THANKSGIVING GAME WILL BE GOOD CONTEST

The Thanksgiving game of football to take place in Marshfield is the principal topic of conversation when politics is eliminated. Both the North Bend and Marshfield players are practicing every night, and are bringing their teams into shape. The two teams consist largely of men who have either played on college teams in the past or else on athletic organizations. Bert Dimmick, manager of the Marshfield bunch, had his team out on the sod Sunday afternoon and yesterday to test their calibre. He has thirteen men practicing, which, many would say, is an unlucky number, but Bert never gives any thought to hoodoos or kindred drawbacks. The practice which the Marshfield team has been undergoing promises well for their showing on Thanksgiving, and every man has taboed the usual petty habits which college coaches prohibit. For these reasons and others, Dimmick believes he has a winning team.

Mr. Stanfield Arnold, manager of the eleven from our neighboring city, is still modest in his claims, and for that reason, it is presumed he has several things up his sleeve for presentation on the day when the big contest comes off. This much was wormed from him, however; the North Bend team is practicing nightly, under the effulgent rays of the electric light furnished by Seymour H. Bell's Porter electric plant. It remains for the reader to judge whether such practice would be of any benefit to a football team. But Mr. Arnold believes he has a team that will make a good showing when it comes to the eventful day. On Thursday morning, the two line-ups will be given together with everything of interest connected with the contest.

It is almost a necessity in any community to have a Thanksgiving football game if the inhabitants would observe the day in all its modern phases, and the football players who will participate in the game of Thursday believe this to be a 20th century fact. The tickets for the game are on sale at several places and there is promise of great entertainment on Thursday for those who witness the game.

MAY SUTTON, TENNIS CHAMPION, IS QUEEN

She Will Be the Chief Figure in Pasadena's Rose Tournament.

Pasadena, Nov. 25.—May Sutton twice champion woman tennis player of the world, has consented to act as queen of the Tournament of Roses on New Year's day. The officers of the association have been urging this upon Miss Sutton for some time, but she has felt that she has had enough publicity. They insisted, and finally Miss May has agreed, with the single important proviso that as far as her share in the great pageant is concerned it shall be as simple as possible.

—Will Lawlor Gets the $10.

William Lawlor brought ticket No. 69 to George Goodrum yesterday and received the ten dollars in gold which Mr. Goodrum advertised to give away during the first week of his opening. Mr. Goodrum says he is well satisfied with the outlook and present business and believes Mr. Lawlor is more than satisfied with his winning, particularly under the existing tightened circumstances.

KILLED BECAUSE HE CONTINUED TO TALK

Helena, Mont., Nov. 25.—A sequel to the Record from Miles City tells of the alleged killing of John Sevondas, a Pole, at Terry, Saturday, by Mattio Manilla, an Italian. Both were employees of the St. Paul Railroad. Two countrymen permitted Manilla to escape unmolested, but he was arrested today and taken to Miles City. The men had words during the day, and Manilla is said to have threatened to kill Sevondas if he did not keep strict silence. The threat was made good.

SWEPT FROM DECK OF LINER

Three Little Girls Washed Overboard From Steamer President by Comber.

MATE HAD WARNED THEM

Official Inquiry Will Be Made Into the Matter by United States Authorities.

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—Government Inspectors of hulls and boilers Bollen and Bulger, will hold a searching inquiry into the causes leading up to the loss of three little girls, Reta and Ada Schotte and Flossie Burman, from the steamer President on the voyage of that vessel to this point from the north. This was decided upon today by Captain Brimingham, supervising inspector, and as soon as communication can be had with Captain Cousins of the president the inquiry will proceed. A non-official report of the disaster was filed with the government officials and it is because of this fact that the investigation was begun. One report has it that the mate of the President warned the children who later lost their lives, to keep off the deck, just before the big comber that carried them overboard came up from the sea. It is possible that the investigation will be started tomorrow.

GOLDFIELD MAY USE SLUGS FOR MEDIUM

Town of Goldfield Has Plan for Providing Circulating Medium.

Goldfield, Nev., Nov. 25.—If a plan now under consideration by W. E. Dowlen, manager of the Nevada Goldfield Reduction Works is consummated, Goldfield will soon have a circulating medium which will relieve to a great extent the scarcity of real money with which the camp is afflicted. The plan is to take the bullion produced by the mills, make it into bars and stamp thereon the value, which will be used as money. The question of the legality of the plan and its possible conflict with the currency laws of the land is now being investigated.

At present the three reduction works of the camp—the Nevada Goldfield, the Combination and Kinkead mills—are turning out about $5000 a day, but this amount could easily be quadrupled by running on ore of a higher grade. At the rate of $20,000 a day the camp could produce $600,000 a month in gold. James R. Davis, of the Round Mountain Mining company has agreed to put the bullion from that mill into circulation in the same way providing the plan is found to be feasible, which would add from $30,000 to $50,000 a month to the amount available.

