PORT OF COLUMBIA.

One of the most interesting of the several propositions which the people of Oregon will be called upon to vote on at the coming election is that one which the people of Portland are anxious should result in the legal creation of the Port of Columbia, comprising several counties along the Columbia river. It will be remembered that the supreme court decided last year that the legislative act which attempted to create such a port was unconstitutional as being special legislation. After that decision Coos Bay people who have similar problems on their hands, became interested in watching Portland to see what course she might take to make this pet plan of a great port practical. Most of the observers believed that a general law would be formulated and submitted whereby all maritime cities in the state such as Astoria, Tillamook, Coos Bay and some of the smaller places, might be organized into ports like the Port of Portland, by local initiative. But such confiding patriots counted without their host, Portland and not Coos Bay people were thinking, not of Coos Bay, but of Portland.

"It was ever thus," Portland was obliged, in order to involve the other counties outside of Multnomah and nearer the mouth of the Columbia, to have its district, comprising all these counties, created by force. The counties outside of Multnomah were unwilling to come in and if the district could not be created except by the vote of those counties, it could not be created at all. So Portland, in order to force the plan proposes to ask the people of the whole state to create by general enactment this special district and call it the Port of Columbia, whereby the Columbia river traffic will be regulated for Portland's benefit. Let it be understood that Portland is to be admitted for taking care of itself. But Coos Bay people must feel a little chagrined at the carelessness which has let an opportunity slip to have a general law relative to the organization of ports like the Port of Portland placed on the statute books. In order to do it now over 7000 names would have to be obtained and that within the next two weeks. Let it also be remembered that the next legislature, which Portland had too much concerned to wait for, may enact a general Port law, but it is certain that Portland will not care a copper kopek whether it does or not—that is, unless the rather groundless suspicion that Portland is a dog in the manger and will oppose every wish of any other aspiring port, is true. The Times does not believe it, but it has very little patience with the motto of those who are always crying out "Wait."

Married Wednesday Night—Miss Eliza Bunton and C. I. Neff, foreman of the outside work at Beaver Hill mine, were married last night at the home of Mr. George Ayres at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. W. R. F. Browne performing the ceremony. Mrs. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. Ayres, Robert Bunton, Misses Eliza and Besse Ayres, Miss Smith and Mrs. Brown, were present at the marriage which was performed in the presence of a few near friends and relatives. Miss Bunton, who is from Beaver Hill, is well known in this city; also Mr. Neff and the young couple were warmly welcomed on their return to Beaver Hill where they will reside.

—Her hands were mighty pretty and white and she was just honest enough to tell her friends how she kept them that way! How? Why she used McArthur's Hand Lotion and say girls, McArthur's Cold Cream is just the best what is!

SERVICES ARE BIG SUCCESS

Union Evangelistic Meetings Are Largely Attended and Productive of Good.

The Union Evangelistic services which are being held in the Presbyterian church each week-day night, are proving a great success. A large number of additional seats have been provided to accommodate the increased attendance. The special musical features, at these services have been of the highest order, and reflect great credit upon the musical talent in Coos Bay. The solo of Mr. Burkhardt, of North Bend, at last evening's service entitled: "Is He Yours?" was sung with the fullness of his peculiar power and charm. Mr. Burkhardt is to sing again Monday evening. With this one exception the soloists for the coming week will be new voices, and those whom the people of Marshfield will be delighted to hear. The Rev. D. W. Thurston who has been the preacher every night the past week, has spoken with great feeling and earnestness, with the result there has started in the hearts of the people a deep moving tidal-wave of religion, which cannot but make the whole community better. The Rev. W. R. F. Browne, of the M. E. church takes up the work for the coming week, preaching tomorrow night to a union congregation at the Baptist church, and every other night at the Presbyterian church. All the English speaking people of Marshfield are invited to attend these special services.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The congregations of the M. E., Baptist and the Presbyterian churches, will join together in a grand union service Sunday evening at the Baptist church, the Rev. W. R. F. Browne to preach. Young People's Union Meeting.

The three young people's societies, the Epworth League, the B. Y. P. U. and the Y. P. S. C. E. will meet together tomorrow evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Let all members and friends be present and make this meeting one of great power.

THEY'RE COMING BACK

YOUNG'S POPULAR ENTERTAINERS WILL BE HERE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NIGHTS

What is unquestionably the most popular Theatrical Organization that has ever played this city are to favor theatre patrons with two more performances on Saturday and Sunday evenings next. They will initiate their return with that screaming comedy, "The Pride of New York," which created such a strong impression on its single presentation. There will be a full quota of New Specialties and singing and the Chorus will be seen in entirely new wardrobe. The demand will undoubtedly be big and those desiring choice seats should place their reservations early.

A MUSICAL EVENING

Pupils' Recital Proves a Pleasing Success.

A delightful musical program was given by the pupils of Mr. Elmer A. Todd at the rooms of the Coos Bay Academy of Music last evening.
