Facts About the Grip.
The grip is highly infectious.
It stimulates other diseases.
The grip picks out the weak points of a person's constitution.
The grip in itself is by no means a mortal disease.
The victims of the grip are adults who perish from pneumonia or bronchitis, and the aged who sink from heart exhaustion.
Children, while prone to the disease, enjoy a comparative immunity from its complications and dangers.
In adults the attack, as a rule, comes on with lightning like speed.
Health is suddenly overcome by a feeling of discomfort and depression.
He "runs" at the nose; he feels chilly; his head aches; his eyes pain him.
What to do—go to bed at once;
take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and quinine as directed for influenza.
Do this and the grip is soon shorn of its terrors. For sale by John Preuss.

Large Doings.
On Long Island a hundred and more years ago there was fox hunting for three days during the season, and the biography of Catherine Schuyler contains the following apt lines from the pen of a witty woman whose name remains unknown:
A fox is killed by twenty men.
That fox perhaps had killed a hen.
A gallant act no doubt is here.
All wicked foxes ought to fear
When twenty dogs and twenty men
Can kill a fox that killed a hen.

Ideal Justice.
"Sammy," said a Germantown mother recently to her youngest born, "when you divided those seven pieces of candy with your brother did you give him four?"
"No, ma'am," replied Sammy. "I knew they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one before I began to divide."
—Hesper's Weekly.

The Poor Villains.
"Don't your heart ache for the pore hero an' herolme, Hiram?"
"Oh, I dunno, Marthy. They allus come out right an' sassy in the end.
Sometimes I can't help feelin' sorter sorry for the villain an' the villainess."
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OLD PAPERS—For sale at The Times office.

Lost Only Thumb Nail—The Times is pleased to announce that the accident previously announced in which it was stated that Elmer Hodson had his thumb torn off was incorrect. It was only the nail that was torn off, and while it was very painful, Elmer still has his thumb left, and later, if occasion requires he can emulate little Jack Horner and stick in his thumb and pull out a plum or a piece of Gravenstein apple out of any old pie.

Peculiar Cold.
Sims Reeves had been announced to sing at a small public dinner at which Dickens presided, and, as happened not infrequently, Sims Reeves had something the matter with his throat and was unable to attend. Dickens announced this, and the announcement was received with a general laugh of incredulity. This made Dickens very angry, and he rose manfully to the defense of the delinquent. "My friend, Sims Reeves," he said quietly, "regrets his inability to fulfill his engagement owing," he added, with caustic severity, "to an unfortunately amusing and highly facetious cold."
