FACED WITH THE KNOT OF THE BAY.

A number of business men met here last night to consider the problem of the future development of the bay. The knot of the bay is a matter of great importance to the future development of the area.

In the knot of the bay, there are several things that need to be considered. One is the need for better navigation, another is the need for better shipping facilities, and the third is the need for better housing.

In order to make the knot of the bay more efficient, it is necessary to have better navigation. This can be accomplished by improving the waterways and by providing better shipping facilities.

Another thing that needs to be considered is the need for better housing. This can be accomplished by providing better housing facilities, and by improving the living conditions in the area.

In conclusion, it is necessary to consider the future development of the knot of the bay. This can be accomplished by providing better navigation, better shipping facilities, and better housing facilities.
