BE A BOOSTER.
 Do you know there's lots of people, Settin' round in every town, Growlin' like a broody chicken, Knoekin' every good thing down? Don't you be that kind of cattle, Cause they ain't no use on earth; You just be a booster rooster, Crow and boost for all you're worth.
 If your town needs boostin', boost 'er, Don't hold back and wait to see If some other feller's willin' Sail right in, the country's free; No one's got a mortgage on it, It's just yours as much as his, If your town is shy on boosters, You get in the boostin' biz.
 If things don't just seem to suit you, An' the world seems kinder wrong, What's the matter with a boostin' Just to help the thing along? 'Cause if things should stop a goin', We'd be in a sorry plight, You just keep that horn a blowin', Boost 'er up with all your might.
 If you see some feller tryin' For to make some project go, You can boost it up a trifle, That's your cue to let him know That you're not a goin' to knock it, Just because it ain't your "shout," But you're goin' to boost a little, 'Cause he's got the best thing out.
 If you know some feller's fallin', Just forget 'em, 'cause you know That same feller's got some good points, Them's the ones you want to show; 'Cast your loaves out on the waters, They'll come back 's a sayin' true, Mebbe they will come back buttered, When some feller boosts for you. —Homer Clark Bennett.

THE ENGLISH LUTHERANS

Name Is a Misnomer and Is Only Used for Want of Better Term.

Englist Lutheran Services, a Misnomer.
 Weekly a notice appears in this paper that English Lutheran services are held in the Red Men's hall. This is a misnomer for want of a better term. The Lutheran church has no English history did not originate in that country, has no tendencies in that direction, is not loyal to the British crown, and in thought, temperament and affiliation is as far removed from England as the Bunker Hill monument is distant from the House of Parliament. What we wish to make evident is that this is an American Lutheran church, not only in language, but that the whole spirit and body has entirely separated itself from all foreign influences and is heart and soul with the Red, White and Blue. Why, then, not call it an American Lutheran church? If we so termed ourselves, a slur would be cast upon the many Lutherans who, although worshipping in foreign tongues, have decided American backbones. I think that the war of '62 has abundantly proven that many Americans have valiantly fought or died for this country who never had a command of the English language. Some of their children's children still live in Pennsylvania and still speak a very broken English. Quite recently an attempt was made to bridge this difficulty of name. A Norwegian pastor announced that he would preach in the American language. Strictly defined, this must have meant in the Indian language. Less strictly interpreted, it could mean any language spoken in America, for English is no less a foreign and imported medium of speech than are the Scandinavian and German languages. Again, we might call ourselves an English speaking and preaching Lutheran church. But our strongest objections are based just against this term. There are strong Lutheran churches in Great Britain which are anything except American. My last charge in Nova Scotia made this very plain. On pleasant Sundays it was not unusual to have a thousand English Lutherans attend services, and yet they almost all hate the Yankees as if the war of 1812 were being still enacted. It seems, therefore, for want of a better term, that the phrase, "English Lutheran Services" must stand, as it means and invites all who have been thoroughly amalgamated into this nation (not in language only) be they Americans, Finns, Swedes, Norwegians, Danes or Germans.
 WM. F. HOLL, Pastor.