Early Performance.

—The Mong company which opens a seven-nights' engagement in Masonic Opera House on Wednesday evening will commence their Thanksgiving night performance at 7:45 in order that all who desire may attend the Thanksgiving ball.

"TILL DEATH DO US PART."

The advance sale of seats for the opening night of the Mr. and Mrs. William V. Mong company in Masonic Opera House is very large and it is very probable that when the doors open on Wednesday evening the entire house will be sold out. From what we can learn, this is a very good "Till Death Do Us Part," is said to be a very strong character drama on the order of "Tribby." The star parts Doctor Jacob, played by Mr. Mong, and Miss Hinda Beckman in which character Mrs. Mong will appear, will no doubt give these two players ample opportunity to display whatever dramatic ability they may possess, and as the engagement is for seven nights, with a change of play each evening, it is only natural to suppose that the play and the supporting company have been selected with a view of making a strong bid for public favor. Those who contemplate witnessing this performance will do well to secure their seats today, at Butler's, Front Street, next to Blanco Hotel.

We never heard anyone accuse Mayor Straw of building a foot of sewer with any kind of money.

BEATS BORAX KING TO RICH DEPOSIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 25.—"Twenty-mule Team" Smith, the "Borax King," has been beaten in a race for what is claimed to be the richest borax deposit ever found and as a result a young man named Henry Blumenberg is seriously contesting Smith's right to be the borax monarch. A wild dash in an auto helped Blumenberg.

Last August a prospector named Shepard found some queer-looking white stuff in Tick Canyon, which branches off from the Soledad Canyon. A short time ago he sent a sample to the American Borax Company at Daggett and also Smith's headquarters. Blumenberg manages the first-named company and has had a hard time owing to being fought tooth and nail by the 20-mule team outfit. Blumenberg's borax deposits in the Mojave desert were not quite all he wanted and he was almost tempted to throw up his hands when there came to him a little piece of white stuff and a note from a forlorn prospector asking if it was any good.

It was just what Blumenberg wanted. Hardly waiting to grab his coat and hat he jumped out of Daggett on the first train for Los Angeles. Getting out at the Santa Fe station he took an automobile in a frantic dash for the Southern Pacific depot several blocks away. He got there just in time to miss the train for the Soledad Canyon. On the platform he saw W. W. Cale, "Borax" Smith's right-hand man.

Blumenberg knew that if Smith's man got to the new borax mine before he did, all was lost. He immediately hired the biggest and fastest automobile he could get, engaged two chauffeurs, armed them to the teeth, and started up San Fernando Valley on a wild dash for the control of a world industry. After a terrible night ride, over desert and through frowning canyon, Blumenberg arrived at Tick Canyon, and just as he got there he heard the Southern Pacific train, on which was his rival, whistle for Lang station, the nearest to the mine. Blumenberg had won. In an incredibly short time he had that borax mine cinched and the once forlorn prospector, Shepard, was given a job as permanent foreman on a salary and is to receive a royalty upon every ton of borax mined in his two claims. Blumenberg not only secured those two claims, but staked out 20 more for his company.

EAGLES INITIATE 26 NEW MEMBERS

The Eagles who sojourned to Coquille last Saturday evening, report one of the best times of a decade. There were at least 80 members present from Marshfield to see the doings, which were held shortly after the excursion train arrived at the county seat. There were about two hundred members of the order at hand to participate and witness the ceremonies. Forty birds had been decoyed to the meeting place and twenty-six of these were put through the trying ordeal of initiation. The remainder will see the mysteries as exemplified in the local aerie in Marshfield. All the boys who attended from Marshfield say the event was greatly enjoyed. There were members from Bandon, and they brought a band with them to enliven the occasion. After the ceremonies an elaborate banquet was served for the hungry horde. The returning train left Coquille at three o'clock, and arrived in Marshfield at four, just in time for the excursionists to miss the early risers who come down town early. The Eagles are making a prodigious growth in this county and the treasury is handsomely lined for the future plan of erecting a building for the order's home.

Judging from appearances, it takes SAND to run a campaign. This is explained by the selection of the administration's campaign manager.

The Campaigner or its managers find themselves troubled with a guilty conscience. They cry out that the beautiful crushed rock block on Front street is not the offspring of the council. No one would blame them for not owning the corn, yet the fact remains that the slush is there, whether put on by the city or by property owners, after the city engineer had condemned the material as unfit for the work. Who's who, anyway?

Good streets where they are not particularly needed, and superbly poor ones where the heaviest amount of traffic is found.

Paid body guard to a night watchman is a luxury few towns of Marshfield's size support.
