Mrs. Alseen and daughters Mabell and Ella are at present at their home in Seattle but will arrive shortly after the holidays.

Mr. Ellsworth Carleton, nephew of G. W. Carleton who recently came to Coos Bay to locate, arrived in yesterday on the Breakwater and will make his home with Mr. Carleton. He comes from Shelton, Nebraska.

Mr. Roy Vinner, of Portland, is spending a few days on Coos Bay investigating various business opportunities. It is probable that Mr. Vinner will locate in Marshfield, if not he will go into business at Bandon as he owns considerable property in that city.

Mrs. C. A. Schibrede leaves today on the steamer Breakwater for Portland and Salem where she will visit with friends and relatives until the first of the year, when she will go to Fort William H. Seward at Haines, Alaska, and visit her daughter Mrs. Emma S. Reid.

Charles Chisholm, the young Salvation Army worker, who has been in Marshfield for several months will soon leave for Lewistown, Montana, where he has been assigned work. Mr. Helleseth, who was at one time with the local work, is collecting money to assist in defraying Chisholm's expenses to Montana.

Mr. A. M. Esmond, representing a Chicago firm, is in Marshfield for a few days attending to business. On Monday Mr. Esmond will leave for Coquille and visit the river towns. Mr. and Mrs. Mong were called west by the death of Mrs. Mong's father at La Grande, Ore., and they brought the troupe with them. Coos Bay is the first place in the west to see this troupe.

Barber Shop Being Moved.
The frame barber shop which was built for occupation by a barber who lately arrived on Coos Bay from Butte, was seen moving down Broadway yesterday. The building was erected on the north side of the driveway leading into the Dow warehouse and is of two stories. It was found by the city council to be within the fire limits lately promulgated, and was consequently ordered from its location. The building will be taken southward about 100 feet and set in from the sidewalk on the Smith company's property. The structure belongs to the Smith company.

10,000 PEOPLE
IN 12 MONTHS

Neither shows, caucuses nor band practice prevented a good-sized attendance at the regular Friday night meeting last evening.

The Chamber met with the expectation of listening to Rev. Father Donnelly on the subject of "10,000 people for Marshfield in almost a year," and Mr. Hoepfner, formerly of Butte, on "Impressions of Coos Bay." President McCormac and Vice President Smith being both absent, the secretary presided, and addresses were delivered by Judge Francis H. Clarke, Hon. C. A. Schibrede and Father Donnelly.

Judge Francis H. Clarke was called on for a report from the committee on consolidation. In reporting progress the speaker reviewed the work of the committee and took occasion to review the initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution. It is under this amendment that the consolidation of the municipalities on Coos Bay will be effected, if effected at all.

The speaker took occasion to review the conditions that created the demand for such an amendment and set forth the reason why it was necessary for the people to reserve with themselves not only the power to veto laws enacted by the legislature but also the power to initiate laws themselves. It is very properly within the power of the people of Coos Bay to form themselves into a corporate body having port power, the speaker maintained. It was an interesting and instructive address, based on legal research.

Mr. Clarke was followed by Judge C. A. Schibrede, who emphasized the cities of Coos Bay, and the necessity of co-operation in making the harbor what it is destined to be. The greatest hope, Mr. Schibrede declared, lies in the disposition of the people to move themselves, rather than depend on some outside corporation to come in and develop the shipping possibilities of the bay.

Rev. Father Donnelly was then introduced and spoke substantially as follows: He said when he was in Portland he made the statement at a banquet that a society which he belonged to in Coos Bay had fifty-three members and that next year it would have one hundred and fifty. He had made the further claim that Marshfield would have in almost a year, 10,000 more people than now. This had caused some to call him a "booster." He did not relish the name and so felt that he had to prove his statement. Some of the men who are very reliable and occupy positions of responsibility in connection with certain industries which had been established on Coos Bay had assured him that the needs of the industrial situation here would call thousands to the Bay. One of them said in his department 1500 men would be required and that in another department there would be an equal number employed. This made 3000 men and as they would have their families it would be conservative to multiply the number of men by three which would make 9000, and it would certainly take 1000 to care for the 9000, so that it was plain enough that Marshfield would have 10,000 in a year. It would probably have more than ten thousand. This number was really conservative unless some financial difficulty should arise and paralyze everything in the country.

Father Donnelly said he fully agreed with the previous speakers, Mr. Clarke and Judge Schibrede in regard to the importance of the Bay and the improvement of the Bay. He also believed that it should be improved by the people themselves rather than wait on the long delayed action of congress.
