CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS DOING GOOD WORK

Past Week Developed Many Points—Apple Display Praised By Bailey.

Interest in Coos Bay apparently has not been effected by the Wall Street jugglers of the money market, nor has the falling of the gentle rain lessened materially the travel to this neck of the woods.

The Chamber of Commerce experienced a busy season the past week, both in receiving newcomers and inquiries about the resources and prices on the bay.

The success of Delegate Wm. Grimes in getting Coos Bay recognized in the Trans-Mississippi Congress, and the success of the apple display in Portland, have been among the encouragements received.

But the homage that has been paid the apple of this section is worth all it has cost and more, and then it must be remembered the apple has been the source of more or less trouble ever since Mr. and Mrs. Adam had a little misunderstanding about this species of fruit in an early day.

The Portland papers gave the Coos Bay apples favorable mention and A. C. Seaman, who was in charge, is coming back brim-full of enthusiasm and will make a speech on Coos county resources.

Just now, delay is encountered in the printing of the pamphlets on account of slowness of the mail service in carrying proofs to and fro, but the work is in progress.

Returns are beginning to come in from the campaign recently started to awaken interest in the crying need of a railroad throughout eastern Oregon across the Cascade and Coast ranges of mountains terminating at deep water on Coos Bay.

Small Attendance at Dance.

The football boys lost about $20 last night on their dance in the Odd Fellows' hall. The night was stormy and this accounted for the light attendance.

Easy For Multnomah.

Portland, Nov. 23.—Multnomah walked over Willamette university today, winning by a score of 42 to nothing. The local team out-weighted the university boys twenty pounds to a man and secured the first touchdown two minutes after the kickoff.

FOLLOWS ACTRESS ACROSS COUNTRY

Los Angeles Millionaire Proposes to Miss Dina Ost and Is Rejected.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Stranded in Chicago with hundreds of other members of her profession, Miss Dina Ost, a handsome Memphis girl, has declined the hand and wealth of a Los Angeles millionaire, preferring the glare and glitter and incidental tribulations of a stage life to an existence of opulent ease.

When the dramatic company with which she had been playing crashed on the rock of financial stringency, William Atchison, of Los Angeles, who had followed the attraction across the continent to lay siege to Miss Ost's heart, hastened to Chicago, where he found her esconced with her mother at the Revere house, awaiting an "engagement."

Atchison offered her one that would be permanent, with a command of his fortune, but despite her discouraging surroundings the young woman declined to become the wife of the young millionaire.

At various playhouses throughout the country young Atchison was a conspicuous figure, always an occupant of a box. He never missed a performance and at each he would present Miss Ost with a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses when she appeared on the stage.
