CHINESE LAD TOO LITERAL

President Mrs. Pomeroy's Advice as to Climbing Heights of Fame.

We cannot reach Heaven by a single step, nor can we cross the sea from the sandy beach to the sunlit isle without landing on some rocks and waiting for a favorable wind. So it is necessary that we stop and think: not how to fly but how to climb; not how to leap but how to reach. The true knowledge of the nature of things is the result of sustained effort, and to climb the higher '40s of the world in the steps of strong men is a study and a peril. The ability to reach the top is not the ability to leap; it is an ability to climb; and to climb is a science.

The above quotations from Officers of Coos County High School, March 8, 1908, express the main thought which has been put before Coos County school children, which results prove. These boys and girls, who have been trained to think, have an opportunity to realize that the ability to climb the heights of fame is a science, and that even the weakest must begin with self-same study, and labor. After the talk of the speaker, several questions were put by the pupils, and agreement was reached by the pupils that the ability to climb to the summit of success is the result of self-study. And what is true of all right is also true of all wrong. The ability to climb to the summit of success is the result of self-study, and labor. After the talk of the speaker, several questions were put by the pupils, and agreement was reached by the pupils that the ability to climb to the summit of success is the result of self-study, and labor.
