of having the gout, but Muldoon says a man does not get the gout working on pile drivers.

HALLOWEEN JOKES COME QUITE HIGH

There were no court proceedings in Judge Upton's court yesterday as expected. It was presumed there would be a full day of examination and arguments, but the boys who spent the few hours left of Halloween night in the calaboose put up bail money and were released. Their release was a sort of compromise. The boys were to be freed on bail of $11 each, providing they would go all over the grounds they covered in their pranks and replace everything they had disturbed. This they agreed to, and were accordingly let go. The names given to the Times yesterday morning were fictitious, but any who are interested, in knowing who they were can learn by watching north Front street today and the school house steps where the boys will be busy packing lumber and shingles, to say nothing of numerous other materials, and in fixing the steps which were torn up. The settlement money represents the difference between eleven dollars which it will cost the boys if they do not appear for trial, and $25 which they will likely get soaked if they do. Four of the number were released without bail as the others exonerated them of any complicity.

REDONDO ON LAST TRIP FROM SOUND

Merchants Are Anxious to See a Vessel Take the Place of The Redondo.

Loaded to the guards with freight, the steamer Redondo, Captain Bendegard, arrived from Puget Sound yesterday afternoon on her last trip as a regular coaster between Portland and the ports of Western Washington. In her cargo were 200 tons of general merchandise, 3,000,000 shingles and 50 totem poles. She also brought 200 piling, which was discharged at Fort Stevens and will be used for making repairs to the Government jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river.

After the shipment for Portland has been discharged the Redondo will receive a cargo of lumber for transportation to San Pedro. On the completion of that trip she will be operated out of Coos Bay to California ports as a freight and passenger boat. So far no steamer has been engaged to take care of the business built up between Portland and Puget Sound. Negotiations are still under way for the Homer, but it will not be known for several days what success will be met with in closing the deal.—Telegram.
