CHELSEA, BOSTON SUBURB, SWEPT BY $1200,000 CONFLAGRATION

Massachusetts City Scene of Terrible Fire that Broke Out Sunday Night.

HEART OF CITY LEFT IN RUINS.

Over 15,000 People Homeless

—Started in Rubbish Heap

And Was Spread by Gale.

(by Associated Press)

BOSTON, April 13. — The fire in the heart of Chelsea, Massachusetts, today revolutionized the face of the city. Streets and blocks of homes were blanketed with a thick smoke, and the whole air was filled with the odors of burning wood, paper, and cotton.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

Admiral Evans is Improving Slowly.

Evans, who had been ordered to report to the President at Washington today, is reported to be much improved by the kindly treatment of the President.

CITY COUNCIL WILL TAKE UP SEWER MATTER.

Nevada Meeting Tonight in New York to Examine South Side.

A Nevada meeting of the National Forest Commission will be held in New York today. The meeting will be called to examine the progress of the Nevada forest conservation system.

CITY MOURNS LOST TRAVELERS.

The death of twelve persons in a plane crash in the city has caused great concern and sorrow. The survivors are being given every possible assistance by the city authorities.

FRANK MONATO IS CAPTURED.

The alleged murderer of Julian Rosenthal, a New York bank employee, was arrested in Indiana today.

FALLS DEAD AT OAKLAND.

Mr. Jones, Former Head of Riverton Lumber Company, Is Dead Today.

The body of Mr. Jones, former head of the Riverton Lumber Company, was found dead today.

PORT ORFORD PEOPLE RETURN FROM TRAM.

Farmers of Port Orford, who had been attending the fair in Portland, returned today.

MYRTLE POINT ELECTION IS VERY QUIET.

The Myrtle Point, city election, was held today. The voting was quiet and orderly.

COWS AND DOGS BOTHER COQUILLE.

Council Leaves Vote to People to Determine if Bovines Shall Have Streets.

COQUILLE, April 12. — The controversy over the streets and sidewalks in Coquille, Oregon, continues.

Launched Enterprise BALKS ON HIGH SEAS.

D. H. Rider, President of the Company, Speaks on the Difficulties of the Voyage.

The launching of the new Coquille River barge, which was scheduled to sail today, has been postponed due to the rough seas.

The barge, which was built in Portland, Oregon, is scheduled to sail later in the week.

LOCAL NEWS OF SHIPPIING.

Czarina, Alliance and M. F. Plant in From Other Ports — Eureka Still Fast.

The Czarina, Alliance and M. F. Plant are expected to arrive in from other ports today. The Eureka is still fast.

STRIKED STREET ABOUT MIDNIGHT.

Several Hundred Jumps Swept From Moorings and Sunk by Fiance Gale Last Night.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.

The fire, which started in a garbage heap, was fed by strong gales from the north and spread rapidly through the tenements and business sections. The flames were fed by the furnaces of the factories and the warehouses, which were filled with goods and materials.