THE SAND MAN.

He comes at eve in a ship of pearl, Crossing the harbor bar, And only hovering spirits see The sand man from afar.

He makes his way through the city gate, And mingles with the throng, And hums to himself, though none may hear, The snatches of a song.

Oh, white and fine is the sand he brings, Where gathered, no one knows, And at every step he scatters it, As the seed the sower sows.

Within the homes where the hearth-fire glows The old man takes his stand, And over the children there at play Scatters his shining sand.

Quickly he goes and their eyelids close, Forgotten are their toys; They fall asleep and in slumber deep Dream of the morrow's joys.

He threads his way through the houses drear Where mothers sit and sew, Where the light is dim and children weep And the pulse of life is slow.

When his step is heard their wallings cease, For he is welcomed there; His clean, white sand is Gilead's balm To weak ones everywhere.

Be the children rich, or be they poor, He loves them all the same; He laughs with some and he weeps with some, God only knows his name. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

The road to success is through intelligently directed effort. The evolution of process is on every hand, and invention or discovery adds every day to the number of short-cuts to thrift. career by making yourself first a homemaker and a good cook. Fill your cup with love and cheer for your home people, giving the overflow to outsiders.

Politeness a Check. "What is it they call these burnt wood decorations?" "I don't know the name for it." "But it is a common word." "I would tell you what I call it only for the fact that there are ladies present."

Is It Still White? You'd like you think to take a drink And feel it is a shame. But your grief must now assuage Because you know a clean white page Is headed with your name.

Something to Remember.

"This has been a memorable year for me." "Why, did you take a bath?"

Practicing Economy. "I was just on the point of calling him a liar, but I restrained myself." "Funeral expenses are mighty high now, aren't they?"

Lesser Catch. Without permission he went fishing And found that it was pleasant sailing. And, though he didn't catch a whale, When he got home he caught a whaling.

"John, do you love me?" "Yes." "Do you adore me?" "I 'spose." "Will you always love me?" "Ye—look here, woman, what have you been and gone and ordered sent home now?"

Quick pleasures vanish fast: Highest they greet us, quick are past, Tranquil joys are best for keeping—Tranquil joys the longest last. E. C. DOLSON.

His Preference. A little boy was sitting on one of the benches in Central park, New York, watching people ride the donkeys. An exceedingly fat woman hired a donkey and was about to mount when she saw the small boy and said to him, "Little boy, don't you want me to hire a donkey for you too?" "No, thank you. I'd rather sit here and laugh."—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Baptismal Episode. An eminent judge when asked about the facility with which he turned from one case to another replied that he had learned that from what he saw at a baptism of colored people when he was a boy. The weather was very cold, so that to immerse the candidates they were obliged to cut away the ice. It befell that when one of the female converts was dipped back into the water the cold made her squirm about, and in a moment she had slipped from the preacher's hands and was down the stream under the ice. The preacher, however, was not disconcerted. Looking up with perfect calmness at the crowd on the bank, he said: "Brethren, this sister hath departed. Hand me down another."

Complimentary. "What tune is that you are playing?" "One of my own." "Let me congratulate you." "On the melody?" "Well, not exactly. On the fact that you won't have to keep it locked up nights to prevent other composers from stealing it."

Revenge. "He doesn't think much of society. He calls it codfish aristocracy." "Perhaps he hasn't been invited to its entertainments." "Oh, yes; he has." "And he declined?" "Yes. He said he wouldn't go to codfish balls."

RECORD PRICE FOR ORCHARD.

C. W. Potter and G. G. Gould of St. Johns, Ore., have purchased the H. T. Hull orchard, a mile and a half southwest of Medford, of 20 acres, paying $16,500, or $825 an acre, the highest price ever paid for young orchard land in the history of the Rogue River valley. The property consists of 20 acres of 25-year-old Newtown pippins and Spitzenberg apples and D'Anjou and Howell pears. It is the north half of the 40-acre tract which was purchased by Hull & Parker from J. E. Watt last Autumn for $25,000, or $12,500 an acre and the transaction nets Mr. Hull just $4,000, or $200 an acre profit in less than six months. The same land was purchased by Mr. Watt two years ago last February for $225 an acre, or $10,000, and the year before that was sold for $150. This is a profit of $600 an acre in two years and $875 an acre in three years. Eight years ago the land was purchased, unplanted, for $40 an acre.—Medford Tribune.
