Is Convalescent.—The little four years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schelley is reported convalescent after a very serious illness. This will be good news to many friends.

Hand Injured.—J. W. Chapman, an engineer at the C. A. Smith mill, had his hand injured this morning by getting his thumb caught in the gearing. The injury was dressed by Dr. Straw and no serious developments are anticipated.

Takes New Position.—August Friezen, who has been assisting the sheriff in collecting the Coos County taxes, has completed that work and has taken a position as agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of New Jersey and will represent it in this section.

Installs Milking Machine.—J. J. Clinkinbeard, one of the best known and most progressive ranchers on upper Coos River was in Marshfield today arranging to install a milking machine on his ranch. He reports that everything indicates a very prosperous season on upper Coos River.

Surprise Dancing Party.—A surprise party was cordially entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Doane at their residence in Railroad Addition. A series of very pleasant dances was enjoyed under the merry and excellent music rendered by H. S. Bonebrake and in the interim of alluring steps, a dainty and appetizing lunch was served by the host and hostess.

Returns From Idaho.—Dr. Hayes has returned from an extended trip north and west, most of his time being spent in Idaho. He says that he did not strike a single city or town that is flourishing like the cities on Coos Bay. He declares that the weather was miserable and that the climate resulted in his illness for several days in Idaho.

Makes Good Deal.—Several days ago, Bob Marsden purchased a launch, paying a good round sum for it. Some of his friends tried to make him believe that he had paid too much but he threw them into consternation when he sold it again within twenty-four hours for $50 more than he paid for it. The purchaser was E. M. Smith, his brother-in-law, who lives on one of the inlets.

First in Swimming.—L. J. Liljeqvist and Charles Nicola claim to have the honor of being the first in swimming on Coos Bay or Coos River this season. While on a fishing expedition up Coos River Sunday, a dare resulted in several of the party taking the first plunge. They say the first one wasn't bad but the second time they came up feeling like an icicle. Among those in the party were Chas. Howard, Chas. McKnight, L. J. Liljeqvist and Chas. Nichols. They had fair luck fishing.

Upper Coos Farmers Lead.—Dr. Pohl, fruit inspector, returned yesterday from the Upper Coos river district where he has been inspecting the orchards and taking a census of the trees. He declares that the ranchers in that section had done much work towards complying with the law and practically all of them were glad to cooperate with him. He says that the farms there are in much better shape and the owners more progressive than in the Coquille valley.

Buys Property Here.—Mrs. Yoakam, daily inspector, was in Marshfield today arranging for the purchase of some property here. She reports good progress in the work, ranchers and dairymen generally cooperating with her in complying with the new laws.

Sugar is Higher.—Local sugar brokers received advise yesterday that the price had advanced thirty cents per hundred pounds. The war between the trust and some of the independents is said to be over and the brief period of low prices for sweetens at an end.
