NO APPLE OF DISCORD.

Tuesday's Times has a very sensible argument in favor of harmony among the fruit-growers of the county and the elimination of petty jealousies. It should, however, endeavor to practice what it preaches, and not belittle the Coquille Valley Fruit Growers' association by calling it the "Myrtle Point" association. The fruit growers here will undoubtedly concede that, for a county association, Coquille would be the proper headquarters, but if there are to be two associations, as has seemed probable, Marshfield would be the logical headquarters for the one and Myrtle Point for the other. The valley, or fruit growing district, extends from Riverston on the lower river to 30 miles beyond Myrtle Point, covering nearly sixty miles of broad fertile valley, and the aim was to have the headquarters as nearly central as possible. However, the Enterprise does not assume to speak for the fruit growers. They will undoubtedly set as their base to town at their coming meeting, when it is to be hoped that the Times may have its dues and the fruit growers organized with the utmost good feeling between all sections. The broad-minded favorers of the Coquille will readily concede that the bay offers a fine home for a market and would not care to get along without it, and the Times' policy of the Coquille is received with respectful feeling for the bay country. Myrtle Point Magazine.

We are pleased that the Enterprise accepts our names, offers for harmony so generously. We do not understand, however, the coloring to building the Coquille Valley Fruit Growers' Association by calling it the "Myrtle Point" association. The Enterprise is supercilious. There was no thought of building either the association or Myrtle Point by such a suggestion. It was merely a slip of the editorial pencil and the thought which prompted it was merely identifying the society by the place it was organized. Some papers have referred to the Coos Bay association as the "Marshfield" society and Marshfield and the fruit growers have both felt honored thereby.

In any event if the Times desired to belittle the association, which thought it has never entertained even after the suggestion of the Enterprise—it would not do so by using the name Myrtle Point. Why such a name in honor, Bay, harbor, business, embracing Myrtle Point, it should be noted that its name was so used and the fruit growers should be proud that they have such a prosperous and enterprising city in which to hold their meetings. Come, come brother Enterprise, we think you owe an apology both to The Times and to Myrtle Point for even suggesting it.

There is no place on the fringes of either Coquille valley or Coos Bay for an apple of discord.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

This neat colonial cottage has proved very popular in suburban towns in Minnesota. Special attention is called to the fact that there is no little waste space in the plans. The abundant and roomy closets are also to be noted, as well as the archway opening between the rooms. The first floor should be finished in Flemish oak and red birch stained mahogany color, with hall and staircase in white enamel. The second floor should be finished entirely in white enamel. Estimated cost, $3,250. GLENN L. SAXTON.
